Van Buren Mobile Home Fire Kills 4

Babysitter, Three Tots Are Victims

By LARRY MacINTYRE Staff Writer

BANGOR — Authorities were trying to determine today what caused the Friday morning fire southwest of here that gutted a mobile home and claimed the lives of a 19-year-old woman and three small children.

The victim were identified as Marsha Slayton, route 2, Bangor; her daughter Jennifer, 2½; Vern Bennett III, 1½; and his brother Michael, six months.

State fire marshals and Van Buren sheriff's deputies spent hours yesterday sifting through the ashes for clues, but were unable to determine the cause.

It was determined that the blaze started near an oil furnace in the east end of the trailer about 10:30 a.m. and quickly swept through the entire structure, according to Sgt. Robert Ruohonen, a fire marshal at the state police post in Paw Paw.

Mrs. Slayton, a divorcee who lived in the mobile home with her daughter, was a regular babysitter for the Bennett children. They were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Bennett Jr., of CR-687, Hartford. The Bennett children were normally dropped off at the mobile home before 8 a.m. each day, according to neighbors.

Bangor firemen found the charred bodies of all four in the ruins of the home located on CR-376 about three miles southwest of Bangor in an unincorporated village known as McDonald.

All four victims died of smoke inhalation, according to preliminary findings released by Dr. O.T. Lorenz of South Haven, a deputy medical examiner.

The bodies of Mrs. Slayton and Jennifer were found on the floor of a west bedroom. The other two bodies were found on the living room floor in the middle of the mobile home.

Officers said it is suspected Mrs. Slayton was asleep when the fire started.

Officers theorized she may have awakened to find the home ablaze and fled into the bedroom. The fire is believed to have swept through the structure so quickly that it may have blocked her access to the front door in the living room.

Officers found the front door locked from the inside. The only other door was at the east end where the blaze originated.

Bangor firemen said the home was completely engulfed in flames when they arrived.

The fire was reported at 10:37 a.m. by a neighbor, David Swanner. He said his daughter, Peggy, had spotted smoke coming from the mobile home and had run home to report the fire. Swanner said the smoke was visible from his kitchen window about 100 yards away.

Three fire trucks arrived within 10 minutes, but the flames were too intense for firemen to enter the structure, firemen said. The blaze was extinguished within an hour and no firemen were injured.

Officers said a smoke detector would probably have saved the lives of all four.

The structure was owned by Mrs. Slayton's father, James Williams, who lives nearby.

Officers said Williams told them he had purchased the mobile home used and did not know what make or how old it was.

Combined funeral services for the four victims will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at Kewler General Baptist church. Burial will be in Maple Hill cemetery, Hartford. Friends may call after 2 p.m. Sunday at Calvin funeral home.

Mrs. Slayton was born Sept. 22, 1957, in Watervliet, she is survived by her father, James Williams, Bangor; mother, Mrs. Lona Williams, Grand Rapids; stepmother, Mrs. James (Violet) Williams, two sisters, Mrs. Donald (Carol) Tamer, Hartford, Linda Fisher, Paw Paw, and two brothers, Patrick Williams, Lapeer, Mich.,

St. Joe, Lincoln Townships Seeking $10.5 Million

Hickory Creek Interceptor Suit Filed

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

St. Joseph and Lincoln townships filed a $10.5 million lawsuit in Berrien Circuit court Friday against the contractor, engineers, and manufacturer of pipe for the Hickory creek sewer interceptor.

The suit claims negligence by the defendants resulted in damage to portions of the interceptor, including the partial collapse of 265 feet of pipe in St. Joseph township.

Plaintiffs in the suit in addition to the townships are Berrien county and the Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment authority, which operates and maintains water and sewer facilities in the two townships, including the Hickory creek interceptor.

Cited as defendants were Yerington & Harris, Inc., of Benton Harbor, contractors for the project; the original engineering firm of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May of Ann Arbor and later co-partnerships; and Arneco Steel Corp., of Ohio, which manufactured the pipe used for portions of the interceptor.

The suit says the "repair and replacement of substantial portions of the Hickory Creek interceptor will cost not less than $800,000 at this time and which will in all likelihood require further substantial expenditures of upwards of $10 million."

The interceptor connects sewer systems in the townships to the Twin Cities sewage treatment plant in St. Joseph and was completed in 1974 at a cost of $3.2 million. Each township shared in costs of construction, and bonds were sold by the county's board of public works.

The suit came after both township boards voted to initiate legal action in an attempt to recover repair costs for damaged portions of the interceptor. A television camera pulled through the St. Joseph township section of the pipe in search of defects showed that 265 feet of corrugated metal pipe in four locations was more than 20 per cent out of round, or flattened.

The suit additionally claims unspecified portions of the pipe are "in danger of collapsing and will in all likelihood collapse in the future," and that portions of the line are not water-tight, allowing foreign liquids to enter in excess of that which would normally be tolerable.

The suit contends the engineering firm "failed to properly conceive and design (the) interceptor and failed to specify and supervise proper construction methods," the pipe manufacturer "failed to furnish pipe suitable and fit for use" in the system; and the contractor "failed to complete the sewer system in a good and workmanlike manner."

St. Joseph Atty. Henry Giless, counsel for the Water and Sewage Treatment authority who filed the suit, said no trial date has yet been set for the case.

Chrysler Wins Big U.S. Tank Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. is the winner of an Army contract that could be worth $4.9 billion to develop a battle tank for use in the balance of this century.

Chrysler will receive $196.2 million in the first phase of the contract to build 11 test models of the XM-1 tank over the next three years. The Army ultimately intends to purchase 3,325 new tanks at a cost of about $1.5 million each.

Army Secretary Martin Hoffmann said Friday the XM-1 will be designed "to meet any adversary over the next 20 to 25 years."

Chrysler beat out the General Motors Corp. for the development contract, even though GM reportedly was the preliminary choice for the weapon four months ago after an earlier evaluation.

Hoffmann said Chrysler's design will be matched against West Germany's Leopard II battle tank before the Army decides in March which model to purchase. However, he plainly indicated that he expects the American-made tank to win the competition.

"If the Leopard outdoes the XM-1 ... the Leopard would replace this as the finest main battle tank," Hoffmann said.

"Our assessment at the present time is that ... the two may be even, but we feel this (the XM-1) represents the best main battle tank technology in the world."

The U.S.-designed tank will be equipped with an engine and eventually a 120 millimeter gun similar to those in German tanks.

The plan is to use tank parts in common with the German armored weapon to make it quicker and easier to resupply both, particularly in combat.

The Chrysler design incorporates a turbine engine generating 1,500 horsepower, and a gun turret that could handle either a 105 millimeter gun, which is now used on U.S. tanks, or a 120 millimeter gun, that is mounted now on German and British tanks.

Hoffmann said the Army will decide between rival German and British 120 millimeter guns by early next year.

Early production models of the XM-1, however, are expected to be armed with the 105 millimeter gun.

Factors considered in selection of the Chrysler model over the GM candidate, Hoffmann said, were survivability of the tank in the modern battlefield, mobility, firepower, durability and similar features.

He said the Chrysler tank will cost a little more than GM's proposed model.

"It will be vastly superior in all respects to current tanks," Hoffmann added.

The 58-ton tank will carry a crew of four at speeds up to 50 miles per hour. Its laminated hull will be designed to withstand a direct hit by any known anti-tank missile.

Asked if tanks weren't obsolete in modern warfare, Hoffmann replied, "Every major power in the world still regards and will continue to regard for some time in the future, in my judgment, the main battle tank as the primary ground warfare weapon system."

NEW BATTLE TANK: Army Secretary Martin Hoffmann announced Friday selection of Chrysler Corp. to develop Army's main battle tank. Chrysler won over General Motors Corp. for development contract, which will lead toward potential Army purchase of more than 3,000 XM-1 tanks for about $4.9 billion. (AP Wirephoto)

Lot Attendants Suspended

DETROIT (AP) — Three parking attendants who left a city lot early the night a Farmington Hills businessman was slain there have been suspended by city officials.

Helen Irving, director of the city parking department, announced the suspensions Friday. She said she did not know exactly when the three attendants left the parking lot where 31-year-old David Jones was slain Sunday about midnight. But she said it was well before Jones was shot in the back and killed. Attendants were supposed to remain at the lot until about 11:30 p.m.

Suspended without pay for 60 days were John Walter, Ervin Steward and Dennis Keim. They may be fired after a city probe, Mrs. Irving said.

Mrs. Irving said earlier this week the lot attendants had set an automatic timer to keep the lights on for 2½ hours beyond the time they left the lot. A spokesman at nearby Olympia Stadium where Jones had been attending a reception for tennis stars said patrons had reported the city lot was dark at 11 p.m.

Jones was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jones, formerly of Fairplain, and was a 1963 graduate of Benton Harbor high school.

Proposal C Keeps A Few Sparks Glowing

Two reasons counted primarily in the Nov. 2nd defeat of Proposal C, a constitutional amendment to put a lid on state spending and taxing.

Foremost was that just about everyone pulling on the Lansing till, welfare recipients, state payrollers, teachers, and local governmental people, voted against it and persuaded some friends and relatives to do likewise.

Secondarily, its proponents brought out the plan too close to the election date. This did not allow sufficient time to build up the necessary ground swell for the idea. Additionally, their war chest was under financed in comparison to the money poured out by the opposition.

By way of neutralizing Proposal C's advocacy, Gov. Milliken and the Democratic leadership in the legislature promised they would take steps to accomplish in less traumatic fashion what the proposition could do if the public approved its radical surgery.

This was the dusting off of three ideas which have been thrown up recently at Lansing. They are budget stabilization, zero-based budgeting, and a sunset law.

Budget stabilization is the concept of putting aside a part of the annual budget during good years. Come a rainy day, this savings account can be drawn upon to supplement tax revenues which decline during a slow economic period.

Zero based budgeting, an idea mentioned several times by Jimmy Carter throughout the Presidential campaign, is starting from scratch in each fiscal year. The current practice is to take the expiring budget and add a number of percentage points to it to compensate for inflation.

A sunset law is a companion piece to zero-based budgeting. Periodically, every program in the budget has outlived its usefulness or is being nurtured beyond its genuine requirements.

The theory underlying the three concepts is good in the sense it represents an advance over today's slipshod handling of the money extracted from the taxpayers.

There are two reservations on it.

The temptation to spend a budget surplus before the rainy day's arrival is overwhelming. Experience has shown that little excuse is needed to eliminate a surplus under the guise of funding all manner of schemes masquerading as vital exercises in public service.

The moral courage required to put zero-based budgeting and sunset laws to their intended purpose equals that displayed by the Christian martyrs in pagan Rome. Asking anyone holding an elective office to stand firm against the special interest lobbying which is the natural enemy of any plan to control public spending assumes a total lack of weakness in human nature. In this respect, the record is clear how the nature in the Lansing establishment is all too human.

Nonetheless, the mere mention of the three ideas may be an indication that Proposal C has some chance of reviving in different form.

It can be brought forth again and if Lansing does not correct some of its more extravagant habits, it just might pass on the second time around.

Spain: Exception To An Old Maxim?

It is almost axiomatic that a country with a long history of authoritarian rule stands little or no chance of moving peacefully toward a democratic system of government. One form of despotism often is replaced by another, as in the case of Russia. But Spain may be an exception.

When Generalissimo Francisco Franco died on Nov. 20 last year, it was widely predicted that chaos would result, followed perhaps by a military coup. Few observers felt that the new king, Juan Carlos, would be equal to the task of governing Spain. Now the pessimists are having second thoughts.

David Holden, chief foreign correspondent of The Sunday Times of London, found Spain poised between "contradictory hopes and fears" after two recent visits. Writing in The New York Times Magazine, Holden concluded: "If Spain can reach the end of this year without grave disorder, I believe it will have gained crucial ground on its anxious march from dictatorship toward democracy."

Signs of change abound. Censorship of the news media, literature and the performing arts has been relaxed. A production of Equus, including the nude scene, was performed in Madrid. Most significant of all, however, Franco has become virtually a non-person. Spain, a country that long seemed a prisoner to its tragic past, is now looking to the future.

The young king, who is 38, lost no time in dissociating himself from the more repugnant aspects of the Franco regime. Less than two months before Franco died, five men convicted of terrorism had been executed by firing squad — an act that was bitterly condemned by nations throughout the world. Juan Carlos, in contrast, pardoned 5,626 nonpolitical prisoners within a week of ascending the throne. Last July 30 he granted amnesty to 500 political prisoners as well. Spaniards who had been living in exile since the civil war of the 1930s have been permitted to return.

Jose Peirats, a labor leader who recently returned to Madrid after 37 years abroad, is optimistic about the country's future. "Its people are amazing," he told a Christian Science Monitor correspondent. "Spain has an immense youth sector — a new generation that knows nothing about the civil war is inspired by Western ideas, and wants these ideas to arrive here, in our country. I am very hopeful. Spain today is a nation of young people who believe in the future."

Demographic data tend to support Peirats' views. About 70 per cent of the country's population is under age 40, and Prime Minister Adolfo Suarez Gonzalez is only 42. Illiteracy fell from 19 per cent to 9 per cent between 1940 and 1970. And while class divisions are still sharp, the industrialization that has taken place since World War II has created better-paying jobs for many Spaniards.

In the epilogue to a 1,400-page report on these and other changes in Spain over the past 15 years, sociologist Enrique Martin Lopez wrote: "We have a governable people who want to be well governed. It is, thus, the time to test whether the leaders are the equal of their people." It will take more than 12 months to tell whether Juan Carlos and Suarez have passed the test. But they appear to have made a promising start.

LaSalle Expedition Fan Hopes Greeting Is Warm

Editor.

Early this morning I stood shivering on your boat dock in a freezing wind to watch five canoes being paddled across the harbor and out into the "Door of Death" passage. Basically, I'm not an "outdoorsy" person, so I don't subject myself to the wintry elements unless there is a very special reason. Well — special this was! These five canoes were carrying the "voyageurs" of the LaSalle Expedition II, 23 young men who are recreating the original LaSalle expedition.

The voyageurs had planned to spend only one day here at Washington Island and depart on the morning of Friday, Nov. 5. However, the weather didn't cooperate and, much to our enjoyment, they were unable to leave until today, Nov. 8. My husband is, at this very moment, escorting them across the "Door", a historically dangerous area, particularly in a canoe. Voyageurs and islanders alike want to proceed with caution, as we had a near-tragedy here last Thursday. One canoe capsized in the choppy, 39 degree waters. If the men of this expedition had not been so well-prepared, at least one life may have been lost.

Our hospitable friends and neighbors here at our new island home held a fish boil which not only fed the voyageurs but raised funds for them to continue on their way. Following dinner, they delighted us with a presentation which included some of the most joyous singing I have heard in a long time! We were able to talk with the men who proved to be jovial, sincere, and chuck-full of information! I should add that they must also possess an extra measure of patience, since they gladly answered all of my seemingly endless questions!

I encourage all of my hometown residents to begin preparation of their own lists now, because the voyageurs are paddling toward St. Joseph! They expect to arrive there on Dec. 19. Since this is not the time of year for favorable canoeing weather, I am hoping that at least the hospitality will be warm, as it was here on the island. Whatever hospitality you show to these voyageurs will be greatly appreciated and will most likely be given back to you in the form of joyful song.

I am hoping that The Herald-Palladium will also give the LaSalle Expedition II the coverage it so well deserves.

We are planning to come home to St. Joseph on Dec. 19 to join you in welcoming the voyageurs. We are looking forward to seeing many of you there!

Ray Cromley GOP May Be Able To Regroup

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Republican wheel I've known for 30 years passed me in the hall of a government building the day after election. He stopped only long enough to say forcefully "We've got to clean house in the party from top to bottom, get the old group out and a new group in, give the party a new face, a new image." Then he went on his way, with a parting shot: "And we can do it."

Despite the failure of the Republicans to improve their position in the Senate, House and in state governorships after the walloping they took in 1974, there are signs my old friend may be right. The figures, for certain, don't give much comfort to the GOP — hefty Democratic majorities in the Senate and House and in the nation's governorships. Plus, of course, Carter, as president.

Even more discouraging to Republicans is the evidence of what adverse voting drives by the major labor unions and black organizations can do, as well as the surprising turnout of rural voters for Jimmy Carter in many sections of the country.

Nevertheless, the evidence of this election is that when Republicans put up outstanding candidates for Congress or for governorships they were elected more often than not, even in states which gave Carter a majority.

The Republican statisticians calculate too that Carter's 1.7 million vote majority was more than accounted for in nine states — Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia and the District of Columbia — where Carter piled up a 1.9 million advantage. The total vote in the other 41 states taken as a whole gave a majority to President Ford.

These same statisticians note that a gain of a few thousand votes in Ohio plus a similar gain in Hawaii, would have put Mr. Ford in the White House.

But if the election indicated a bastion of Carter — Democratic strength in the South, it gave an equally clear promise of Republican hope in the West and continued strength in most of New England. A north-south line down the center of the United States dramatically illustrates a straight victory for President Ford on the Pacific side, except for Texas and Hawaii — but including Alaska. These were the same states, conservative Republicans claim, that went so heavily for Ronald Reagan in the primaries.

The Republicans gained hope too in what they see as the gradual splintering away of chunks of the sizeable Catholic and Jewish vote from traditional allegiance to the Democratic Party.

Lightly or wrongly, the Republicans see the Democratic Southern victory as more a victory for Carter the Southerner, than for Carter the Democrat.

Whether that new Republican face will be more conservative or more middle-of-the-road shapes up as the major battle ahead, as it was in the Reagan-Ford contest for the nomination.

Left Trying To Revise History

A moral assault is now being conducted against us by the American Left with the object of imposing its own interpretation on the history of the period surrounding World War II. I can only say, do not let them take it away, because the issues at stake are huge. Nevertheless, this assault is difficult to resist because most people most of the time cannot keep up with every disputed point in the ongoing argument.

The ground note of current revisionist history began to sound during the middle years of the 1960s. The principal assertion involved was that the United States had been the aggressor from the start in the Cold War with the Soviets.

It scarcely matters that this claim was utterly devastated at the scholarly level, as by Robert Maddox in his book, "The Cold War and the Historians." Maddox demonstrated at great length that the revisionists were not so much engaged in revising history as cooking the facts and even lying in the interest of their thesis.

Despite the labors of Maddox and others, however, the revisionist idea percolated into popular culture. Sen. Edmund Muskie, sensing some mileage in it, gave it as his opinion a few years ago that the U.S. and the USSR were "equally" at fault in the Cold War.

New Left journalist Garry Wills, in his introduction to Lillian Hellman's best-seller "Scoundrel Time," casually asserts that Harry Truman "launched the Cold War in the spring of 1947." Hellman herself, who once joined in an attack upon philosopher John Dewey for his investigation of the Stalin purge trials, has now become a culture heroine, indeed, a moral heroine.

Henry Wallace, a naive dupe of the U.S. Communist Party in 1948, has been dusted off and presented to us as a prophet scorned, his vision of a benign Stalin vindicated.

In the earlier phase of revisionism it thus used to be maintained, for example, that such people as Alger Hiss and the Rosenbergs were in fact innocent — that their convictions had been erroneous; that the Rosenbergs were not spies or Communists at all.

More recently, however, the revisionist process has taken one big step forward. We are now being told that many targets of Right-Wing ire were, after all, Communists — but that Communists are harmless, decent chaps. Thus a new movie called "The Front" stars Woody Allen. He plays a harmless sort of a fellow, a chump in fact, who somehow gets involved with a lot of Communists. And here's the new step: the Communists are equally innocent.

Needless to say, the most astute commentators are far from buying all of this. Movie critic John Simon objects in a commentary on "The Front": "To have been a Communist or a Communist sympathizer is not an automatic guarantee of moral and intellectual superiority."

Hilton Kramer, a cultural critic, has his own evaluation of the current re-writing of the past: "The point, it seems, is to acquit 'Sixties' radicalism of all malevolent consequences, and to do so by portraying a 'Thirties' radicalism as similarly innocent, a phenomenon wholly benign."

Perhaps we can look forward to the final step in revisionism: a motion picture with an all-star cast in which it is disclosed that the thousands of victims of Stalin's purge were, indeed, guilty as charged of being Nazi spies.

State Police Given Grant Of $450,000

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — In an effort to meet the increasing need for state troopers, the State Board of Education has approved the spending of $450,000 to train 400 State Police recruits.

The board's action this week followed a request from the State Police and Department of Labor, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction John Porter.

Porter said the money would come from some $4.7 million in federal job money administered by the Department of Education for occupational skills training programs.

The State Police training program will begin in January and will consist of three 12-week classes. The recruits will then spend 40 weeks in on-the-job training paid for by federal job funds and the labor department.

"There is a critical need for new state troopers due in part to the State Police's new responsibility for patrolling freeways in urban areas," Porter said, referring to State Police patrols in Detroit.

Proposal C Keeps A Few Sparks Glowing

Two reasons counted primarily in the Nov. 2nd defeat of Proposal C, a constitutional amendment to put a lid on state spending and taxing.

Foremost was that just about everyone pulling on the Lansing till, welfare recipients, state payrollers, teachers, and local governmental people, voted against it and persuaded some friends and relatives to do likewise.

Secondarily, its proponents brought out the plan too close to the election date. This did not allow sufficient time to build up the necessary ground swell for the idea. Additionally, their war chest was under financed in comparison to the money poured out by the opposition.

By way of neutralizing Proposal C's advocacy, Gov. Milliken and the Democratic leadership in the legislature promised they would take steps to accomplish in less traumatic fashion what the proposition could do if the public approved its radical surgery.

This was the dusting off of three ideas which have been thrown up recently at Lansing. They are budget stabilization, zero-based budgeting, and a sunset law.

Budget stabilization is the concept of putting aside a part of the annual budget during good years. Come a rainy day, this savings account can be drawn upon to supplement tax revenues which decline during a slow economic period.

Zero based budgeting, an idea mentioned several times by Jimmy Carter throughout the Presidential campaign, is starting from scratch in each fiscal year. The current practice is to take the expiring budget and add a number of percentage points to it to compensate for inflation.

A sunset law is a companion piece to zero-based budgeting. Periodically, every program in the budget has outlived its usefulness or is being nurtured beyond its genuine requirements.

The theory underlying the three concepts is good in the sense it represents an advance over today's slipshod handling of the money extracted from the taxpayers.

There are two reservations on it.

The temptation to spend a budget surplus before the rainy day's arrival is overwhelming. Experience has shown that little excuse is needed to eliminate a surplus under the guise of funding all manner of schemes masquerading as vital exercises in public service.

The moral courage required to put zero-based budgeting and sunset laws to their intended purpose equals that displayed by the Christian martyrs in pagan Rome. Asking anyone holding an elective office to stand firm against the special interest lobbying which is the natural enemy of any plan to control public spending assumes a total lack of weakness in human nature. In this respect, the record is clear how the nature in the Lansing establishment is all too human.

Nonetheless, the mere mention of the three ideas may be an indication that Proposal C has some chance of reviving in different form.

It can be brought forth again and if Lansing does not correct some of its more extravagant habits, it just might pass on the second time around.

Spain: Exception To An Old Maxim?

It is almost axiomatic that a country with a long history of authoritarian rule stands little or no chance of moving peacefully toward a democratic system of government. One form of despotism often is replaced by another, as in the case of Russia. But Spain may be an exception.

When Generalissimo Francisco Franco died on Nov. 20 last year, it was widely predicted that chaos would result, followed perhaps by a military coup. Few observers felt that the new king, Juan Carlos, would be equal to the task of governing Spain. Now the pessimists are having second thoughts.

David Holden, chief foreign correspondent of The Sunday Times of London, found Spain poised between "contradictory hopes and fears" after two recent visits. Writing in The New York Times Magazine, Holden concluded: "If Spain can reach the end of this year without grave disorder, I believe it will have gained crucial ground on its anxious march from dictatorship toward democracy."

Signs of change abound. Censorship of the news media, literature and the performing arts has been relaxed. A production of Equus, including the nude scene, was performed in Madrid. Most significant of all, however, Franco has become virtually a non-person. Spain, a country that long seemed a prisoner to its tragic past, is now looking to the future.

The young king, who is 38, lost no time in dissociating himself from the more repugnant aspects of the Franco regime. Less than two months before Franco died, five men convicted of terrorism had been executed by firing squad — an act that was bitterly condemned by nations throughout the world. Juan Carlos, in contrast, pardoned 5,626 nonpolitical prisoners within a week of ascending the throne. Last July 30 he granted amnesty to 500 political prisoners as well. Spaniards who had been living in exile since the civil war of the 1930s have been permitted to return.

Jose Peirats, a labor leader who recently returned to Madrid after 37 years abroad, is optimistic about the country's future. "Its people are amazing," he told a Christian Science Monitor correspondent. "Spain has an immense youth sector — a new generation that knows nothing about the civil war is inspired by Western ideas, and wants these ideas to arrive here, in our country. I am very hopeful. Spain today is a nation of young people who believe in the future."

Demographic data tend to support Peirats' views. About 70 per cent of the country's population is under age 40, and Prime Minister Adolfo Suarez Gonzalez is only 42. Illiteracy fell from 19 per cent to 9 per cent between 1940 and 1970. And while class divisions are still sharp, the industrialization that has taken place since World War II has created better-paying jobs for many Spaniards.

In the epilogue to a 1,400-page report on these and other changes in Spain over the past 15 years, sociologist Enrique Martin Lopez wrote: "We have a governable people who want to be well governed. It is, thus, the time to test whether the leaders are the equal of their people." It will take more than 12 months to tell whether Juan Carlos and Suarez have passed the test. But they appear to have made a promising start.

LaSalle Expedition Fan Hopes Greeting Is Warm

Editor,

Early this morning I stood shivering on our boat dock in a freezing wind to watch five canoes being paddled across the harbor and out into the "Door of Death" passage. Basically, I'm not an "outdoorsy" person, so I don't subject myself to the wintry elements unless there is a very special reason. Well — special this was! These five canoes were carrying the "voyagers" of the LaSalle Expedition II, 23 young men who are recreating the original LaSalle expedition.

The voyagers had planned to spend only one day here at Washington Island and depart on the morning of Friday, Nov. 5. However, the weather didn't cooperate and, much to our enjoyment, they were unable to leave until today, Nov. 8. My husband is, at this very

TOPS $3 MILLION FIRST TIME

Van Buren Budget 'Lean'

BY DENNIS CUGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — What one county commissioner described as a "lean" 1977 Van Buren county budget was unveiled Friday during a hearing by the county board's finance committee.

The proposed budget of $3,206,662 is up about 16 per cent over this year's anticipated expenditures of $2,774,278, and is the county's first $3 million budget.

"Let's just say it's lean," said Commissioner Edwin Twitchell. "But I think we treated everyone pretty well."

Both Twitchell and Commissioner Shirley Jackson of Paw Paw said one of their main concerns was the budget's relatively small contingency fund of $12,367.

"If we have a major expense, like a bad boiler, we could be in trouble," Twitchell admitted.

The 16 per cent increase is misleading since the budget includes funds which are reimbursed from the federal government for CETA employees, and a cooperative reimbursement program from the state to the Friend of the Court's office. Those two items were not carried in past budgets. Twitchell said both are essentially bookkeeping changes which auditors recommended.

The CETA salaries amount to $62,966 and the cooperative reimbursement program to $30,724.

As usual, the largest item in the budget is for the sheriff's department, up some $78,000 to $908,845. Mrs. Jackson said two of the major reasons for the increase are a $12,000 hike in the amount allocated for prisoner board ($48,000 allocated this year), and another $23,000 in salaries for two additional deputies.

Sheriff Richard E. Stump said the two extra deputies should allow the resumption of midnight to 8 a.m. patrols which had been eliminated in June when additional manpower had to be shifted to the jail to guard prisoners.

Another large increase was in the circuit court budget, which went up about $22,000 to $104,646. Among the increases was a $5,000 hike in jury fees, an extra $7,500 in court-appointed attorney fees, and some $4,500 extra in salaries.

Seemingly large jumps in both the Friend of the Court's and juvenile court budgets, commissioners said, are largely because of bookkeeping changes. In the juvenile court, about $31,000 in salaries of CETA employees is listed for the first time, and the Friend of the Court figures reflect the cooperative reimbursement program.

Much the same is true in the budget of the mental health department, which has gone from $47,000 to an anticipated

$188,310. Mrs. Jackson said that in order to enable the department to better take advantage of federal and state matching funds, a $52,000 appropriation for patient care at Lawton Manor, plus $89,310 from the state institution's fund, have been transferred into mental health.

The budget also reflects a number of pay hikes which will take effect Jan. 1. They include $550 hikes to most clerical employees, $1,000 boosts for four judges and six elected officials, $300 raises for county commissioners, and $750 increases for three appointed officials.

Commissioners are scheduled to take action on the budget at their Nov. 23 meeting.

Listed sources of revenue include: allocated property taxes, $1,580,292; voted ambulance millage, $129,279; estimated income tax, $32,000; surplus, $250,000; business activity tax, $116,491; CETA reimbursement, $62,566; cooperative reimbursement, $39,724; fees from a child support "bounty" program, $65,000; and other fees and revenues of $64,300.

Next year's budget items, with last year's figure in parentheses, include: county commissioners, $55,660 ($50,835); circuit court, $104,646 ($82,430); circuit court reporter, $44,787 ($31,512); district court (Paw Paw), $129,023 ($112,015); district court (South Haven), $119,788 ($111,151).

Friend of the Court, $102,093 ($48,788); juvenile court, $104,974 ($63,417); probate court, $70,769 ($71,220); jury commission, $4,500 ($3,700); juvenile home, $5,000 ($5,250); probation office, $11,390 ($9,865); clerk, $79,353 ($67,549); treasurer, $63,936 ($58,768); Register of Deeds, $38,425 ($38,547).

Records and printing, $22,285 ($21,000); prosecuting attorney, $103,506 ($82,707); sheriff's department, $906,845 ($428,085); ambulance, $129,279 ($114,993); equalization department, $26,867 ($25,131); tax description, $44,427 ($37,344); drain commissioner, $21,232 ($18,975); courthouse and grounds (Paw Paw), $52,259 ($40,294); grounds (Hartford), $40,163 ($42,698).

County property, $7,900 ($6,400); cooperative extension, $68,660 ($49,958); elections, $17,095 ($22,115); postage, $14,000 ($12,600); central supply, $3,000 ($3,100); tax allocation, $725 ($725); telephone, $28,611 ($14,000); plat board, $1,200 ($1,200); births and deaths, $500 ($500); animal shelter, $49,108 ($44,321); civil defense, $2,644 ($2,644).

Aged Turnout Low; Mass Flu Shots Due

Seven swine flu shot clinics for healthy people in Berrien County between 18 and 59 have been set from Dec. 1 to 8, following a round of clinics for senior citizens and the chronically ill this week.

Only 11.2 per cent of the estimated 11,900 senior citizens and chronically ill eligible for free shots at this week's clinics turned out, according to Judy Roper of the county health department.

Mrs. Roper, a registered nurse who managed some of the five clinics held around the county this week, described the turnout of 3,589 senior citizens and chronically ill as "not real great."

Mrs. Roper said the low turnout will be given free to healthy people between 18 and 59 years at the next round of clinics, at the following locations and dates:

FAIRPLAIN — Fairplain Plaza, Dec. 1 to 3, from 2 to 8 p.m.

NILES — Ring Lardner junior high school, 801 North 17th street, Dec. 1 and 2, from 2 to 8 p.m.

CHIKAMING TOWNSHIP — Chikaming elementary school, Three Oaks road, Dec. 3 from 2 to 8 p.m.

BUCHANAN — Buchanan middle school, West 4th street, Dec. 6 from 3 to 8 p.m.

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs middle school, Sylvester road, Dec. 6, from 2 to 8 p.m.

WATERSHET — Watershet high school, Dec. 7 from 2 to 8 p.m.

STEVENSVILLE — Dec. 7 and 8 from 2 to 8 p.m., at a location that will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. Roper said the federal government still hasn't decided whether to inoculate youngsters under 18. Chronically ill youngsters under 18 require two doses of vaccine and should go to the county health department or their own physicians, she reported.

The low turnout at the clinics this week was attributed by Mrs. Roper to some people being "somewhat scared by the vaccine" and others who "don't really think it's that important." She noted that no cases of swine flu have been reported in the United States since last spring. According to Nancy Ast, the Michigan Department of Public Health's influenza representative for southwestern Michigan, the remaining doses of bivalent vaccine will be offered to Berrien physicians, clinics and businesses that want to stage their own clinics. Eventually, the excess bivalent vaccine will be recalled by the state, she said.

According to the state health department's representative, bivalent vaccine was ordered for the 22,000 Berrien residents 60 and older and the estimated 9,000 people between the ages of 18 and 59 who are chronically ill from diseases of the heart, lungs or kidneys.

Locations of this week's clinics, and the number of people who received shots at each clinic, were: Harbert, 496; Fairplain Plaza, 863; Niles, 623; St. Joseph, 1,320; Berrien Springs, 297.

SJ Bank Offers Stock Dividend

The board of directors of Peoples State bank, St. Joseph, has authorized a 100 per cent stock dividend to holders of the bank's 50,000 shares.

Notices of the stock dividend were received in the mail this week by stockholders, who were invited to a special stockholders meeting on Nov. 22 to ratify the board's action. The meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m. at the bank's South branch at Midway avenue and South State street in St. Joseph.

Notices of the 100 per cent stock dividend were signed by Jun Capron, bank cashier.

Capron said stockholders will be asked to ratify an increase in the common stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000 through the declaration of a $500,000 dividend payable in 50,000 shares of new common stock of $10 par value. Stockholders also will be asked to amend the bank's articles of incorporation to reflect an outstanding capital stock of $1,000,000 divided into 100,000 shares of common stock with a par value of $10. The projected stock dividend is the latest in a series of increases since the corporation was formed in 1932 that will have multiplied one original share into 20 shares after this latest dividend.

COLOMA — Swine flu inoculations for senior citizens served by the North Berrien Senior center will be given Thursday, Nov. 18, at the center here.

The center will get the vaccine from the Berrien county health department, which is offering it to clinics, businesses and physicians qualified to administer swine flu vaccine.

Miss Marie Preston, center director, announced the clinic will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. for persons 60 years of age and older. People wishing to be vaccinated at the center should pick up application forms at the center by Tuesday, Nov. 16.

The center, located at 145 East Logan street, serves senior citizens residing in the townships of Hazar, Bainbridge, Coloma and Watershet and the cities of Coloma and Watershet.

SJ School Budget Propose $7 Million

A public hearing is scheduled Monday on a proposed $7 million budget for the St. Joseph school district for 1976-77.

The hearing will be during the board of education's meeting that starts at 7 p.m. in E.P. Clarke elementary school, 515 East Glenford road. The proposed budget calls for expenditures of $7,015,050 — a nine per cent increase over 1975-76. Total funds available are expected to be $7,017,072 including $7,002,850 in receipts plus $14,222 surplus on hand June 30, 1976.

The St. Joseph board of education regularly meets the second Monday of each month. The November meeting was postponed until the third Monday.

BH Bond Election Deadline Dec. 25

Benton Harbor residents have until Dec. 25 to petition for an election on a $500,000 bond issue to finance part of the construction costs of the new $2.2 million recreation center.

The City of Benton Harbor filed notice Wednesday of intent to issue the bonds after a 45-day public notice period ends unless petitions for an election are filed at the city clerk's office. The petitions must contain signatures of not less than 10 per cent of the registered voters.

Dedication ceremonies for the center, located on the Benton Harbor high school campus, are scheduled Dec. 29.

The project is financed by $1.5 million in state and federal funds, including $80,000 from Berrien county revenue, plus the proposed $500,000 bond issue.

The legal notice filed by the city says the bonds actually will be issued by the Benton Harbor Building Authority which will be the titular owner of the recreation center and lease it to the city.

The city will pay the authority all sums necessary to pay off bonds and costs of operating and maintaining the recreation center. The authority has two members — City Manager Melvin Farmer, Jr., and Alfred Frazier, 871 East Main street. A similar authority was created in the late 1960s to finance the Benton Harbor public library.

The full faith and credit of the city will be behind required payments to the building authority for the recreation center. Farmer said the city intends to amortize bonds for the center from the present two-mill public improvement tax which will not mean a tax increase.

After the 45-day waiting period, the bond issue will go before the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) whose approval is required before municipal bonds can be issued.

The MFC last summer declined to act on a Benton Harbor request for an $800,000 recreation center bond issue.

The commission was advised by its staff that there were "unsettled conditions" in Benton Harbor at that time. Since then the bond issue has been trimmed to $500,000 and the city commission is holding regular meetings after new members were elected in August.

Ballots completed by the board of canvassers gave Mrs. Wells 554 votes, Dan L. Flaugh 393, and Mrs. Annie Robinson 102.

Jones said he expects the results for the entire county will be completed and formalized on Tuesday, but of the Benton Harbor election noted: "That's the way the standings will be when we sign the canvass."

The three ran as sticker and write-in candidates for a vacant commissioner-at-large seat. Unofficial totals election night had given Mrs. Wells 554 votes compared to 393 for Flaugh and 102 for Mrs. Robinson. The write-in ballots produced considerable confusion over spellings of names, and Jones said all ballots for Mrs. Wells were counted except those which said "Wells, Sr." Mrs. Wells is the wife of the Rev. Nathaniel Wells, Sr.

Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke noted that since the official canvass will probably not be signed until Tuesday, Mrs. Wells cannot be sworn-in as a city commissioner when the commission meets Monday night.

Navy Women Want Sea Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Navy women say the legal prohibition against women at sea deprives them of "the core experience of Navy life." They are suing to overturn the prohibition.

The suit, filed this week, is a class action on behalf of all present and future females in the Navy.

Navy women currently can serve on hospital ships and harbor vessels like tugboats.

Keith Hazen Elected President

Keith E. Hazen, son of Mrs. Russell Crow of Benton Harbor and the late Edwin F. Hazen, has been elected president of the Psychology club at Pembroke State university, Pembroke, N.C.

A senior majoring in psychology, Hazen is a captain in the Army Reserve, tutors a blind Vietnam veteran, and helps conduct a cook's school for National Guard and Army Reserve personnel. He is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school. Hazen and his wife, Jaye, live in Laurinburg, N.C.

DECATUR INCIDENT

Charge Woman Hit School Bus Driver

DECATUR — Mrs. Lena Mae Waters, 45, Route 1, 94th avenue, Decatur, was arrested Friday on a charge of simple assault against a school bus driver, state police at Paw Paw reported.

Mrs. Waters pleaded innocent yesterday in Seventh district court, Paw Paw, to a charge of assaulting Decatur school bus driver Linda Taylor, 28, Route 2, CR-352, Decatur.

Mrs. Waters was released on her own recognizance pending a Nov. 29 pre-trial conference. Troopers said Mrs. Taylor did not require treatment.

Mrs. Taylor reported she was assaulted after refusing to let a girl on the school bus because of a disciplinary matter. Troopers said the alleged assault occurred in front of the Waters home.

Troopers said Mrs. Taylor charged she was slapped and grabbed by the neck while in the bus. She said some 20-25 students were aboard at the time.

Pet Rocks Made Him $4 Million

LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — The Pet Rock, the superstar of the 1975 gift-giving season, made a lot of money for Gary Dahl, its creator — an estimated $4 million.

Dahl says he still has a few Pet Rocks lying around and that he might use them to pave his driveway here, headquarters for him and his Rock Bottom Productions.

He said he's putting a piece of his Pet Rock proceeds into a salon.

Tree Lawn Pickups Are Discontinued

The trial period is over, and Benton Harbor residents in the Monday trash pickup district should leave their rubbish in the alley, according to Pete Mitchell, director of public services.

During the trial period in the Monday district, people were asked to place rubbish on tree lawns. This proved unpopular and the practice is being discontinued, Mitchell said. People whose houses do not border an alley will continue to put trash containers on tree lawns.

TOPS $3 MILLION FIRST TIME

Van Buren Budget 'Lean'

BY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — What one county commissioner described as a "lean" 1977 Van Buren county budget was unveiled Friday during a hearing by the county board's finance committee.

The proposed budget of $3,206,652 is up about 16 per cent over this year's anticipated expenditures of $2,774,278, and is the county's first $3 million budget.

"Let's just say it's lean," said Commissioner Edwin Twitchell. "But I think we treated everyone pretty well."

Both Twitchell and Commissioner Shirley Jackson of Paw Paw said one of their main concerns was the budget's relatively small contingency fund of $12,367.

"If we have a major expense, like a bad boiler, we could be in trouble," Twitchell admitted.

The 16 per cent increase is misleading since the budget includes funds which are reimbursed from the federal government for CETA employees, and a cooperative reimbursement program from the state to the Friend of the Court's office. Those two items were not carried in past budgets. Twitchell said both are essentially bookkeeping changes which auditors recommended.

The CETA salaries amount to $62,866 and the cooperative reimbursement program to $39,724.

As usual, the largest item in the budget is for the sheriff's department, up some $78,000 to $506,845. Mrs. Jackson said two of the major reasons for the increase are a $12,000 hike in the amount allocated for prisoner board ($48,000 allocated this year), and another $23,000 in salaries for two additional deputies.

Sheriff Richard E. Stump said the two extra deputies should allow the resumption of mid-night to 8 a.m. patrols which had been eliminated in June when additional manpower had to be shifted to the jail to guard prisoners.

Another large increase was in the circuit court budget, which went up about $22,000 to $104,646. Among the increases was a $5,000 hike in jury fees, an extra $7,500 in court-appointed attorney fees, and some $4,500 extra in salaries.

Seemingly large jumps in both the Friend of the Court's and juvenile court budgets, commissioners said, are largely because of bookkeeping changes. In the juvenile court, about $33,000 in salaries of CETA employees is listed for the first time, and the Friend of the Court figures reflect the cooperative reimbursement program.

Much the same is true in the budget of the mental health department, which has gone from $47,000 to an anticipated

$188,310. Mrs. Jackson said that in order to enable the department to better take advantage of federal and state matching funds, a $52,000 appropriation for patient care at Lawton Manor, plus $89,310 from the state institution's fund, have been transferred into mental health.

The budget also reflects a number of pay hikes which will take effect Jan. 1. They include $50 hikes to most clerical employees, $1,000 boosts for four judges and six elected officials, $300 raises for county commissioners, and $750 increases for three appointed officials.

Commissioners are scheduled to take action on the budget at their Nov. 23 meeting.

Listed sources of revenue include: allocated property taxes, $1,580,292; voted ambulance millage, $129,279; estimated income tax, $32,000; surplus, $250,000; business activity tax, $116,491; CETA reimbursement, $62,866; cooperative reimbursement, $39,724; fees from a child support "bounty" program, $65,000; and other fees and revenues of $64,300.

Next year's budget items, with last year's figure in parentheses, include: county commissioners, $55,660 ($50,835); circuit court, $104,646 ($82,436); circuit court reporter, $44,787 ($31,512); district court (Paw Paw), $129,023 ($112,015); district court (South Haven), $119,788 ($111,151).

Aged Turnout Low; Mass Flu Shots Due

Seven Swine flu shot clinics for healthy people in Berrien county between 18 and 59 have been set from Dec. 1 to 8, following a round of clinics for senior citizens and the chronically ill this week.

Only 11.2 per cent of the estimated 31,900 senior citizens and chronically ill eligible for free shots at this week's clinics turned out, according to Judy Roper of the county health department.

Mrs. Roper, a registered nurse who managed some of the five clinics held around the county this week, described the turnout of 3,599 senior citizens and chronically ill as "not real great." They received bivalent vaccine, effective against both Swine and Type A Victoria flu.

Mrs. Roper said monovalent vaccine will be given free to healthy people between 18 and 59 years at the next round of clinics, at the following locations and dates:

FAIRPLAIN — Fairplain Plaza, Dec. 1 to 3, from 2 to 8 p.m.

DECATUR INCIDENT

Charge Woman Hit School Bus Driver

DECATUR — Mrs. Lena Mae Waters, 45, Route 1, 94th avenue, Decatur, was arrested Friday on a charge of simple assault against a school bus driver, state police at Paw Paw reported.

Mrs. Waters pleaded innocent yesterday in Seventh district court, Paw Paw, to a charge of assaulting Decatur school bus driver Linda Taylor, 29, Route 2, CR-352, Decatur.

Mrs. Waters was released on her own recognizance, pending a Nov. 29 pre-trial conference. Troopers said Mrs. Taylor did not require treatment.

Mrs. Taylor reported she was assaulted after refusing to let a girl on the school bus because of a disciplinary matter. Troopers said the alleged assault occurred in front of the Waters home.

COMMISSION SEAT

Mrs. Wells Will Be BH Winner

Although the official canvass of election results in Berrien county is not yet completed, the chairman of the board of canvassers Friday said Mrs. Mildred Wells will be declared the winner of a city commission seat in Benton Harbor.

William Jones said vote

Tree Lawn Pickups Are Discontinued

The trial period is over, and Benton Harbor residents in the Monday trash pickup district should leave their rubbish in the alley, according to Pete Mitchell, director of public services.

During the trial period in the Monday district, people were asked to place rubbish on tree lawns. This proved unpopular and the practice is being discontinued, Mitchell said. People whose houses do not border an alley will continue to put trash containers on tree lawns.

talles completed by the board of canvassers gave Mrs. Wells 554 votes, Dan L. Flaugh 393, and Mrs. Annie Robinson 102.

Jones said he expects the results for the entire county will be completed and formalized on Tuesday, but of the Benton Harbor election noted: "That's the way the standings will be when we sign the canvass."

The three ran as sticker and write-in candidates for a vacant commissioner-at-large seat. Unofficial totals election night had given Mrs. Wells 534 votes compared to 395 for Flaugh and 102 for Mrs. Robinson. The write-in ballots produced considerable confusion over spellings of names, and Jones said all ballots for Mrs. Wells were counted except those which said "Wells, Sr." Mrs. Wells is the wife of the Rev. Nathaniel Wells, Sr.

Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke noted that since the official canvass will probably not be signed until Tuesday, Mrs. Wells cannot be sworn-in as a city commissioner when the commission meets Monday night.

Begins Sunday

CINEMA ARTS: "Swept Away," an Italian film directed by Lina Wertmüller, will open Cinema Arts Society's film series season with showings Sunday through Tuesday, Nov. 14-16, at the Loma theatre in Coloma. The film centers around a wealthy woman industrialist on a yacht who finds herself marooned in the Mediterranean with the Sicilian seaman whom she had been abusing for marine inefficiency and the wearing of offensive smelling clothes. A series membership, which includes five other films, is $7.50 per person. Those without memberships will be admitted to the first five films for $3 per person. Further information concerning the films or tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Alfred S. (Lillian) Dubinsky, left, of Benton Harbor, or Miss Andrea Belski, right, also of Benton Harbor. # Plan Print Sale And Exhibit

Invite Public

St. Joseph Art Association will sponsor an exhibit and sale of approximately 600 original prints from the Ferdinand Roten Galleries collection Sunday, Nov. 21, from noon to 5 p.m. at the St. Joseph Art Center, 600 State Street, St. Joseph.

Along with prints by such masters as Picasso, Goya, Renoir and Hogarth, will be works by many of today's American artists.

The public is invited. A Roten representative will be present to answer questions about the prints and the artists and to discuss other prints not in this collection but which may be obtained from the gallery in Baltimore.

An authority on graphics of all types, Roten holds exhibitions and sales at major museums, colleges, art galleries and art centers throughout the United States and Canada, according to Mrs. Donald Ladrow, president of the association.

The informal displaying of the collection allows visitors to examine at close range the various graphic techniques of different artists.

A great majority of the prints will be priced at well under $100.

Ernest Lowenstein, president of the Ferdinand Roten Galleries, offers tips on what to look for when buying an original print.

He says, "Buy what appeals to you. At least with art you have something beautiful to look at and enjoy. In today's original print market, work is not decreasing in value and most is increasing in price each year."

He says, "Graphic art is a good investment. A million dollars is almost common price for oils sold at auction and more collectors are discovering the art world of graphics."

Buying at auction is fun, but it is also risky, he added.

Lowenstein says buyers should be careful of the word "original." An original work must have been conceived by the artist, the artist must have participated in the preparation of the plate and the work must have been pulled from that original plate, he emphasizes.

An original lithograph is not a photo-engraved lithograph, but one which has been printed from the artist's original stone or plate.

Lowenstein advises that buyers do not assume that age

"YOUNG COUPLE" BY WILL BARNET Color Etching — United States 1911

or the artist's fame alone are a justification for high prices. In Roten's collection, there are engravings by Hogarth and Goya, done from the original plate, that are under $50. Roten's marking indicates that these engravings were struck after the artist's death.

By the same token, he said, don't assume that because the price is modest, the work is not important.

A fine work need not have been signed. Until the 20th century, many artists never signed their work, feeling that the picture itself was all that was needed as identification. When the prospective buyer sees the phrase "attributed to," it means just that, according to Lowenstein. It may be attributed to Rembrandt, but that is not a guarantee. The well-established dealer or curator is very careful when attributing work.

Oldest Complete Hebrew Bible Facsimile Edition Published

By JOEL EPSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Like the message it carries, the world's oldest complete Hebrew Bible has survived invasions, fire, pogroms and the passing of centuries.

For more than 1,000 years, Jews have guarded the "aleppo crown" codex, ransoming it from Gentile conquerors, hiding it from marauders and finally smuggling it from Syria to Israel.

Some of the parchment pages are badly faded and about a quarter of it was damaged by fire during an anti-Jewish riot 28 years ago.

The Hebrew University in Jerusalem recently published a facsimile edition of the codex. The publication, of value to Jewish and Christian scholars alike, is the fruit of a $130,000, four-year research program.

The 600-page reproductions, printed by the university's press, cost $400 a copy.

"We have scrolls of parts of the Old Testament which predate the codex," says Prof. Moshe Goshen-Gottstein, who headed the research, "but this is the oldest Old Testament we have. Older ones have vanished in antiquity."

Unlike a scroll, which is printed on only one side, a codex is a manuscript bound like a book, with writing on both sides of the page. Goshen-Gottstein explained in an interview.

He said, "Ritual demands that the Hebrew Bible, unlike secular books, be spelled and read absolutely correctly. The aleppo crown was the first manuscript ever to include instructions on all the correct spellings and readings."

The codex was written at the beginning of the 10th century by the master scribe Aharon Ben Asher, working in Tiberias by the Sea of Galilee. He fills the margins with notes on spelling and cryptic signs to guide future generations of scribes and worshippers.

The sacred volume was carried to Jerusalem, center of the Jewish world, where it became famous throughout the Middle East.

In the 11th century, Jerusalem was sacked by the crusaders, then by the Arab Seljuks. The Jews of the city were massacred and their possessions burned and looted.

Ben Asher's Bible was seized and carried off, apparently to Cairo. There it was held for ransom to the Jewish community.

"There is a basic principle in the Jewish religion that people and books must be ransomed," said Goshen-Gottstein. So the Jews raised the money — no one knows how much — and bought the book for the Jewish library of Cairo.

But new troubles beset the Middle East. Christian crusaders again battled Muslims, and the heathen Mongols threatened from the east.

In the 14th century, the volume was taken to the Syrian city of Aleppo. There it received its present name — the "aleppo crown" — and became enshrined in the main synagogue of the large Jewish community.

The fame of the codex spread. Scholars came from as far as Poland to study it. After the reformation in the 1500s, Christians also began to realize the manuscript's worth.

The Bible was stored in a special vault behind the ark of the synagogue, with an elaborate, multi-keyed lock. Only when all the leading rabbis of Aleppo assembled could it be opened.

Folk legends grew up about the magic powers of the codex. Touching it could cure disease, and women sought its power for the birth of sons.

The crown remained in Aleppo for more than 500 years. Then, during the Israeli war of independence in 1948, a mob of enraged Syrians broke into the synagogue, tore at the manuscript and set it ablaze. Word spread through the world Jewish community — the aleppo codex had been destroyed.

But only about a quarter was burned. The charred parchments were rescued and hidden away. About 20 years ago, it was smuggled out of Syria into Israel.

THE BIBLE

No. 265. The Wretched State of Jerusalem

The Lamentations of Jeremiah begin with a poignant portrayal of the wretched state of Jerusalem. The lament encompasses a plea for some sort of revival as well as an acknowledgment of guilt and self-destruction.

"Judah is gone into captivity, because of affliction, and because of great servitude; she dwelleth among the heathen, she findeth no rest; all her persecutors overtook her between the straits. Jerusalem hath grievously sinned; therefore she is removed; all that honoured her despise her, because they have seen her nakedness; yea, she sigheth, and turneth backward." (Lamentations 1:3,8)

"For these things I weep: mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water, because the comforter that should relieve my soul is far from me; my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed." (Lamentations 1:16)

PHILLIPS IS INDUSTRY CHAIRMAN

Bible Week Nov. 21-28

BERT E. PHILLIPS

The 36th annual interfaith National Bible Week will be observed Nov. 21-28.

Bowie E. Kuhn, Commissioner of Baseball, is the national chairman for the observance.

The purpose of the week is to stimulate interest in the Bible as a contemporary moral resource in 1976 especially, as citizens focus on the nation's Bicentennial. National Bible Week's non-sectarian mass media campaign is directed at turning on a younger, disinterested generation to the Bible, according to Kuhn.

General Industry Chairman for the observance is Bert E. Phillips, president and chief executive officer of Clark Equipment Company.

Phillips said of the week, "I believe that businessmen and all citizens can benefit from National Bible Week and from its promotion of personal and biblical morality."

Harold Leever, president of MacBendum, Inc., Waterbury, Conn., is corporate gifts chairman.

President Ford is honorary chairman.

Honorary co-chairmen are: Weeb Ewbank, Hon. James A. Farley, Hon. Arthur J. Goldberg, the Rev. Dr. Billy Graham, Fr. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Archbishop Lukovics, Art Linkletter, George Meany, Mrs. Norman V. Peale, Lawrence Cardinal Shehan, Mrs. Harry Wagner Jr., and Dr. M.L. Wilson.

The week observance is sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee, Inc., an organization of business and professional leaders of all faiths associated in an intensive effort to motivate reading and study of Holy Scripture.

LNBC is supported entirely by voluntary tax-deductible contributions. Business and professional leaders who serve as Associate Chairmen for National Bible Week enlist financial support, primarily to underwrite the cost for producing advertising and promotion materials.

Working in close cooperation with LNBC are the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese, the Jewish Committee for National Bible Week, the National Council of Churches, the United States Catholic Conference, the Christian Scientists, the Mormons and the Bible societies.

Bowie Kuhn's Bible Baseball Quiz

NEW YORK — Bowie K. Kuhn has combined his rules as Commissioner of Baseball and Chairman of National Bible Week by throwing out the first "ball" in a game of Bible Baseball that he hopes will become the parlor game of the year.

Kuhn said he hoped the Bible Baseball Quiz would "stimulate interest in the Bible and give readers a means of testing their knowledge of the good book."

The rules designed by officials of the 36th interfaith National Bible Week, Nov. 21-28 are simple.

Each question is a pitch and a correct answer gives you a hit — single, double, triple or home run.

Keep track of the bases you earn and figure your batting average against a total of 100 possible bases.

If you answer all the questions correctly, your Bible batting average would be 1,000. A .500 average is good; under .300 indicates that you need to take drastic action to improve your knowledge of the most important Book of Western Civilization — the Bible. BATTER UP!

1. Which of the following pairs of men were brothers? (Worth a single each): a. David and Jonathan; b. Peter and Paul; c. James and John; d. Mark and Luke; e. Joseph and Benjamin.

2. Match these phrases with the Biblical character to whom they apply (double for each): Persons: Paul, Joseph, Zacheus, Elisha and Saul. Phrases: a. Made iron axhead float on water; b. a sycamore tree; c. a tent maker; d. the witch of Endor; e. coat of many colors.

3. Various men of the Bible are associated with certain trees. Match the following (triple for each): Persons: Elijah, Noah, Zacheus, Nathaniel and Absalom. Trees: a. oak; b. sycamore; c. fig; d. olive; e. juniper.

4. Match the people below with the experiences pertaining to each (home run): People: David, Jezebel, Michal, Daniel, and Moses. Phrases: a. Forged her husband's name in an innocent man's death warrant; b. Read the handwriting on the wall; c. Feigned insanity in order to escape death; d. Saved her husband's life by saying he was ill and putting a statue in his bed to deceive his would-be murderers; e. Forbade his people to eat pork, probably because of the danger of trichinosis.

5. The first five books of the New Testament recount the experiences of Jesus and his followers. Score a triple if you can list them in the correct order.

6. Here are five famous source documents for important Biblical teachings. Score a double for matching each quotation to its source. Sources: Sermon on the Mount, Lord's Prayer, Ten Commandments, 23rd Psalm, Beatitudes. Quotations: a. "I will fear no evil; for thou art with me." b. "Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy." c. "Thou shalt not kill." d. "Give us this day our daily bread." e. "Judge not that you be not judged."

7. In the Bible there are many famous pairs. Score a single by linking the correct name to the following: a. Adam; b. Esau; c. Samson; d. Cain; e. Naomi.

8. Match the following Apostles with the trait of character generally associated with each (worth a triple): Names: Thomas, Peter, Matthew, Judas and John. Traits: a. philosopher; b. scientist; c. renegade; d. accountant; e. impulsive.

9. Try to match the characteristics below with the books of the Bible where they are described — score a home run for each correct answer. People: Samson, Noah, Solomon, Mary and Paul. Books: a. Genesis; b. Acts; c. Judges; d. Kings; e. Luke.

Game's Over. Total the number of bases you earned against a possible 100 and figure your Bible batting average.

Commissioner Kuhn in releasing the Bible quiz, urged clubs and organizations and youth groups to utilize the game during Bible Week by choosing up sides, dividing the questions between opposing teams and letting a pitcher deliver one question per batter. Players advance around the bases as hits are made. Three outs (incorrect answers) and the next team comes to bat.

National Bible Week is sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee, an organization of lay men and women of all faiths with headquarters in New York. Its executive director, John F. Fidler, said that "Bowie Kuhn's Bible Baseball Quiz" was patterned after the Bible Baseball which was once played extensively by youth groups, notably Christian Endeavor Clubs.

Questions for this special newspaper feature were provided by Dr. George W. Crane, author of the booklet, "How to Stimulate Bible Reading," and syndicated columnist of "The Worry Clinic."

No. 265. The Wretched State of Jerusalem

The Lamentations of Jeremiah begin with a poignant portrayal of the wretched state of Jerusalem. The lament encompasses a plea for some sort of revival as well as an acknowledgment of guilt and self-destruction.

"Judah is gone into captivity, because of affliction, and because of great servitude; she dwelleth among the heathen, she findeth no rest; all her persecutors overtook her between the straits. Jerusalem hath grievously sinned; therefore she is removed: all that honoured her despise her, because they have seen her nakedness; yea, she is sighted, and turneth backward." (Lamentations 1:3-8)

"For these things I weep: mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water, because the comforter that should relieve my soul is far from me; my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed." (Lamentations 1:16)

A Prayer For Parents

Dear Ann: Thanks for honoring requests to rerun special columns. And now will you do me a big favor and print once again "The Prayer For Parents"? My copy is almost illegible. Bless you. — A Mother Who Learned

Dear Mother: Here is it: A PRAYER FOR PARENTS

"Oh, God, make me a better parent. Help me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say and to respond to their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them, talking back to them and contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and ask them for forgiveness when I know I have done wrong. May I not faintly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame and ridicule as punishment. Let me not tempt a child to lie or steal. Guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag; and when I am out of sorts, help me, O Lord, to hold my tongue. Blind me to the little errors of my children and help me to see the good things they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise.

Help me treat my children as those of their own age. Let me not expect from them the judgment of adults. Allow me not to rob them of the opportunity to wait upon themselves, to think, to choose, and to make their own decisions.

Forbid that I should ever punish them for my selfish satisfaction. May I grant them all their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage always to withhold a privilege which I know will do them harm.

Make me so fair and just, so considerate and compassionate that they will have genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children. Oh, God, do give me calm and poise and self-control."

Earplugs

Dear Ann Landers: My problem may seem inconsequential compared to most you get, but it's big to me and I need your help.

Our two children were recently given violins from a relative who loves music. It was a beautiful gesture, but when they practice it drives me crazy. This past August I suggested they practice in the backyard, but the neighbors on both sides complained.

I don't want the children to lose interest in music, but the noise is more than I can stand. Please, Ann, suggest something. — Double Trouble

ANN LANDERS

Dear D.T.: If your letter had appeared 45 years ago in Dorothy Dix's column, I would have sworn my mother wrote it. Everything fits.

Buy a pocket-size transistor radio with earplugs. It would be well worth the investment.

CONFIDENTIAL To Starry-Eyes: The man you think could be a "model husband" sounds interesting, but he doesn't sound like a working model to me. Keep your job. Toots.

Are drugs O.K. if you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are to Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (24 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

From Great Britain and Sweden comes interesting, even exciting, news that stomach ulcers can be cured with a new antihistamine drug.

If this compound is found to be safe, it is believed that the medical management of peptic ulcers of the stomach and the duodenum may be revolutionized.

The electronic pacemaker, so successful for controlling the abnormal rhythms of the heart, is now being used in a modified form for the urinary bladder.

Many patients, without control of their urinary output, are now being implanted with a pacemaker. Dr. Dantel C. Merrill, at the University of Minnesota, and Christopher J. Conway, an engineer, developed this device and are using it with great success.

The patient now can control voiding by simply pushing a button. This is a great contribution, too, to the many paraplegics who are burdened by this problem.

A hereditary condition in which fats and cholesterol accumulate in the blood is responsible in many cases for severe coronary artery disease of the heart.

Now a new technique is in active use in Great Britain for the removal of cholesterol and fats from the blood of these patients.

Dr. Gilbert Thompson, of the Hammersmith Hospital in London, uses a blood cell separator and can reduce cholesterol levels by as much as 50 per cent.

This technique will be invaluable to those patients who blood levels of cholesterol cannot be controlled by any other means.

Now South cashes dummy's ace, king and queen of spades. On the last of those three leads East will be forced to throw his last club which will establish dummy's seven spot, or unguard his queen of hearts to give declarer two heart tricks, since the ace will now drop both the queen and king.

A nice problem indeed and one can't really blame the man at the table for not working it out.

We don't really know. He was only 33 in 1942 when he died and was already regarded as one of the five or six best in the world. If he had lived he might well have been the greatest of them all.

Keep me from interrupting them, talking back to them and contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and ask them for forgiveness when I know I have done wrong.

"May I not vainly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame and ridicule as punishment. Let me not tempt a child to lie or steal. Guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag; and when I am out of sorts, help me, O Lord, to hold my tongue. Blind me to the little errors of my children and help me to see the good things they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise.

Help me treat my children as those of their own age. Let me not expect from them the judgment of adults. Allow me not to rob them of the opportunity to wait upon themselves, to think, to choose, and to make their own decisions.

Forbid that I should ever punish them for my selfish satisfaction. May I grant them all their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage always to withhold a privilege which I know will do them harm.

Make me so fair and just, so considerate and companionable that they will have genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children. Oh, God, do give me calm and poise and self-control."

Earplugs

Dear Ann Landers: My problem may seem inconsequential compared to most you get, but it's big to me and I need your help.

Our two children were recently given violins from a relative who loves music. It was a beautiful gesture, but when they practice it drives me crazy. This past August I suggested they practice in the backyard, but the neighbors on both sides complained.

I don't want the children to lose interest in music, but the noise is more than I can stand. Please, Ann, suggest something. — Double Trouble

From Great Britain and Sweden comes interesting, even exciting, news that stomach ulcers can be cured with a new antihistamine drug.

If this compound is found to be safe, it is believed that the medical management of peptic ulcers of the stomach and the duodenum may be revolutionized.

The electronic pacemaker, so successful for controlling the abnormal rhythms of the heart, is now being used in a modified form for the urinary bladder.

Many patients, without control of their urinary output, are now being implanted with a pacemaker. Dr. Daniel C. Merrill, at the University of Minnesota, and Christopher J. Conway, an engineer, developed this device and are using it with great success.

The patient now can control voiding by simply pushing a button. This is a great contribution, too, to the many paraplegics who are burdened by this problem.

A hereditary condition in which fats and cholesterol accumulate in the blood is responsible in many cases for severe coronary artery disease of the heart.

Now a new technique is in active use in Great Britain for the removal of cholesterol and fats from the blood of these patients.

Dr. Gilbert Thompson, of the Hammersmith Hospital in London, uses a blood cell separator and can reduce cholesterol levels by as much as 50 per cent.

This technique will be invaluable to those patients whose blood levels of cholesterol cannot be controlled by any other means.

Students Told To Strip In Vain Search For Key

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Officials of the Clinton Township school system said they have no plans to discipline a school administrator who ordered a class of eighth graders to strip naked Thursday during a search for a missing key.

The 20 boys in the class were told to take off their clothes in locker rooms at Clintondale Intermediate School near this city north of Detroit while several teachers and the assistant school principal watched.

The two girls in the class undressed before a woman gym teacher in the girls' locker room.

The missing key has not been found, officials said today.

Assistant Principal Steven McDermott, 33, admitted he ordered the "strip and search" and later apologized to students and parents.

"I overstepped my bounds. In retrospect, I shouldn't have done it," he said.

Principal Gary Davis said he would discuss the matter with McDermott, adding, "I don't want to ruin the fine career of a good educator, a good administrator. I'm glad (McDermott) is part of our team. And he'll continue to be part of our team."

Supt. John Savel said Friday he is handling an investigation of the incident, and admitted the situation "is a little bit different and unique."

School board President John Vecchio said his group would await the superintendent's findings, and would probably discuss the matter some time next week.

"I don't condone any action like this," Vecchio said. "You can rest assured we will be talking about him."

Several parents attending a regular meeting of the school's parent-teacher organization Thursday night praised McDermott as an outstanding educator. "Don't crucify him," said Sandy Banac. "He overstepped his bounds and he admitted it."

Industrial arts teacher Kenneth Thompson discovered the master key to students' desks was missing and called the assistant principal to the classroom. McDermott said he asked students to search the room, but the key was not found.

Then, the assistant principal said, "I asked the students, two at a time, to empty their pockets and come (out in the hall) and take off their shoes and socks."

McDermott said he then told the students to go to the gymnasium and "strip between the lockers, between classes."

"I told the girls I was sorry, but it was only fair they did it too," McDermott told parents Thursday night. "The whole thing took 8 or 10 minutes."

Now's Time To Buy 23-Channel CBs

By JOHN D. McCLAIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're looking for a Citizens-Band radio set, now might be the best time to buy.

A combination of factors has depressed the market, so much so that many dealers are offering greatly reduced prices as well as free accessories to attract reluctant buyers. Despite this, some distributors have gone bankrupt in recent months.

But industry spokesmen say the buyers' market is expected to end by the first of the year, when the Federal Communications Commission decision to expand the CB spectrum from 23 to 40 channels takes effect.

It was confusion over that decision — together with what one industry representative described as the usual summer sales slump and supply finally meeting demand after an unprecedented boom — that produced the many bargains now available.

"Many dealers in the weeks after the (August) FCC decision reported that retail sales had stopped dead," said a spokesman for one major manufacturer.

Other industry representatives agreed with his report of "very, very difficult times for anybody in the CB business" during the last two months.

But most agreed the slump may be ending as Christmas approaches and with the addition of the new channels on Jan. 1 and better public understanding of the effects of the FCC channel-expansion decision.

The main problem, said John Sodolski, vice president of the Electronic Industries Association, has been a lot of confusion over whether 23-channel sets will be operable after Jan. 1.

Sodolski said there had been erroneous reports that either 23-channel sets will be obsolete or illegal then or that somehow the channels will be different.

But the only difference will be additional frequencies for CB use which the FCC and CBers themselves hope will help relieve congestion on the current 23 channels, and increased interference protection.

CBers wishing to use the new channels will have to buy new sets, however, since the FCC has ruled illegal the addition of any equipment to current 23-channel models to permit use of the new channels.

To have permitted add-ons, an FCC official said, would have resulted in off-frequency transmissions and interference with other channels and radio and television reception.

Some manufacturers have countered the drop in sales with offers to sell new 23-channel models now and, for a small fee, remanufacture them after Jan. 1 to permit reception of all 40 channels.

The FCC is permitting this practice only with newly manufactured sets because of new regulations requiring increased interference protection in the new 40-channel sets after Jan. 1.

The remanufacturing process usually will involve sending the set back to the factory, with a bill of sale indicating date of purchase and the manufacturer's promise to add the new 17 channels.

The process is expected to take at least a week, perhaps longer depending on the number of sets arriving simultaneously.

But don't count on saving time by waiting until Jan. 1 to buy a new 40-channel set.

"There's a pent-up demand by people waiting for the new 40-channel sets," says one industry spokesman. "That, combined with tighter specifications that are causing manufacturers more difficulty than anticipated to meet the 40-channel demand, could well result in a shortage of new sets in January."

Meanwhile, another manufacturer says 23-channel sets still will be sold after Jan. 1, perhaps representing half of the sales early next year and one-third of the market in 1979.

"All the action is on the first 23 channels and will remain there," he said.

Now's Time To Buy 23-Channel CBs

By JOHN D. McCLAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're looking for a Citizens Band radio set, now might be the best time to buy.

A combination of factors has depressed the market, so much so that many dealers are offering greatly reduced prices as well as free accessories to attract reluctant buyers. Despite this, some distributors have gone bankrupt in recent months.

Sodolski said there had been erroneous reports that either 23-channel sets will be obsolete or illegal then or that somehow the channels will be different.

But the only difference will be additional frequencies for CB use which the FCC and CBers themselves hope will help relieve congestion on the current 23 channels, and increased interference protection.

CBs now in use or being sold will continue to be operated as they are now, particularly on emergency channel 9 and travelers channel 19.

But CBers buying 40-channel sets are expected to utilize the new upper 17 channels and thus lessen the crowded conditions on the current 23.

As one industry spokesman said: "Most people use only three channels — 9, 19 and one of their choosing for conversation. When the 40-channel sets go into operation, those seeking a conversation channel probably will go to the upper 17," where conditions will be less crowded and range much farther.

CBers wishing to use the new channels will have to buy new sets, however, since the FCC has ruled illegal the addition of any equipment to current 23-channel models to permit use of the new channels.

To have permitted add-ons, an FCC official said, would have resulted in off-frequency transmissions and interference with other channels and radio and television reception.

Some manufacturers have countered the drop in sales with offers to sell new 23-channel models now and, for a small fee, remanufacture them after Jan. 1 to permit reception of all 40 channels.

The FCC is permitting this practice only with newly manufactured sets because of new regulations requiring increased interference protection in the new 40-channel sets after Jan. 1.

The remanufacturing process usually will involve sending the set back to the factory, with a bill of sale indicating date of purchase and the manufacturer's promise to add the new 17 channels.

But don't count on saving time by waiting until Jan. 1 to buy a new 40-channel set. "There's a pent-up demand by people waiting for the new 40-channel sets," says one industry spokesman. "That, combined with tighter specifications that are causing manufacturers more difficulty than anticipated to meet the 40-channel demand, could well result in a shortage of new sets in January."

Meanwhile, another manufacturer says 23-channel sets still will be sold after Jan. 1, perhaps representing half of the sales early next year and one-third of the market in 1978. "All the action is on the first 23 channels and will remain there," he said.

Students Told To Strip In Vain Search For Key

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Officials of the Clinton Township school system said they have no plans to discipline a school administrator who ordered a class of eighth graders to strip naked Thursday during a search for a missing key.

The 20 boys in the class were told to take off their clothes in locker rooms at Clintondale Intermediate School near this city north of Detroit while several teachers and the assistant school principal watched.

The two girls in the class undressed before a woman gym teacher in the girls' locker room.

The missing key has not been found, officials said today.

Assistant Principal Steven McDermott, 33, admitted he ordered the "strip and search" and later apologized to students and parents.

"I overstepped my bounds. In retrospect, I shouldn't have done it," he said.

Principal Gary Davis said he would discuss the matter with McDermott, adding, "I don't want to ruin the fine career of a good educator, a good administrator. I'm glad (McDermott) is part of our team. And he'll continue to be part of our team."

Supt. John Savel said Friday he is handling an investigation of the incident, and admitted the situation "is a little bit different and unique."

School board President John Vecchio said his group would await the superintendent's findings, and would probably discuss the matter some time next week.

"I don't condone any action like this," Vecchio said. "You can rest assured we will be talking about him."

Several parents attending a regular meeting of the school's parent-teacher organization Thursday night praised McDermott as an outstanding educator. "Don't crucify him," said Sandy Banac. "He overstepped his bounds and he admitted it."

Industrial arts teacher Kenneth Thompson discovered the master key to students' desks was missing and called the assistant principal to the classroom. McDermott said he asked students to search the room, but the key was not found.

Then, the assistant principal said, "I asked the students, two at a time, to empty their pockets and come (out in the hall) and take off their shoes and socks." McDermott said he then told the students to go to the gymnasium and "strip between the lockers, between classes."

"I told the girls I was sorry, but it was only fair they did it too," McDermott told parents Thursday night. "The whole thing took 9 or 10 minutes."

Cook Plant Not Included In Report On Radiation

LANSING — There have been no radiation releases at the Cook Nuclear plant in Lake township that were hazardous to the public, a state health department official said yesterday. Joseph Hennigan, an engineer with the health department division of radiological health, said monitoring equipment around Indiana & Michigan Power company's Lake township site indicates there have been no hazardous radiation leaks since the plant fired up its reactors in January, 1975.

A report released by the health department earlier this week said monitoring over the past 16 years has uncovered no radiation that posed serious risks to people living around the state's four completed nuclear plant sites.

The report specifically mentioned Consumers Power company's Palisades plant in Covert township but did not make reference to the Cook plant. Hennigan said the Cook plant was not mentioned because the report covered the period up to 1973 and 1974, prior to beginning operations of the Cook plant.

The Consumers Palisades plant began its operations in January, 1972, and was in the reporting period, he said. He said the health department is now working on a similar report covering radiological monitoring for the last two years. That report is expected to be finished soon, he said.

Delay In Juvenile Laws Is Blamed On Democrats

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Republican Leader Dennis Cawthorne says House Democrats are dragging their feet on legislation he introduced to rewrite the state's juvenile justice laws.

"Nothing has happened in this area," said the Manistee Republican. "So far very little has been accomplished" — despite the concern of many Michigan residents, particularly Detroiters, about juvenile crime, he said.

"It's high time the legislature got serious about crime in this state, particularly in the juvenile justice system," said Cawthorne, who is urging the Democratic majority to give a "high priority" to passing such a measure before they adjourn in mid-December.

But Democratic state Rep. Lynn Jondahl of East Lansing said Cawthorne's charges are "idiotic." Jondahl said a special House subcommittee has drafted a compromise bill after reviewing both Cawthorne's legislation — endorsed by the Michigan Probate Judges Association and the State Bar — and Jondahl's own proposed code revision.

The subcommittee's draft incorporates some provisions from each version, Jondahl said. But on the most controversial points, the draft opts for Jondahl's provisions to ban the bill to go before the full House this year unless a provision to allow the lockup of violent juveniles in regular adult jails is included.

Subcommittee member Richard Fessler, R-Union Lake, said Friday he does not expect the bill to go before the full House this year unless a provision to allow the lockup of violent juveniles in regular adult jails is included.

That was part of Cawthorne's bill, as was another provision — omitted from the subcommittee draft — that would let prosecutors charge a 17-year-old juvenile with a felony in an adult court without a hearing.

Cawthorne also said Friday that Michigan State Police Director Col. George Halverson has endorsed Cawthorne's bill, along with the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals.

On other legislation expected to come before the House in a brief pre-Christmas session, Cawthorne said it would be a "monumental task" for House lawmakers to pass a statewide comprehensive transportation package by Christmas.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, who sets the agenda for the House as leader of the majority party, has said he hopes to get at least part of the package through.

Cawthorne said hassles over what kind of taxes will fund the transit plan, and how the proceeds will be divided, are likely to stall it until next year.

Going To Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger is keeping a low profile in the last weeks of the Ford administration, but he plans to go to Mexico for the installation of Jose Lopez Portillo as the new president.

It was learned Friday that Kissinger will be going to the ceremony as the administration's representative.

Kissinger has stayed out of the limelight since the election of Jimmy Carter in order to help assure a smooth transition.

Whirlpool Puts Microwave Oven Through Hoops

"We're right on target for early 1977," said Ed Eisele, director of range manufacturing for Whirlpool's Marion, Ohio, division, where testing is underway on Whirlpool's new microwave oven. "For over a year now," Eisele said, "my engineering staff and I have lived and breathed microwaves from the standpoint of designing the product as well as being involved in organizing, developing and coordinating the manufacturing and production areas."

Whirlpool announced its entry into the microwave oven business, with introduction of its new line scheduled for early 1977. Now several hundred people are kitchen testing the ovens, reporting things they like or dislike about the unit and any problems encountered with it.

Eisele said results of kitchen testing are studied carefully so that any changes, if necessary, can be made before the microwave oven is placed on the market.

Among Eisele's engineering team are Carl Offutt, product engineer, and Dennis Burke, microwave design manager.

All three started their Whirlpool careers at Benton Harbor-St. Joseph — Eisele and Burke in the research and engineering center, Offutt in the laundry group laboratory.

Gene Lysaght, manager of lab services at the Marion division, explained that testing marked each step of the development of the microwave oven.

"Components used in the microwave oven are inspected to insure their quality and performance capabilities before being incorporated into a new unit. In fact, Whirlpool has invested nearly $200,000 in microwave oven inspection equipment used at Marion," Lysaght said.

He said rigorous testing helps create the most reliable units. And the test results are submitted to government agencies that monitor the industry.

The manufacturing line at Marion, designed specifically for the Whirlpool microwave, is one of the most modern in the industry, according to Burke. About 25 per cent of the assembly line workers are involved in some sort of inspection or testing.

Another important area in the manufacturing of the oven at Whirlpool is the ability to keep track of each oven after it has been sent from the factory. A system using computer cards will enable Whirlpool to know the exact location of any unit within its distribution system.

Ford Discusses Spending Plans

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Ford interrupted his post-election vacation for a conference with his budget director about fiscal 1978 spending plans.

In addition to meeting with Budget Director James Lynn, Ford spent Friday on the golf course and in the swimming pool.

Ford came to this resort community on Sunday, and the Lynn conference was his first major business meeting since his arrival.

Ford is required to submit the 1978 budget to Congress on Jan. 17, three days before the inauguration of Jimmy Carter.

Home Yard Fixin'

By JAMES E. NEIBAUER
Berrien Agricultural Agent
IT'S TIME TO

Dig and grind horseradish. Remember to use wine vinegar to prevent it from turning brown. Leave a few pencil-size pieces of root in the ground for future crops.

Divide old rhubarb clumps now or early in the spring. Just be sure to have a good bud on each division. The bud should be at ground level when planted.

Pick a spot to plant a living Christmas tree. Dig the hole for it and mulch the spot to keep the ground from freezing.

Protect plants near road that will be salted during the winter. Tack tar-backed burlap to stakes driven between the plants and the road. White pine is very susceptible to salt spray injury.

Soil test now in preparation for next year's gardening.

SOIL TEST

You may wish to have your garden soil test now to begin preparations for next year's gardening. If time is needed, it is best applied now so that it has time to work before crops are set out next year. Soil samples should be taken from four to five locations in the garden and mixed for a composite sample. Bring about 1 pint to the cooperative extension office in the courthouse, St. Joseph, for testing. The test costs $1. A recommendation for fertilizer will be made according to test results.

Manmade

NEW YORK (AP) — Now there's a product out for bathroom vanity tops and the like called "cultured marble."

It's cast from finely-pulverized natural stone combined with specially-formulated polyester resins. It's nonporous, chemically resistant and crack-resistant.

Some 'Improvements' Don't Hike Value

From SOUTHWESTERN MICHIGAN BOARD OF REALTORS

How will home improvements affect the value of your house when it comes time to sell? Fourteen Realtors, half of them members of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers (AIREA), addressed themselves to this and other questions regarding home improvements in a recent survey.

Because of the limited size of the survey, valid statistical data could not be gathered. However, the Realtors offered some valuable advice for home owners contemplating extensive home improvements.

Most agreed that it was possible to recoup 100 per cent of an investment in a home improvement at the time of the sale, even more in some instances. They pointed out, however, the likelihood of doing so is not very great. In fact, some of them warned, the wrong "improvement" could detract from the selling price.

to get carried away with home improvements unless they intended to hold onto their properties for the rest of their lives. She suggested that the most helpful home improvements are the kind that modernize the home and make it more functional.

Examples of wrong decisions abounded. Several Realtors recalled bedroom additions where the only access to the new room was through the bedroom to which it was attached.

One example of a poorly executed improvement was detailed by Betty Jane Boone, a Realtor from Daytona Beach, Fla.

Harvey Jeffers, a Realtor from Rochester, N.Y., noted that a modernized kitchen and a relocated lavatory added $9,600 to the value of one home he was familiar with.

Another pointed to an improperly located half-bath which detracted from the sale price. A poorly-constructed playroom was another example, as was a swimming pool crowded on a tiny lot.

The one so-called improvement that really hurt the sale of a property here was the use of vivid colors to redecorate walls and recarpeting done in the same poor taste. Most buyers want neutral colors even though they may change them when they are the owner. In my opinion, the wrong colors in this house caused the actual selling price to be at least $5,000 less than it would have been."

Other Realtors cautioned that it's important not to cost the house out of the price level of the neighborhood. Others mentioned that improvements should be compatible with the rest of the house.

Are home improvements worth it? In terms as an investment for future sale, perhaps not. For your own enjoyment, perhaps yes. But to save you dollars in the long run, it's a good idea to consult a professional before making a big investment in a major improvement.

State Crime Spree Ends With Arrests

ROGERS CITY, Mich. (AP) — Two Pontiac men have been charged with a slaying, three holdups and three savage beatings in a cross-state crime spree that ended with their arrest following a barroom robbery.

The pair, James E. Siebert and Darrel Jarvis, both 21, were charged with the slaying of Daniel Paff, 30, a Pontiac area resident. Paff's body was found Thursday night covered with dirt and underbrush in a wooded area in Presque Isle County's Oscqueoc Township.

Prosecutor Elmer L. Radka said Paff died from gunshot wounds sometime within the past two weeks. A tip led investigators to the body. Radka refused to say what linked Siebert and Jarvis to the slaying.

Hours before Paff's body was found, the two were arrested — along with two other men — following the holdup of the Elbow Inn, a bar in Montmorency County.

Sheriff's deputies said Siebert was captured by the bar-owner and several patrons as he and three other holdup men tried to flee the tavern with several hundred dollars.

The three other men were picked up at a roadblock five miles north of the bar. They were Jarvis, James Wilson, 34, of Millersburg, and Siebert's brother, Randy, 19. All four were arraigned Friday on armed robbery charges in Montmorency District Court in Atlanta.

Authorities also charged James Siebert and Jarvis with two other armed robberies in the past week.

Loretta Schepke and her 10-year-old son, Michael, still are hospitalized from savage beatings they received during a holdup Nov. 5 at their Halfway House grocery store and gas station in Millersburg in rural Presque Isle County. James Siebert and Jarvis were charged Friday with assault with intent to commit murder in that incident.

The two men also were charged with kidnapping and assault with intent to commit murder in a gas station holdup Monday in Lapeer County. A warrant issued by the Lapeer County Prosecutor says Siebert and Jarvis abducted the gas station attendant, beat him and dumped him from their car near Pontiac after the robbery.

Bell Ringer Of A Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Switchboards at newspapers all over the country lit up after a television skit, simulating a sports bulletin, announced that the Los Angeles Rams had made "the biggest trade in football history." The skit, part of a Thursday night show hosted by Dick Van Dyke, said the Rams had traded running backs Lawrence McCutcheon, Cullen Bryant, Jim Bertelsen, and quarterback James Harris and Ron Jaworski — all to Notre Dame in exchange for hunchback Quasimodo. Quasimodo was the mythical bell ringer at the Paris cathedral made famous by the Victor Hugo novel, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." Newspapers in Pittsburgh, Richmond, Va., Corpus Christi, Tex., and New Haven, Conn., were among those that reported getting calls about the deal.

Cleaning Up On Plates

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — "I just hope to God I know every foul word," says Mary Williams, who's in charge of keeping them off of Minnesota's new personalized license plates, Miss Williams, director of the state Motor Services Division, said that beginning Monday, motorists will be able to apply for special plates containing any combination of up to six numbers or letters. Personalized plates will cost an extra $30. She said her department has adopted a policy that the plates must not be "obscene, indecent or of an immoral nature or offensive to public morals or decency." She's even been reading foreign language books to acquaint herself with profanity of other tongues. "I think I am up on most of the American words, but someone could slip a foreign word over on me unless I finish reading these books," she said. "I really do have to play God on some of these."

New Coed: Lady Luck

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (AP) — Atlantic Community College says it may institute two new courses "to be in tune with the times" — card dealing and slot machine repair. New Jersey voters approved casino gambling for Atlantic City in the Nov. 2 election, and a college official says the school wants to cash in on the shore state's new business. Spokesman Sanford Miss said it may not be possible to offer a degree in casino gambling, but courses like security and loss prevention could be expanded to include casino security. Casino management is another possibility, he said. "We can't exclude any type of course which could help supply people for the jobs which will open up."

No Penny Pincher

NIAGARA FALLS, Canada (AP) — When Antionette Ignagni got a bill threatening to turn off her electricity unless she paid by Nov. 10, she went right to the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and plunked down the cash. "Mother didn't even know she owed the penny and can't understand how it happened," said her son. The one-cent billing from the Niagara Falls Hydro Commission was labeled final notice. "She paid it to be on the safe side," her son said.

Jimmy's New Toy

GLEN MILLS, Pa. (AP) — Some kids show off their new bicycles and others brag about their motorized minibikes. Five-year-old Jimmy Conway brings out his new Buick. Jimmy's parents, Thomas and Dorothy Conway of suburban Springfield, put the boy's name on a raffle ticket for a drawing at a local high school on Nov. 5, and the ticket won the compact car. The Conways haven't decided whether to keep the car — they already have two autos and a dune buggy — but "Jimmy tells everybody it's his automobile and we should keep it in the garage until he's old enough to drive it," Mrs. Conway said.

Today In MICHIGAN

Pursell's Lead Unchanged

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — Republican Carl D. Pursell's narrow lead in the 2nd Congressional District race remained unchanged as the Monroe County Board of Canvassers rechecked its totals and came up with the same count as last week. The original figures for all three counties in the district showed State Sen. Pursell hanging onto a 347 vote lead over Democratic challenger Edward A. Pierce of Ann Arbor. Monroe County, first of the three counties in the district to report its vote canvass, said Friday a recheck came up with the same totals as on election night. Pierce led, 21,719 to 16,864. Wayne and Washtenaw county portions of the district will complete their canvass Monday or Tuesday.

Trooper Promotions Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Court of Appeals has upheld the 1971 promotions of some 90 Michigan State Police shift supervisors which were challenged by supervisors who were not promoted. The court said the elevation of some supervisors from classified level 10 to level 11 was not arbitrary nor capricious and was made on the basis of "substantial evidence." The desk sergeants were promoted to higher-paying levels because they worked at larger State Police posts. Before 1971, all shift supervisors were at the same level.

License Tabs Going On Sale

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan license plate stickers for passenger cars and motorcycles go on sale throughout the state Monday. Motorists can get their 1977 stickers by mailing payment and forms already sent to most vehicle owners or buy the stickers at branch Secretary of State offices. The stickers should be affixed to the upper right hand corner of the 1976 Bicentennial license plates. Secretary of State Richard Austin said the use of the stickers instead of new license plates will save about $3.2 million.

However, within hours of the announcement, a key congressional critic questioned the Army's selection of a contractor and design for the new tank.

Rep. Sam Stratton, D-N.Y., said he wants hearings held to get more details on the Chrysler proposal that the Army accepted.

"Whether it's any better or not, I think the Army is going to have to prove," said Stratton, who headed a House Armed Services subcommittee that monitored the Army's tank development program.

WATERVLIET

School Locker Fire Is Probed

WATERVLIET — About 300 students at the Watervliet middle school were evacuated from the building after fire broke out in a second floor locker late yesterday morning, Watervliet police reported.

No one was injured and fire damage was confined to the locker. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined and a state fire marshal from the state police post at Paw Paw was expected to investigate Monday, according to Victor Bianchi, assistant Watervliet police chief.

Monte Anderson, school principal, said the fire was discovered about 11:30 a.m. while students were preparing to take a lunch break. He said evacuation of people from the building went smoothly.

The fire was extinguished by members of the school staff and Watervliet firefighters cleared smoke from the building. While the smoke was being cleared, students were entertained in the school gymnasium. Smoke damage to the school was reported to be "very minor" by Anderson.

He'll Run Again

CINCINNATI (AP) — Voted out of office last week after 16 years, U.S. Rep. Donald Clancy, R-Ohio, said he plans to run for Ohio's Second District again in 1978.

Two Are Injured In Traffic Pileups

Two people received apparently minor injuries Friday in two traffic accidents, each involving three vehicles, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies and Benton township police.

Deputies said a three-vehicle pileup occurred about 4:32 p.m. on M-140 at Territorial road, Bainbridge township.

Deputies said an auto driven by Edwin L. Brink, 56, of 283 Fisk road, St. Joseph township, skidded through a slippery intersection while westbound on Territorial. The auto struck a trailer pulled by an auto driven by Rosemary Mangold, 54, of

BURNED LOCKER

Niles, deputies said. Deputies said the impact propelled the trailer into a pickup driven by William A. Kunst, 40, 7240 Naomi road, Eau Claire. The Kunst truck and the Brink auto then collided, it was reported. Deputies said Kunst was injured, but not hospitalized. He was reported southbound on M-140, while the Mangold vehicle was reported northbound on M-140. No summonses were issued, deputies indicated.

Benton township police at 11 p.m. Friday, investigated a three-car rear-end type collision on M-139, just north of East Napier avenue.

Reported injured but not hospitalized was Beverly Landlag, 41, Pacifica, Calif., a passenger in an auto driven by Meafue Landlag, 43, also of Pacifica. Police said Landlag was stopped behind another auto, driven by Sidney M. Cook, 20, 1231 Ogden, Benton Harbor, who was preparing to turn into a driveway. Police said the Landlag auto was struck from behind by an auto driven by Thomas A. Decker, 18, 4319 East Empire, Benton township. The impact pushed the Landlag auto into the Cook vehicle, police said. Decker was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance, police said.

Civil War Shell Found In Home

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Renovation workers have found a Union navy artillery shell, still fused and containing live black powder, in the basement of a pre-Civil War home.

Army ordnance experts packed the shell in sand and moved it to Fort Polk, La., Friday, where it will be soaked in oil to keep it from exploding. The experts identified it as a shell made in 1861. They said it is 11 inches in diameter and weighs 135.5 pounds.

Natchez surrendered with little incident on May 12, 1862, to Union Admiral David S. Farragut as his gunboats cruised upriver from New Orleans. The home is about four miles from the river.

Pursell's Lead Unchanged

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — Republican Carl D. Pursell's narrow lead in the 2nd Congressional District race remained unchanged as the Monroe County Board of Canvassers rechecked its totals and came up with the same count as last week. The original figures for all three counties in the district showed State Sen. Pursell hanging onto a 347 vote lead over Democratic challenger Edward A. Pierce of Ann Arbor. Monroe County, first of the three counties in the district to report its vote canvass, said Friday a recheck came up with the same totals as on election night. Pierce led, 21,719 to 16,864. Wayne and Washtenaw county portions of the district will complete their canvass Monday or Tuesday.

Trooper Promotions Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Court of Appeals has upheld the 1971 promotions of some 50 Michigan State Police shift supervisors which were challenged by supervisors who were not promoted. The court said the elevation of some supervisors from classified level 10 to level 11 was not arbitrary nor capricious and was made on the basis of "substantial evidence." The desk sergeants were promoted to higher-paying levels because they worked at larger State Police posts. Before 1971, all shift supervisors were at the same level.

License Tabs Going On Sale

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan license plate stickers for passenger cars and motorcycles go on sale throughout the state Monday. Motorists can get their 1977 stickers by mailing payment and forms already sent to most vehicle owners or buy the stickers at branch Secretary of State offices. The stickers should be affixed to the upper right hand corner of the 1976 Bicentennial license plates. Secretary of State Richard Austin said the use of the stickers instead of new license plates will save about $3.2 million.

However, within hours of the announcement, a key congressional critic questioned the Army's selection of a contractor and design for the new tank.

Rep. Sam Stratton, D-N.Y., said he wants hearings held to get more details on the Chrysler proposal that the Army accepted.

"Whether it's any better or not, I think the Army is going to have to prove," said Stratton, who headed a House Armed Services subcommittee that monitored the Army's tank development program.

WATERVLIET

School Locker Fire Is Probed

WATERVLIET — About 400 students at the Watervliet middle school were evacuated from the building after fire broke out in a second floor locker late yesterday morning, Watervliet police reported.

No one was injured and fire damage was confined to the locker. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined and a state fire marshal from the state police post at Paw Paw was expected to investigate Monday, according to Victor Bianchi, assistant Watervliet police chief.

Monte Anderson, school principal, said the fire was discovered about 11:30 a.m. while students were preparing to take a lunch break. He said evacuation of people from the building went smoothly.

The fire was extinguished by members of the school staff and Watervliet firefighters cleared smoke from the building. While the smoke was being cleared, students were entertained in the school gymnasium. Smoke damage to the school was reported to be "very minor" by Anderson.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Voted out of office last week after 16 years, U.S. Rep. Donald Clancy, R-Ohio, said he plans to run for Ohio's Second District again in 1978.

He lost his congressional post to former Cincinnati Mayor Tom Luken by 4,600 votes.

Two Are Injured In Traffic Pileups

Two people received apparently minor injuries Friday in two traffic accidents, each involving three vehicles, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies and Benton township police.

Deputies said a three-vehicle pileup occurred about 4:52 p.m. on M-140 at Territorial road, Bainbridge township.

Deputies said an auto driven by Edwin L. Brink, 56, of 288 Fisk road, St. Joseph township, skidded through a slippery intersection while westbound on Territorial. The auto struck a trailer pulled by an auto driven by Rosemary Mangold, 54, of Niles, deputies said. Deputies said the impact propelled the trailer into a pickup driven by William A. Kunst, 40, 7240 Naomi road, Eau Claire. The Kunst truck and the Brink auto then collided, it was reported. Deputies said Kunst was injured, but not hospitalized. He was reported southbound on M-140, while the Mangold vehicle was reported northbound on M-140. No summonses were issued, deputies indicated.

Benton township police at 11 p.m. Friday, investigated a three-car rear-end type collision on M-139, just north of East Napier avenue. Reported injured but not hospitalized was Beverly Laolagi, 41, Pacifica, Calif., a passenger in an auto driven by Meafeu Laolagi, 43, also of Pacifica. Police said Laolagi was stopped behind another auto, driven by Sidney M. Cook, 20, 1231 Ogden, Benton Harbor, who was preparing to turn into a driveway. Police said the Laolagi auto was struck from behind by an auto driven by Thomas A. Decker, 18, 6310 East Empire, Benton township. The impact pushed the Laolagi auto into the Cook vehicle, police said. Decker was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance, police said.

Civil War Shell Found In Home

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Renovation workers have found a Union navy artillery shell, still fused and containing live black powder, in the basement of a pre-Civil War home.

Army ordnance experts packed the shell in sand and moved it to Fort Polk, La., Friday, where it will be soaked in oil to keep it from exploding. The experts identified it from markings on the fuse as a shell made in 1861. They said it is 11 inches in diameter and weighs 135.5 pounds.

Natchez surrendered with little incident on May 12, 1862, to Union Admiral David S. Farragut as his gunboats cruised upriver from New Orleans. The home is about four miles from the river.

'Higher Standing' With God Reason For Death Wish?

By BOBBE DABLING
Associated Press Writer
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Mark Gilmore, whose first brush with the law was for breaking windows at age 14, says he believes God will give him "higher standing" because he refuses to fight a death sentence for murder.

Gilmore, 35, has protested delays in his sentence to die before a firing squad for killing

NICHOLE BARRETT
Prison made him 'bitter'

a motel clerk during a robbery. The state Board of Pardons will consider his case on Wednesday.

Lt. E.S. Fagan, maximum security supervisor at the Utah State Prison, said that Gilmore thinks he will "be leaving" soon.

"He has said to me, 'I believe if I go through with this and pay for what I did, my God will see I have a higher standing. He will give me a higher standing for this because I was not fighting for appeals and languishing in jail when I did it,'" Fagan said.

Gilmore was raised as a Catholic by his father, who died 14 years ago, and was taught Mormon beliefs by his mother.

She said in a recent interview that her son changed greatly during the 1½ years he spent in an Oregon reformatory after he was caught breaking windows. According to his mother, who is bed-ridden with arthritis in Portland, Ore., Gilmore seemed more belligerent after his release.

Since then, Gilmore has spent more than 16 years in penal institutions, including time for assault and robbery. He was sent to a federal penitentiary in Illinois for 1½ years because he escaped twice from work-and-school-release programs.

His girlfriend, Nichole Barrett, described him in an interview with local television station KSL-TV as a "beautiful person" whose prison made "bitter and ugly inside."

A different assessment comes from Bob Watson, director of corrections in Oregon, who said Gilmore "gave us trouble from the very beginning."

"He was sort of a loner and hard to get along with. He was disruptive, but not as part of any group."

Gilmore was paroled from Illinois to Utah last April with the provision that his relatives help him. His mother was rearrested in the Provo area of Utah.

Gilmore's uncle by marriage, Vern Damico of Provo, said the relatives tried.

"And I thought he was going to make it until he met the girl. Then it went to hell. That's what did it as far as I'm concerned. And I think that's his opinion, too. I don't know," Damico said.

Mrs. Barrett agreed that her leaving Gilmore to return to a former husband played a role in his being charged with murder. Both Damico and Mrs. Barrett said drinking also may have been partly responsible. Gilmore has ordered a six-pack of beer as his last meal before execution.

Mrs. Barrett visits Gilmore at the Utah State Prison daily, and said she still loves him.

Gilmore Could Die By Thanksgiving

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Mark Gilmore could face a firing squad by Thanksgiving if the Utah Board of Pardons upholds his death sentence next week; the state attorney general-elect says.

The board is scheduled to consider at its regular hearing Wednesday the case of the 35-year-old convicted killer, who says he prefers death to prison. The board's chairman has said a decision is likely the same day.

Robert B. Hansen, who becomes attorney general next year, said in a telephone interview Friday that a law requiring a 30-day lapse after sentencing probably would not apply to a rescheduling. Gilmore's original execution date of Monday was canceled by Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, who said he wanted the board to decide whether capital punishment was "appropriate."

Hansen, now deputy attorney general, said he believed that if the board upheld the death penalty, Gilmore's trial judge could order execution "soon, maybe not sooner than seven days."

Historian Finds Revolution Key

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer
SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An historian says he's found a missing link in the history of the American Revolution — in an old trunk belonging to an 84-year-old woman who just happened to mention it.

Gregory Shaaf said documents he discovered could help explain for the first time why the American Indians sided with the colonies rather than with England during the Revolutionary War.

The find includes letters from George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and John Hancock and a missing block of pages from the journal of Col. George Morgan, the colonies' Indian affairs agent during the War. Shaaf said in an interview Friday.

Shaaf, author of "Ten Thousand Years of Santa Barbara History," said he learned about the trunk during an afternoon chat with Susanna B. Morgan — a descendant of Col. Morgan.

"We were sitting in her home visiting," Shaaf said, "and all of a sudden she says, 'Oh, by the way, I happened to find a trunk the other day I hadn't seen in a long time.'"

"And then she lays in my lap over a hundred pages of 18th century documents, including 73 pages that had been missing from Col. Morgan's journal — from April to May 1776."

At some point in those two months, Shaaf said, the colonies formed a significant, if shaky, bond of friendship with the major Indian tribes, a bond that may have saved the states from obliteration in the ensuing war.

According to the journal, one of Morgan's men infiltrated a meeting between the British and the Indians and even acted as an interpreter during the conference, Shaaf said. When Morgan told Washington and Hancock that the British were offering huge bounties for American scalps, he was ordered to sway the Indians into neutrality.

"They realized that if 10,000 western Indians joined the British redcoats, attacking from the west as the British regulars attacked from the east, there was a high probability that we would not have been able to withstand such an attack," Shaaf said.

So Morgan and his men traveled through the back country and woods, visiting and apparently winning the trust of the Shawnee, Delaware and Seneca nations. Two peace conferences were arranged as a result of Morgan's efforts, Shaaf said, and Indian neutrality during the war was assured.

Bloomington's Bodtke Captures Area Scoring Title

BLOOMINGDALE — Bloomington's little Larry Bodtke is standing tall today. The 5-9, 165-pound senior halfback wrapped up the southwestern Michigan scoring championship (96 points) here Friday night while leading the Cardinals to a 30-8 non-league victory over Eau Claire.

Bodtke scored 22 points while rushing for 213 yards in 23 carries in the season finale. He had touchdown runs of 18, 15 and 12 yards while becoming Bloomington's first area scoring champion since Gerald Krueger won the title with 108 points back in 1965. "He has done a great job," declared Bloomington offensive coordinator Bill Weese. "He is quick and he follows his blockers. He was our dive man in the veer, and his big play was off tackle."

The three-year varsity player, who played fullback last season, finished the current campaign with 1,251 yards rushing while averaging more than eight yards per carry. Bloomington finished with 428 yards in total offense Friday night while picking up its fourth straight win. The victory also left the Cardinals with a final 5-3-1 record, the school's first winning season since 1971.

Eau Claire closed with a five-game losing streak and a 1-5 record...the Beavers' first losing season since 1970. Eau Claire opened the scoring Friday night on a seven-yard touchdown run by Monroe Wright, but Bloomington had tied the score at 8-8 at the end of the first period on Bodtke's first touchdown.

Two lost Eau Claire fumbles led to two second quarter Bloomington touchdowns and 22-8 halftime Cardinal lead. Phil Douglas got the first one on a one-yard QB sneak and Bodtke the second on a 15-yard run.

Bodtke then got the game's last touchdown in the third quarter on a 12-yard run. Bloomington also had a touchdown in the second quarter. Gene Allen ran a blocked punt in for a touchdown, but it was called back by the officials. The officials checked the rule book at halftime and admitted they had made a mistake, according to Weese. Bloomington blocked three punts overall, with Allen, Kevin Wilkinson and Bob Pearson getting credit for the blocks. Pearson and Mike Stone had pass interceptions, while Pearson, Roddy Rawson and Steve Stasak had fumble recoveries. The leading Cardinal tacklers, were Rawson and Pearson with 12 apiece.

On offense, Allen also finished with 89 yards rushing in 13 carries.

Linebacker Joe Simaz was the leading Eau Claire tackler with 22 Tackle Mike Bailey added 15 and safety Jeff Harner added 11.

Bloomington 30 Eau Claire 8

1st — Wright 7 run (12-yard run)

2nd — Bodtke 18 run (Bodtke run)

3rd — Douglas 1 run (Allen run)

4th — Bodtke 15 run (Bodtke run)

5th — Bodtke 12 run (Bodtke run)

Defense Paces Comet Victory

Watervliet Whipped, 22-8

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer
COLOMA — Coloma survived some early blows to win its annual dogfight with Watervliet here Friday night.

The Comets, who got off to a wobbly start, hit for a quick one-two punch early in the last period to come from behind and register a 22-8 victory over the outmanned Panthers on snow-splashed McDaniel's Field.

The running of Tom Vandervort and the passing of Dan Davis were the key ingredients on offense for the Comets while the Coloma defenders were stopping the Panthers "cold."

Watervliet, which entered the game as the third best offensive club in the area, was held to a meager 73 yards net offense.

"I think the last four weeks we've had the toughest front on defense in the area," told Coloma coach Bob Irvin. "I think we proved we have the finest front tonight." Irvin lauded the line play of Dennis Oette, Dan Kolenko, Phil Iannelli, Mark Schrieber and Tony Greco and the linebacking of Bo and Woody would have loved Coloma's game-winning drive, which took up most of the third period. The march went 85 yards in 17 plays, all coming on the ground.

Vandervort, who piled up 59 yards in the drive on 14 totes, went the final yard on the first play of the last quarter to give the Comets a 12-8 lead. Davis then hit Bruce Dings for the two-point conversion.

Coloma then put the finishing touches on their "neighbor" only 1:08 later. Soderberg recovered a Watervliet fumble at the Panther 21. On the next play Davis couldn't find an open receiver, so he alertly pranced around left end into the end zone. Davis connected with Kolenko for the PAT pass.

Davis, only a junior, tossed the ball for 104 yards, all to end Rich Scherer in the first half. Vandervort picked up 93 yards in 29 carries to crack the 1,000 mark, ending the season with 1,060.

"Davis was unreal tonight," praised Irvin. "He passed and ran and really did a great job of running the club as the field general. And he'll be back next year. And Vandervort had another excellent game, too."

"But I really have to give a lot of credit to our offensive line. They dominated the third quarter and really blew Watervliet out during that long drive."

Watervliet, plagued by injuries, simply ran out of steam in the last half under the Comet onslaught.

"They just beat us up in the second half," noted Watervliet coach Jerry Barchett. "Our kids played well...but there wasn't anything we could do to stop them."

"That 85-yard drive was the game. We couldn't stop them and that hasn't happened to us all year. They took the ball and shoved it down our throats."

"I'm not crying the blues, but the facts are we had three more people hurt out there tonight. We ended the game only playing four seniors. I think we did a good job with what we had."

The Comets couldn't do much right the first 15 minutes of the game as they fumbled a punt return, had a punt blocked and then lost a "sure" six points when Vandervort fumbled the ball into the end zone from the Watervliet one with Mark Bolin recovering for a touchback.

Tom Hutchinson, who was limited to 46 yards in 16 carries, tallied the lone Panther touchdown on a two-yard jump at 11:42 of the second period. Hutchinson ran the PAT. Hutchinson's block of a Coloma punt set up the 24-yard drive.

Davis, who earlier had teamed up with Scherer on a picture-perfect 58-yard aerial, hit his favorite target again on a 25-yarder to pave the way for the first Coloma score. Vandervort chewed up the final 15 yards for the touchdown at 4:06 of the second quarter.

The Comets finished the season strong with three straight wins for a 5-4 final record and their third consecutive winning campaign under Irvin. This marks the first time Coloma has had three straight winning years since 1952-54-55.

Watervliet also ends at 5-4 and its 11th consecutive winning season under Barchett.

With the win Coloma ups its advantage in the rivalry to 31-17-3. The 22 points by the Comets are the most they have scored in the series since 1967.

COMSTOCK — South Haven put its offensive machine in high gear here Friday night to clinch a share of the Wolverine conference football championship.

The Rams chewed up 492 yards net offense as they blitzed Comstock 55-14 to end in first place in the conference with Plainwell, both with 7-1 marks. Vicksburg, which also had a chance to share the crown, was upset Friday and had to settle for third place.

Sophomore whiz Shelby Gamble again put on a dazzling performance as he scored twice on jaunts of 66 and 59 yards and finished with 252 yards in

St. Joe Loses Season Finale 16-14 Union's Barnes Breaks Bears

Grand Rapids Union's Larry Barnes was "Bad News" for St. Joseph Friday night at Dickinson Stadium. The senior fullback rushed for 142 yards, two touchdowns and a two-point PAT as the Red Hawks nipped the Bears 16-14 in a non-league football season finale.

"They took (tailback Dan) Hornburger away outside, so we went inside," declared Union coach Jake Ciccone. "We ran our fullback off tackle, and he did a good job."

Barnes was the big threat a year ago in Union's undefeated campaign at 100 yards or more but was limited to just 57 yards by the Bears.

Extra points and a nullified touchdown pass added up to defeat for St. Joseph, which finished the campaign at 6-3.

Union ran for both of its extra points, while St. Joe went with the deadly one-point kicks of Frank Bock (the hasn't missed since the season opener).

St. Joe scored first and last, so the PATs weren't crucial at the time. But the touchdown pass which was called back late in the second quarter was costly. Flanker Keene Taylor caught a 42-yard TD aerial from quarterback Steve Ziebart, but the play was called back by a holding penalty.

"We had a couple of crucial penalties at tough times," St. Joe coach Ike Muhlenkamp later recalled.

The Ziebart-Taylor passing combination was the main St. Joseph offensive threat. They combined on five pass plays for 94 yards, including a 13-yard TD toss with only 1:21 left to play.

St. Joe's other touchdown came in the first quarter on a two-yard run by tailback Dale Ruple.

St. Joseph dominated the first half while posting a 7-0 lead, but Union was in command the second half while holding the Bears without a first down rushing.

"They played a vicious defense the second half," added Muhlenkamp. "We couldn't move the ball at all."

Union, which finished at 3-4-1 after losing its first four games, took the second half kick off and promptly marched for the TD and PAT which put the Hawks ahead for good. The big garner in the drive was an 11-yard run by Hornburger.

A pass interception set up Union's other TD late in the last quarter. The Hawks took over on the St. Joe 32 and scored in six plays, with an 11-yard run by Barnes the biggest garner.

St. Joe came right back for its last TD, going 65 yards in just 73 seconds. After three incompletions, Ziebart and Taylor teamed up for a 37-yard garner. Then after a 15-yard personal foul against Union, Ziebart hit Taylor in the end zone for the touchdown.

Union had four turnovers, compared to St. Joe's one, but the Bears couldn't convert their opportunities. Kurt Fechner and Bock had interceptions for St. Joe while Steve Eckert and Dan Rippa came up with fumble recoveries.

MARCELLUS — Marcellus finished its regular season with a 9-0 mark with a 14-9 win over Mattawan here Friday night.

The win apparently assured the Wildcats of a berth next week in the state playoffs. Marcellus likely will play Flint Holy Rosary at DeWitt next Saturday in the Class D semifinals of the state tournament.

Ross Mason scored the winning touchdown on a four-yard run with 8:39 left in the game. Louie Lewis scored the first Marcellus TD on an eight-yard punt with Mason running in the PAT. Lewis sprained an ankle in the second quarter and didn't play the rest of the game. He had 47 yards in four carries.

Bloomington's Bodtke Captures Area Scoring Title

BLOOMINGDALE — Bloomington's little Larry Bodtke is standing tall today. The 5-9, 165-pound senior halfback wrapped up the southwestern Michigan scoring championship (96 points) here Friday night while leading the Cardinals to a 30-8 non-league victory over Eau Claire.

Bodtke scored 22 points while rushing for 213 yards in 23 carries in the season finale. He had touchdown runs of 18, 15 and 12 yards while becoming Bloomington's first area scoring champion since Gerald Krueger won the title with 109 points back in 1965.

"He has done a great job," declared Bloomington offensive coordinator Bill Weese. "He is quick and he follows his blockers. He was our dive man in the veer, and his big play was off tackle."

The three-year varsity player, who played fullback last season, finished the current campaign with 1,254

Bloomington finished with 428 yards in total offense Friday night while picking up its fourth straight win. The victory also left the Cardinals with a final 5-3-1 record, the school's first winning season since 1971.

Eau Claire closed with a five-game losing streak and a 1-8 record...the Beavers' first losing season since 1970.

Eau Claire opened the scoring Friday night on a seven-yard touchdown run by Monroe Wright, but Bloomington had tied the score at 8-8 at the end of the first period on Bodtke's first touchdown.

Two lost Eau Claire fumbles led to two second quarter Bloomington touchdowns and 22-8 halftime Cardinal lead. Phil Douglas got the first one on a one-yard QB sneak and Bodtke the second on a 15-yard run.

Bodtke then got the game's last touchdown in the third quarter on a 12-yard run.

Bloomington also lost a touchdown in the second quarter. Gene Allen ran a blocked punt in for a touchdown, but it was called back by the officials. The officials checked the rule book at half-time and admitted they had made a mistake, according to Weese.

Bloomington blocked three punts overall, with Allen, Kevin Wilkinson and Bob Pearson getting credit for the blocks. Pearson and Mike Stone had pass interceptions, while Pearson, Roddy Rawson and Steve Stasak had fumble recoveries.

The leading Cardinal tacklers, were Rawson and Pearson with 12 apiece.

On offense, Allen also finished with 89 yards rushing in 13 carries.

COLOMA — Coloma survived some early blows to win its annual dogfight with Watervliet here Friday night.

The Comets, who got off to a wobbly start, hit for a quick one-two punch early in the last period to come from behind and register a 22-8 victory over the outmanned Panthers on snow-splashed McDaniels Field.

The running of Tom Vandervort and the passing of Dan Davis were the key ingredients on offense for the Comets while the Coloma defenders were stopping the Panthers "cold."

Watervliet, which entered the game as the third best offensive club in the area, was held to a meager 73 yards net offense.

"I think the last four weeks we've had the toughest front on defense in the area," told Coloma coach Bob Irvin. "I think we proved we have the

Shamrock Season Is Best Since '55

Tough Mustangs Nipped 12-6

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs closed out one of its most successful years in history Friday night, nipping River Valley 12-6 in a non-league football game here.

The win gave the Shamrocks a final 8-1 record, the best mark at Berrien since 1955. The eight wins is also a season record.

"We're pleased with the fact that we won as many games as any Berrien team has ever won," first-year Shamrock coach Dick Bartz said. "But we're disappointed in our performance in this one. We had fumbles at the wrong time and had penalties that really hurt us.

"They played solid football and didn't give us anything. But it was tough for us to get up for the game because they were coming off a 68-0 loss. I have to give them a lot of credit."

Berrien Springs, which won the Red Arrow title last week, rallied twice in the second quarter and made the 12 points stand up. The Shamrocks lost fullback Roger Johnson (shoulder) and end Jack Lewis (sprained knee) with injuries in the second quarter, but still held on for the win.

Quarterback Tim Sunday got Berrien on the scoreboard with a 13-yard run early in the second period. Sunday passed to Lewis for a 29-yard scoring strike later in the quarter, giving the Shamrocks a 12-0 half-time lead. Both touchdowns were set up by River Valley turnovers.

River Valley tried in vain to pull the game out in the final quarter but came up just short. The Mustangs scored on a three-yard run by quarterback Mike Peterok midway through the final period, trimming the deficit to 12-6.

Defensive ends Jim Hildebrandt and Tim Poor were standouts for the Mustangs, who held Berrien to its second worst offensive game of the year (185 total yards). Hildebrandt collected 17 tackles and Poor came through with four quarterback sacks.

Bobcats Swamp Lakers; Scoring Records Broken

By PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

NILES — Lake Michigan Catholic head coach Terry Rose would just as soon forget the first half of Friday night's game here against Brandywine.

The Lakers played the Bobcats even up in the last half, but Brandywine parlayed a 46-16 halftime lead into a 59-30 football victory over the Lakers here in a non-league game.

There were three new records set in the contest. For Brandywine, which ends the season at 7-2, the 59 points broke the old school record of 49 set against the Lakers in 1971. It also was the most points scored by a visiting team.

Statistics

combined points (89) involving a Blossomland team. The old mark was 88 set in 1967 when Buchanan downed Coloma 61-27.

The 59 points is also the most ever scored on a Lake Michigan team in the eight-year history of the school.

Brandywine was just a phenomenal football team in the first half. The Bobcats notched 11 first downs, gained 288 yards rushing and scored six touchdowns.

Gus Mayo led the rushing charge, gaining 195 of the Bobcats' 436 rushing yards in 12 carries. Of his 195 yards, 184 of them came in the first half.

Tony Harris added 125 yards on 11 carries and scored 28 points, and Scott Adams ran for 70 yards on 10 carries.

Gary Bartalone, the area's leading ground gainer, closed out his career at Catholic by setting a new school rushing record. He gained 106 yards on 22 carries Friday. It gave him 1,344 yards on 196 carries for the year — a 6.9 yards-per-carry average. The old record was 1,333 set by Mickey Ashbrook last season.

"We didn't do anything different in the second half," commented Rose. "But we were just a sieve in the first half. We threw and ran like we were supposed to in the last half."

Mike Masini gave warning to what could happen next season. The junior field general had his best day passing for Catholic, hitting 11 of 25 passes for 157 yards and one touchdown. He was intercepted twice by Harris. Scott Henderson caught six of Masini's airdrops for 98 yards.

The only thing which marred the action was the 198 yards in penalties assessed in the game. Brandywine was whistled for 11 penalties totalling 108 yards and Catholic saw nine flags thrown against it for 90 yards.

Harris scored on a six-yard run and Mayo on a 53-yard gallop down the right sideline for the Bobcats in the first quarter. Bill Couvelis countered them with a 11-yard dash off the left side for a score.

It was the second quarter which spelled doom for the Lakers, who end the season at 5-4. Mayo scored on a 67-yard run, Harris notched touchdowns on runs of 48 and two yards and Adams scored on a one-yard dash.

The only Lakers' score came on a 14-yard run by Bartalone with 5:13 to go in the half.

In the third quarter, Catholic scored on a five-yard jump by Bartalone and a 12-yard pass from Masini to Jack Visin, his first of the year.

The Bobcats got scores from Harris on a 47-yard run and from Joe McCombs on a two-yard burst in the third quarter.

"I'm real proud of the kids in the second half," said Rose. "They never gave up. They went out and played the last half like it was 0-0."

Rose was pleased with the defensive play of Clancy Rose, Henderson, Bartalone and Jim Lhooka in the last half.

"This is a great group of seniors," said a happy Pete McCauley, coach of Brandywine, after the game. "They have done a great job and it's nice to finish with a win."

McCauley is not stranger to Catholic. He graduated from St. Joe Catholic, and two brothers, David and Frank, teach at Lake Michigan.

Fearsome Foursome Lifts Bucks Past Paw Paw

BUCHANAN — Buchanan came up with a fearsome foursome while downing Paw Paw 24-14 in a non-league football season finale here Friday night. The Bucks limited the Redskins to in 12 carries, including a 12-yard touchdown run, as Buchanan finished up at 3-6. Paw Paw wrapped up its season at 2-7.

Buchanan jumped off to an 8-0 lead with a time consuming drive after the opening kick off. The Bucks marched 61 yards in 15 plays, with junior tailback Jim Longier getting the TD on a five-yard run with 4:40 left in the period. Paw Paw then made it 8-6 by converting a lost Buchanan touchdown into a quick touchdown at the 9:22 point of the second quarter.

Longier fumbled a punt, with Ray Gipson recovering on the Buck three. Gipson scored two plays later on a one-yard run. Buchanan went up 16-6 at halftime on a three-yard run by senior tailback Jeff Haman with 3:56 left in the second period. The scoring drive covered 33 yards in six plays after a Paw Paw fumble was recovered by Longier. Paw Paw narrowed the count to 16-14 midway through the third quarter, with Steve Bare scoring a touchdown on a one-yard run. The drive covered 62 yards in four plays and included a 36-yard run by Gipson.

Buchanan ended the game's scoring with 45 seconds left in the third quarter on Cooper's 12-yard run. The march covered 28 yards in six plays after a fumble recovery by Scott Smith. Haman ended up as the game's second leading rusher with 51 yards in 12 totes.

Decatur Defense Dented

WHITE PIGEON — Rick Strawser scored a pair of touchdowns here Friday night

The loss dropped the Raiders to a final 5-4 record, worst at Decatur since 1968.

Decatur, which entered the game with southwestern Michigan's ninth best defense, was unable to stop the hosts. White Pigeon rolled up 438 yards in total offense, 432 coming on the ground.

White Pigeon boasted three 100-yard rushers in the game, headed by Tony who gained 118 in seven carries. John Bug added 117 yards in 12 carries and Strawser chipped in 80 yards.

Strawser scored the only touchdown White Pigeon needed in the first quarter on a one-yard run. He later added a three-yard run in the second period.

Chubnetes crossed the goal line on a 48-yard scamper in the second quarter and Bug scored from six yards out.

Jeff Baechler collected the other White Pigeon TD on a three-yard run in the third quarter.

Centreville Runs Past Gaels

CENTREVILLE — Galien was hurt by the big plays as it dropped its eighth game of the year, bowing to Centreville 30-14 here in high school football Friday night.

Denny Williams got the Gaels, who end the season at 1-8, off to a good start when he rambled four yards for a touchdown in the first quarter, capping a long drive.

But Galien's offense had trouble and couldn't score again until the fourth quarter when Jerry Woodrick hit Eric Germinier with a 10-yard scoring pass. Woodrick then connected with Mike Huffman for the conversion points.

Williams was the leading ball carrier, according to assistant coach Denny Miller. In all, the Gaels amassed 158 yards on the ground and 130 through the air.

Centreville gained the upper hand in the rushing department, getting 261 yards on the ground.

Stinger Eyes Hockey Talk

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Stingers Executive Vice President William O. DeWitt Jr. said he is trying to arrange a meeting between the owners of the World Hockey Association and the National Hockey League to discuss a working agreement.

DeWitt attended a Monday meeting in Toronto with New England Whalers general partner Howard Baldwin and Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players Association.

DeWitt said, "I'm not concerned about the WHA in terms of it being a viable league. I am concerned about fan reaction to teams moving and teams folding."

The problems, DeWitt said, include smaller crowds, higher player salaries and operating costs and subsequent loss of revenue.

In the third quarter, Catholic scored on a five-yard jaunt by Bartalone and a 12-yard pass from Masini to Jack Visin, his first of the year.

The Bobcats got scores from Harris on a 47-yard run and from Joe McCombs on a two-yard burst in the third quarter.

"I'm real proud of the kids in the second half," said Rose. "They never gave up. They went out and played the last half like it was 0-0."

The Bucks marched 61 yards in 15 plays, with junior tailback Jim Longier getting the TD on a five-yard run with 4:40 left in the period. Paw Paw then made it 8-6 by converting a lost Buchanan touchdown into a quick touchdown at the 9:22 point of the second quarter.

Longier fumbled a punt, with Ray Gipson recovering on the Buck three. Gipson scored two plays later on a one-yard run. Buchanan went up 16-6 at halftime on a three-yard run by senior tailback Jeff Haman with 3:56 left in the second period. The scoring drive covered 33 yards in six plays after a Paw Paw fumble was recovered by Longier. Paw Paw narrowed the count to 16-14 midway through the third quarter, with Steve Bare scoring a touchdown on a one-yard run. The drive covered 62 yards in four plays and included a 36-yard run by Gipson.

Buchanan ended the game's scoring with 45 seconds left in the third quarter on Cooper's 12-yard run. The march covered 28 yards in six plays after a fumble recovery by Scott Smith. Haman ended up as the game's second leading rusher with 51 yards in 12 totes.

White Pigeon boasted three 100-yard rushers in the game, headed by Tony who gained 118 in seven carries. John Bug added 117 yards in 12 carries and Strawser chipped in 109 yards.

Strawser scored the only touchdown White Pigeon needed

in the first quarter on a one-yard run. He later added a three-yard run in the second period.

Centreville Runs Past Gaels

CENTREVILLE — Galien was hurt by the big plays as it dropped its eighth game of the year, bowing to Centreville 30-14 here in high school football Friday night.

Denny Williams got the Gaels, who end the season at 1-8, off to a good start when he rambled four yards for a touchdown in the first quarter, capping a long drive.

But Galien's offense had trouble and couldn't score again until the fourth quarter when Jerry Woodrick hit Eric Ger-minder with a 10-yard scoring pass. Woodrick then connected with Mike Huffman for the conversion points.

Williams was the leading ball carrier, according to assistant coach Denny Miller. In all, the Gaels amassed 158 yards on the ground and 130 through the air. Centreville gained the upper hand in the rushing department, getting 261 yards on the ground.

Stinger Eyes Hockey Talk

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Stingers Executive Vice President William O. DeWitt Jr. said he is trying to arrange a meeting between the owners of the World Hockey Association and the National Hockey League to discuss a working agreement.

DeWitt attended a Monday meeting in Toronto with New England Whalers general partner Howard Baldwin and Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players Association.

DeWitt said, "I'm not concerned about the WHA in terms of it being a viable league. I am concerned about fan reaction to teams moving and teams folding."

Pittsburgh, Miami Face Extinction

NFL Duo See Pressure

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
It still is five games until the end of the season — but the crunch is here.

That is the pressure faced by National Football League teams facing early extinction. If someone had suggested nine weeks ago, when the season started, that Pittsburgh and Miami would be among those teams in such a precarious position, he probably would have been greeted with laughter.

Yet that is just what the Steelers and Dolphins face Sunday when they face each other in Pittsburgh — and for one of them, the season may well come to a premature end with a loss.

In Sunday's other games, it will be New England at Baltimore, Houston at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at Cleveland, St. Louis at Los Angeles, San Francisco at Atlanta, Seattle at Minnesota, Kansas City at Oakland, Washington at the New York Giants, Tampa Bay at the New York Jets, Green Bay at Chicago, Detroit at New Orleans and Denver at San Diego. Monday night's game is Buffalo at Dallas.

"We just have to keep going and hope for the best," said Coach Chuck Noll, whose Steelers have shaken their early-season slump and won four straight games, their last three by shutouts, tying an NFL record.

"We said at the halfway point that every game was a 'must' game. This one really highlights that," said Coach Don Shula, whose Dolphins also have recovered from early setbacks and take a three-game winning streak into Pittsburgh.

But for both of these two-time Super Bowl winners, one more false step could be their last. Each is 5-4 and trailing in its division, the Steelers two games behind Cincinnati in the American Conference's Central Division and the Dolphins three back of Baltimore in the AFC East. The Steelers never have beaten Miami.

Division titles still are a possibility, but a wild-card playoff berth seems a more realistic target. And with New England at 6-3 and Denver and Cleveland at 5-4, a battle is shaping up.

Meanwhile, the Patriots face a Baltimore team threatening to make a runaway of the AFC East race. The Colts, who beat New England 27-13 in the season opener, have the No. 1 offense in the league.

The Bengals, too, have a chance to cement their lead. And they have the conference's No. 1 defense. Houston's bright preseason hopes have crumbled with four straight losses.

Grant Questions Free Agent Bidding

NEW YORK (AP) — M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets, wonders how wise his baseball partners are when they chase after free agents with bundles of cash spilling out of both hands.

"What assurances do you have if you spend millions that you'll improve your club?" asked Grant.

One week ago, the bidding for 24 free agents including some of baseball's biggest names got underway. The Mets have maintained a low profile in this auction and Grant defended the team's cautious approach with logic.

"Look, we all want to win," he said. "But four of the free agents available came from Baltimore. They're all asking big money. You can sign only one or two. The Orioles had all four last year and they didn't win. Why should signing one of them make another club win?"

The four Oriole free agents are outfielder Reggie Jackson, second baseman Bobby Grich, pitcher Wayne Garland and minor league outfielder Royle Sillman.

Six other free agents—outfielders Don Baylor and Joe Rudi, catcher Gene Tenace, infielders Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando and pitcher Rollie Fingers—came from the Oakland A's. They didn't win either.

Why then, wonders Grant, should one or two of them turn other franchises around?

"I don't know what one single player will do for these clubs," he said. "If a team invests in a free agent and that team doesn't rally, then they've wasted millions."

The Mets selected eight players and sent telegrams to each, inviting them to inquire about playing with New York's National League club. It was not the most aggressive approach taken in this new marketplace.

Some fans have been critical of Grant's low-key approach. But occasionally, he gets support as well.

"The manager of my hotel stopped me the other day," the Mets boss related. "He said, 'What you must be going through.' Most of the fans say it would be crazy to go for those prices. We'd rather stay the way we are."

Black Hawk Explosion Snaps Washington Streak

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
When someone asks Coach Tom McVie if overconfidence led to a Washington defeat, it's easy to see that the Capitals are making progress in the National Hockey League.

And, McVie didn't even flinch when a newsman posed the question after the upstart Caps had their mini-winning streak snapped at three Friday night in a 5-4 loss to the Chicago Black Hawks.

"Maybe there was a little complacency involved," McVie said. "But not overconfidence. We haven't won anything yet."

The Caps, a third-year expansion team which had never won two straight games until the current streak, jumped to a 3-1 lead over Chicago on first-period goals by Guy Charrin, Mike Lampman and Hartland Monahan.

The home crowd of 11,457, many wearing adhesive badges imploring, "More, more, we want 4," sensed another victory by the Caps.

The number four did come up, but it was a four-goal explosion in the second period by the Black Hawks which included short-handed goals by Jim Harrison and Pit Martin.

In the night's only other NHL game, the Atlanta Flames played to a 3-3 tie with the Cleveland Barons. In the World Hockey Association, the Phoenix Roadrunners defeated the New England Whalers 3-1 and the Houston Aeros stopped the San Diego Mariners 4-1.

"Our power play is killing us," McVie said. After being outscored 2-0 on their own power plays against Chicago, the Caps show an 8-5 deficit for the season in power-play situations.

Harrison and Martin didn't have to work hard for their goals, scoring after picking up loose pucks in front of Washington goalie Ron Low.

Rick Hampton scored a third-period power play goal to give

Cleveland a tie with Atlanta. The Barons scored once in each period to pull out the tie, with Hampton firing a 15-foot shot from the edge of the right faceoff circle at 13:44.

Atlanta has three consecutive ties and a season record of 6-7-5. Cleveland, undefeated in the last four games, is 5-7-4.

Robbie Florek, caught on the ice during a line shift, stayed around to score his second goal of the night as Phoenix defeated New England. Lauri Tamminen put the Roadrunners up midway through the first period and Florek scored at 15:09, taking a feed from the side boards behind the Whalers' defense and dodging in to beat goalie Bruce London.

Cann Connor scored a pair of goals to lead Houston over San Diego. The victory was Houston's fifth in its last six games and moved the Aeros, 9-6-2, into a first-place tie with Winnipeg in the WHA's West Division.

Cass Defense Nips Constantine

CASSOPOLIS — Cassopolis came up with some tough clutch defensive performances to nose out Constantine 21-20 here Friday night in a non-league football game.

Three times the Rangers stopped the visitors inside the Cass 10-yard line, including two times in the last half.

With the win the Rangers end up at 7-2, their best season since 1954.

Tin Hartsell scored on a seven-yard run and Dennis Lawson on an one-yard sneak for the Rangers in the opening period. Kevin Loder added a seven-yard pass for a score from Lawson in the second quarter. Doug Dixon kicked all the extra points for the margin of victory.

Frank Conner scored two touchdowns for the losers with Jeff Wright catching a five-yard touchdown pass from Dave Taylor. Constantine missed a two-point PAT run on its last score to miss out on the victory.

Hartsell ended with 116 yards in 20 carries to pace the Rangers. Constantine ends the season at 6-3.

Rick Hampton scored a third-period power play goal to give

Cleveland a tie with Atlanta. The Barons scored once in each period to pull out the tie, with Hampton firing a 15-foot shot from the edge of the right faceoff circle at 13:44.

Atlanta has three consecutive ties and a season record of 6-7-5. Cleveland, undefeated in the last four games, is 5-7-4.

Robbie Ftorek, caught on the ice during a line shift, stayed around to score his second goal of the night as Phoenix defeated New England. Lauri Tamminen put the Roadrunners up midway through the first period and Ftorek scored at 15:09, taking a feed from the side boards behind the Whalers' defense and dodging in to beat goalie Bruce Landon.

Cam Connor scored a pair of goals to lead Houston over San Diego. The victory was Houston's fifth in its last six games and moved the Aeros, 9-6-2, into a first-place tie with Winnipeg in the WHA's West Division.

WCHA Still Upside-Down Race

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Dakota, usually a cellar-dweller in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, is serving notice of vast improvement. And other teams are turning the WCHA upside down in the early season.

The Sioux trounced Minnesota-Duluth 5-2 Friday night to raise its league record to 4-1. Michigan, which edged Notre Dame 7-6, is in the driver's seat at 5-2. And Wisconsin used its 6-5 victory over Colorado College to stay in the top three.

Minnesota and Michigan Tech have dominated the league, and the nation, during the last few years. Each school has won two national titles since 1972, and each finished second in the years they didn't win the top spot.

The Gophers, who have lost four key players to injury so far, beat Michigan State 6-3, but their record is a so-so 2-2-1.

Michigan Tech defeated Denver 6-3 Friday night but has a 3-4 league mark.

Freshman winger Erwin Martens scored three goals for North Dakota. His first, late in the second period, provided the Sioux with the winning goal and he added two more in the final session.

Minnesota-Duluth, trailing 2-0 after one period, tied it in the second on two goals by Monty Jones.

Kris Munery scored two goals and assisted on another to lead Michigan's victory over the Irish. Dave Debol also scored twice for the Wolverines.

Clark Hamilton scored twice for Notre Dame, which fell to 1-4.

Steve Alley broke a 5-3 tie with less than three minutes remaining in the game to give Wisconsin its victory over Colorado College.

The Badgers had scored three times in the third period and led 5-3 before CC scored twice and tied the game. Wisconsin goalie Mike Dibble played a big role, making 39 saves.

With only one senior left injured in Minnesota, freshman Eric Strobel took up the slack and scored two goals to lead the Gophers to victory over Michigan State.

Minnesota scored three goals in the first seven minutes of the second period, but the Spartans narrowed the margin to 5-2 before Strobel scored his second goal to tie the game.

The victory was Herb Brooks' 100th career victory as head coach at Minnesota, where he is in his fifth season.

Michigan Tech dumped Denver behind center Dave Joelson, who knocked in two goals. Sixteen penalties were called in the game.

Lanier, Porter Spark Pistons Dr. J, George Star Combo

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Julius Erving, say hello to George McGinnis. George, meet Julius.

The two outstanding forwards have known each other for some time, of course, but never played together like they did Friday night.

Given but one ball between them, McGinnis and Erving finally reached their powerful potential as a team by combining for 64 points to help the Philadelphia 76ers wallop the Washington Bullets 143-104 in the National Basketball Association.

"Everyone's been asking if George and I could play together," said Erving after the Dynamic Duo dazzled the Bullets and a crowd of 15,116 at the Spectrum in Philadelphia. "Maybe this is the answer."

In other NBA games Friday night, the Boston Celtics whipped the New Orleans Jazz 117-110, the Detroit Pistons stopped the New York Knicks 111-97, the Milwaukee Bucks trimmed the Houston Rockets 111-99, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Indiana Pacers 117-106 and the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Kansas City Kings 102-97.

McGinnis hit 15 of 19 shots from the floor and collected 36 points, while Erving connected on 13 of 18 from the field and 28 points. Erving also grabbed seven rebounds, had 10 assists and eight steals.

Playing a second straight game without All-Star center Dave Cowens, Boston rolled over New Orleans with Jimmy Ard and Tommy Boswell combining for 28 points. The veteran Ard and Boswell, an NBA sophomore, sparked the Celtics to their sixth victory in 10 starts in defense of the NBA championship.

Bob Lanier and Kevin Porter led a second-half explosion that rallied Detroit from a 13-point deficit over New York. After the Knicks had reeled off 14 straight points starting late in the second quarter to take a 68-56 lead, the Pistons outscored New York 25-6 during the rest of the third period. Lanier led the streak with eight points and Kevin Porter chipped in with six.

"Kevin was just super. He really ignited us at both ends of the court during the second half," Brown said following his team's fourth straight National Basketball Association victory.

Pistons Suspend Barnes

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons have slapped forward Marvin "Bad News" Barnes with an indefinite suspension "for continuous and repeated acts of conduct detrimental to the team," a Pistons' spokesman said.

The suspension — Barnes' third since joining the club earlier this fall — came after he skipped Tuesday and Thursday practices, missed Wednesday's game with Cleveland and failed to show for a scheduled physical examination in Ann Arbor on Friday.

Barnes, 24, — who has yet to play a game for the Pistons — has had his right ankle in a cast since Oct. 23 due to a severe sprain.

Oscar Feldman, Pistons' general manager, made the suspension.

"(Barnes) will not be reinstated until I'm convinced that he is ready to follow the rules prescribed by the club," Feldman said Friday. "He's not going to use us as a scapegoat."

Barnes' first suspension came when he failed to show up for the start of training camp, demanding that the final five years of his seven-year contract be renegotiated. Feldman refused.

About three weeks ago, he got another suspension for disappearing while he went to St. Louis to see his private physician.

Captain Picked

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Tony Hanson, a three-year starter who is ranked sixth among scorers in University of Connecticut basketball history, has been named captain of the UConn team.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Waterbury, Conn., needs 38 points to become Connecticut's all-time leading scorer.

Porter, who only last week was asking to be traded because he was seeing so little playing time, hit 10 of 12 shots, added six assists and got a season's high of 22 points.

"And the big guy (Lanier) was really hurting," he was tired, after all we've played eight games in 12 straight nights," Brown said.

At one stage in the barrage, the Pistons' rally ripped off 11 consecutive points of their own.

The crippled Knicks, playing without injured forwards Spencer Haywood and Bill Bradley, could come no closer than six points in the final period before Detroit again cut loose to win.

New York Coach Red Holzman admitted of the opponents. "They played well, they did a good job. They seemed to start running better and when Earl (Monroe) got hurt we couldn't keep up with them."

Monroe was forced out of the game in the third quarter with a hip injury, just after he and Walt Frazier had teamed up for 13 of the 14 straight Knicks points.

Lanier finished with his fifth 30-pointer in the last six games, and guard Ralph Stumpson chipped in with 18.

Earl Monroe, Walt Frazier and Lennie Seaton each had 16 for the Knicks. Both teams now have 6-6 records.

Rookie Scott Lloyd scored 20 points, leading five teammates in double figures as Milwaukee stopped Houston. The Bucks, 4-1, broke a four-game losing streak despite a game-high 21-point performance by Houston's Mike Newlin. Milwaukee took the lead for good at 72-71 late in the third period, then put down a late Rockets rally behind Junior Bridgeman, who finished with 16 points.

Karcom Abdul-Jabbar scored 34 points to lead Los Angeles over Indiana. The Lakers had to hold off a fourth-quarter rally by the Pacers, who got as close as five points, 107-102, with three minutes remaining. But Lakers rookie Earl Tatum scored six points to lead a 10-2 blitz, putting the game out of reach.

Veteran guard Fred Brown poured in a season-high 33 points, including eight late in the final period, to lead Seattle over Kansas City. The victory was Seattle's 22nd consecutive regular-season triumph at the Seattle Coliseum over 196 seasons.

Thompson Sparkles In Columbus Win

Mike Thompson's pair of first-period goals headed the Columbus Owls in the right direction Friday night, as they went on to trounce Muskegon 6-1 in International Hockey League play.

In other IHL games, it was Saginaw over Fort Wayne, 4-1; Dayton defeating Port Huron, 4-1, and Toledo beating Flint 3-1.

Columbus' victory boosted the team's record to 5-4-1 in the South Division, with Bill Bennett, Mark Izzard, Toni Thompson and John Sturgess each adding a goal.

Bob MacGuigan scored the only tally for Muskegon, now 6-8-1 in the North.

Saginaw's Darcy Ryan turned three rebounds into goals to pace the Gears to their victory over Fort Wayne. A pair of Ryan's scores came only two seconds apart in the second stanza.

The Komets' Dave Norris averted a shutout by slapping one between the pipes at 7:18 into the second period.

In Dayton, it was an easy victory for the Gems as Port Huron fired only 25 shots at Dayton goalkeeper Jim Bedard, compared with 43 shots on goal for the Gems.

The victory leaves Dayton 6-6-0 in the South, while Port Huron fell to 5-4-1.

The Toledo Gnatdiggers got goals from Dave Johnson, Juri Kudrasovs and Michel Laurendeau, while Flint's only marker was from Jeff Flint midway through the second period.

The game moved Toledo to 7-4-1, and dropped the Generals to 5-7-3.

U.S. One Win From Davis Cup Advancement

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The United States team, in need of just one more victory to advance in Davis Cup play, was expected to clinch the American Zone segment today when Fred McNeil and Sherwood Stewart met Venezuela's Humphrey Hose and Jorge Andrew.

In the opening singles matches on Friday, Dick Stockton of Dallas, outplayed Venezuela's second-ranked Andrew, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7 and Vitas Gerulaitis of Howard Beach, N.Y., beat the top-ranked Hose, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

The winning team must collect three victories from among Friday's two singles matches, today's doubles match and two more singles matches on Sunday.

McNeil, of Chase Chevy, Md., and Stewart, of Baytown, Tex., is considered one of the best doubles teams in the world following victories last year in France, West Germany and Switzerland.

After its performance in the singles matches on Friday, Hose and Andrew did not appear to be in top form, although officials of the Venezuelan squad had not given up hope for an upset victory.

The winner of the competition will meet Mexico.

Pistons Suspend Barnes

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons have slapped forward Marvin "Bad News" Barnes with an indefinite suspension "for continuous and repeated acts of conduct detrimental to the team," a Pistons' spokesman said.

The suspension — Barnes' third since joining the club earlier this fall — came after he skipped Tuesday and Thursday practices, missed Wednesday's game with Cleveland and failed to show for a scheduled physical examination in Ann Arbor on Friday.

Barnes, 24, — who has yet to play a game for the Pistons — has had his right ankle in a cast since Oct. 23 due to a severe sprain.

Oscar Feldman, Pistons' general manager, made the suspension.

"(Barnes) will not be reinstated until I'm convinced that he is ready to follow the rules prescribed by the club," Feldman said Friday. "He's not going to use us as a yo-yo."

Barnes' first suspension came when he failed to show up for the start of training camp, demanding that the final five years of his seven-year contract be renegotiated. Feldman refused.

About three weeks ago, he got another suspension for disappearing while he went to St. Louis to see his private physician.

Porter, who only last week was asking to be traded because he was seeing so little playing time, hit 10 of 12 shots, added six assists and got a season's high of 22 points.

"And the big guy (Lanier) was really hurting ... he was tired, after all we've played eight games in 12 straight nights," Brown said.

Monroe was forced out of the game in the third quarter with a hip injury, just after he and Walt Frazier had teamed up for 13 of the 14 straight Knicks points.

Lanier finished with his fifth 30-pointer in the last six games, and guard Ralph Simpson chipped in with 18.

Earl Monroe, Walt Frazier and Lonnie Shelton each had 16 for the Knicks. Both teams now have 6-6 records.

Rookie Scott Lloyd scored 20 points, leading five teammates in double figures as Milwaukee stopped Houston. The Bucks, 3-9, broke a four-game losing streak despite a game-high 23-point performance by Houston's Mike Newlin. Milwaukee took the lead for good at 72-71 late in the third period, then put down a late Rockets rally behind Junior Bridgeman, who finished with 16 points.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 34 points to lead Los Angeles over Indiana. The Lakers had to hold off a fourth-quarter rally by the Pacers, who got as close as five points, 107-102, with three minutes remaining. But Lakers rookie Earl Tatum scored six points to lead a 10-2 blitz, putting the game out of reach.

Veteran guard Fred Brown poured in a season-high 33 points, including eight late in the final period, to lead Seattle over Kansas City. The victory was Seattle's 22nd consecutive regular-season triumph at the Seattle Coliseum over two seasons.

WCHA Still Upside-Down Race

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
North Dakota, usually a cellar-dweller in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, is serving notice of vast improvement. And other teams are turning the WCHA upside down in the early season.

The Sioux trounced Minnesota-Duluth 5-2 Friday night to raise its league record to 4-1. Michigan, which edged Notre Dame 7-6, is in the driver's seat at 5-2. And Wisconsin used its 6-5 victory over Colorado College to stay in the top three.

Minnesota and Michigan Tech have dominated the league, and the nation, during the last few years. Each school has won two national titles since 1972, and each finished second in the years they didn't win the top spot.

The Gophers, who have lost four key players to injury so far, beat Michigan State 6-3, but their record is a so-so 2-2-1.

Michigan Tech defeated Denver 6-3 Friday night but has a 3-4 league mark.

Freshman winger Erwin Martens scored three goals for North Dakota. His first, late in the second period, provided the Sioux with the winning goal and he added two more in the final session.

Minnesota-Duluth, trailing 2-0 after one period, tied it in the second on two goals by Monty Jones.

Kris Manery scored two goals and assisted on another to lead Michigan's victory over the Irish. Dave Debol also scored twice for the Wolverines.

Clark Hamilton scored twice for Notre Dame, which fell to 1-4.

Steve Alley broke a 5-5 tie with less than three minutes remaining in the game to give Wisconsin its victory over Colorado College.

The Badgers had scored three times in the third period and led 5-3 before CC scored twice and tied the game. Wisconsin goalie Mike Dibble played a big role, making 39 saves.

With only one senior left uninjured in Minnesota, freshman Eric Strobel took up the slack and scored two goals to lead the Gophers to victory over Michigan State.

Ryan's scores came only two seconds apart in the second stanza.

The Komets' Dave Norris averted a shutout by slapping one between the pipes at 7:18 into the second period.

In Dayton, it was an easy victory for the Gems as Port Huron fired only 25 shots at Dayton goalkeeper Jim Bedard, compared with 43 shots on goal for the Gems.

The victory leaves Dayton 6-6-0 in the South, while Port Huron fell to 5-6-1.

The Toledo Goaldiggers got goals from Dave Johnson, Juri Kudrasovs and Michel Laurendeau, while Flint's only marker was from Jeff McDill midway through the second period.

The game moved Toledo to 7-4-1, and dropped the Generals to 5-7-3.

Thompson Sparkles In Columbus Win

Mike Thompson's pair of first-period goals headed the Columbus Owls in the right direction Friday night, as they went on to trounce Muskegon 6-1 in International Hockey League play.

In other IHL games, it was Saginaw over Fort Wayne, 4-1; Dayton defeating Port Huron, 4-1, and Toledo beating Flint 3-1.

Columbus' victory boosted the team's record to 5-4-4 in the South Division, with Bill Bennett, Mark Izzard, Tom Thompson and John Sturgess each adding a goal.

Bob MacGuigan scored the only tally for Muskegon, now 6-8-1 in the North.

U.S. One Win From Davis Cup Advancement

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The United States team, in need of just one more victory to advance in Davis Cup play, was expected to clinch the American Zone segment today when Fred McNaire and Sherwood Stewart met Venezuela's Humphrey Hose and Jorge Andrew.

In the opening singles matches on Friday, Dick Stockton of Dallas, outplayed Venezuela's second-ranked Andrew, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7 and Vitas Gerulaitis of Howard Beach, N.Y., beat the top-ranked Hose, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

The winning team must collect three victories from among Friday's two singles matches, today's doubles match and two more singles matches on Sunday.

McNaire, of Chase Chevy, Md., and Stewart, of Baytown, Tex., is considered one of the best doubles teams in the world following victories last year in France, West Germany and Switzerland.

The winner of the competition will meet Mexico.

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Tony Hanson, a three-year starter who is ranked sixth among scorers in University of Connecticut basketball history, has been named captain of the U-Conn team.

The 6-foot-5 senior from Waterbury, Conn., needs 388 points to become Connecticut's all-time leading scorer.

FBI Memo Says Oswald Discussed Killing JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department reportedly has uncovered a 1964 memo in which late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said he was told Lee Harvey Oswald discussed in advance with Cuban officials his plan to kill President John F. Kennedy.

The FBI and the Justice Department refused to discuss the report, which was carried in today's editions of the Washington Post.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying that Hoover wrote in the memo that he was told of the discussions between Oswald and the Cubans by a highly reliable informant who learned about them personally from Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

It has been disclosed in documents recently released by the CIA under the Freedom of Information Act that Oswald visited the Cuban Embassy in Mexico City less than two months before Kennedy was killed in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

Oswald was arrested shortly after the assassination and was himself killed by Jack Ruby two days later.

There has been speculation that if Cuba was involved in the Kennedy assassination, it was to retaliate for CIA attempts on Castro's life.

Castro has denied that Cuba played any part in Kennedy's death.

The Post quoted sources as saying the Hoover memo was

Agreement Near In UPS Strike?

WASHINGTON (AP) — An informed source says there is a tentative agreement between the Teamsters Union and United Parcel Service to end the strike that has shut down UPS operations in 15 eastern states for more than eight weeks.

But official spokesmen have not confirmed the settlement and say negotiations will continue this weekend.

A source told The Associated Press that although a tentative agreement had been reached, the parties were not ready to make the formal announcement Friday. The source said there will be weekend talks to work out specific contract language and then bring in local negotiating officials for their approval early next week.

A National Mediation Service spokesman said negotiations were continuing "and things look pretty good, but I had better not say any more than that at this time."

The strike by 18,000 Teamsters has backed up deliveries from Maine to South Carolina and threatened to cause even greater problems as the flow of mail increases with the start of the Christmas holiday season. The backup has extended beyond the East as UPS warehouses elsewhere were pressed into service to help out.

The Postal Service has tried to pick up some of the slack.

MSU Coed Fasting Over Ford Defeat

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A 19-year-old Michigan State University student has launched a 10-day fast because Gerald Ford lost the presidential election.

Elizabeth Sims of Southgate said Thursday she hadn't consumed anything except water since Monday.

Miss Sims said another reason for the fast was to focus attention of hunger around the world.

The sophomore English major said Thursday she's upset that Jimmy Carter was elected president. She said she didn't work on Ford's campaign but now wishes she had.

"I think that Ford has done a very good job and I don't agree with many of Carter's ideas," she said, citing disagreement with the president-elect's health plan in particular.

Miss Sims said that although the purpose of the fast is political, she could also stand to lose a few pounds.

October Goes Down As 'Cold'

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — The National Weather Service says Michigan's October temperatures averaged 5.5 degrees below normal — and that's a cold fact.

Consumers Power Co. Friday said because of the colder weather, it sold 28.3 billion cubic feet of natural gas during October. That's up about 27 per cent from October 1975 sales of 22.3 billion cubic feet.

John B. Simpson, the company's executive vice president for energy distribution, said greater consumption and the higher prices the utility must pay suppliers will probably result in higher bills for customers this month.

Still A Solar Contender

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan remains among the top contenders for the new national Solar Energy Research Institute (SERI), according to federal officials. It was announced earlier this week that Michigan was out of the running for an experimental solar power plant, but that facility is not related to SERI, the officials said. Site selection for SERI is scheduled for next March and federal Energy and Research Development Agency officials have said they will visit Michigan before the final choice is made. Texas, California and Arizona are still being considered for the other solar power plant project.

Accused Killer Cabbie's Abductor?

RALPH DEAN
More questioning

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Mansfield, O., man, already charged with murder in the death of a 14-year-old Ohio girl, also is being questioned about a Kentucky slaying and the abduction of a Jackson, Mich., cab driver, authorities said.

Mansfield police said Friday that Ralph E. Dean, is being held for questioning in the shooting death Wednesday of a 70-year-old Cincinnati man, Clarence Siegman.

Dean is being held in the Guernsey County jail on a warrant charging him with aggravated murder in the shooting death of Gloria Williams, 14, of Mansfield. Her body was found Wednesday in a quarry near here, with six bullet wounds in the head.

Police said they also are questioning Dean in Thursday's abduction of Jackson, Mich., cab driver Frank Carter, 32. Police said Carter's abductor ordered him to drive to Mansfield, where the cabdriver jumped from the cab and called police.

Police officers say Dean was arrested by Highway Patrol troopers early Friday on Interstate 77 in Ohio while driving a car he allegedly stole at gunpoint from Frank Merzik of Mansfield.

The Kentucky State Police post in Dry Ridge, Ky., confirmed they were also seeking Dean in connection with the slaying of Siegman, a retired dry cleaner.

Siegman was shot four times in the head and left on a rural Grant County, Ky., road. Lt. Ben Harney said Siegman's wallet and money clip were missing.

Siegman's car was stolen and driven to Oventon, Ky., where it was wrecked, police said. Police said they believe Dean used a stolen pickup truck to get to Michigan.

There has been speculation that if Cuba was involved in the Kennedy assassination, it was to retaliate for CIA attempts on Castro's life.

Castro has denied that Cuba played any part in Kennedy's death.

The Post quoted sources as saying the Hoover memo was addressed to the Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination. But the sources were not certain if the memo ever reached the commission.

John McCone, CIA director at that time, told the Post the memo was "unknown to me."

David W. Belin, a legal counsel to the Warren Commission, said, "I have absolutely no recollection of such a memo. If such a document did exist, I'm sure that we never saw it."

The Post reported that sources said the memo came to light only recently as the result of information brought to the attention of the Justice Department that prompted Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi to order a search of FBI files.

The newspaper said its sources could not say, if the memo is accurate, whether Castro learned of Oswald's intentions before Kennedy's death.

The Post also said its sources speculated that the informant referred to in the Hoover memo was Rolando Cubela, Cubela, a former high Cuban official, has been identified as a 1961 CIA recruit who figured in the agency's plots on Castro's life.

strike by 300,000 workers at midnight next Thursday. "The union has not received an overall response to the proposals we made in regard to the many shortfalls in the corporation's economic offer," UAW Vice President Irving Blustone said Friday.

He said although "some progress" was made in subcommittee-level talks, "many issues remained unresolved."

The union handed GM a new economic proposal on Thursday after charging the giant automaker's initial offer on a new three-year pact fell short of the industry pattern set last month at Ford Motor Co. following a four-week strike.

The UAW and Chrysler agreed to a new contract based on the Ford pattern a week ago. The pact still must be ratified by 118,000 U.S. and Canadian Chrysler employees, who are to vote early next week.

GM, which made its first contract offer Wednesday, said its economic proposals were "within the framework" of the Ford settlement.

However, neither side would elaborate on their differences.

Michigan Politicians Never Stop Running For Office

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Now that the elections are over, it's time for state politicians to begin thinking about — the 1978 elections, of course.

Debate and gossip over who may run for what office is never-ending among politicians and reporters here. And there is no better time to begin than right after an election.

The acid test of speculation and prediction is almost two years away, so no one can prove error no matter what obscure name is proposed, and in two years, nobody will remember who suggested it anyway.

In addition, two years is not too early for a politician to begin considering his future, testing the winds and jousting for position in the legislature, other office or private life. An unknown aspirant may need two years to become familiar, and support and money often go to the candidate who lets it be known early he's likely to run.

The elections in 1978 will be important in Michigan, with more at stake than this year. Up for election will be the governor's post, a U.S. Senate seat, the state House and Senate seats, all congressional seats as usual, the attorney general's post and the secretary of state's post, two Supreme Court seats and a gaggle of education posts and other court seats.

Gov. William Milliken says he hasn't decided whether to seek another term. But Republican insiders say it is becoming more and more likely that he will — if only to maintain one of Michigan's last top GOP strongholds.

And most political experts believe if he runs, Milliken will be extremely tough to beat. He survived a miserable Republican year, and controversy over his running mate in 1974, and shows no new vulnerability.

Another question is whether he would keep Lt. Gov. James Damman as a running mate. If he doesn't — for Damman is not considered an asset — GOP legislative leaders Robert Davis of Gaylord and Dennis Cawthorne of Manistee would likely jump at the chance. Cawthorne has said he thinks Milliken will run again.

But if Milliken did not run, Cawthorne and Davis would head the list seeking the Republican nomination, although they may be joined by former Lt. Gov. James Brickley, considered a strong candidate, and possibly Damman himself.

Among the Democrats, House Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald are the most often mentioned, although Fitzgerald faces a test next month to retain the leadership position he has. Also considered likely aspirants are Public Service Commissioner William Ball, state Sen. Patrick McCollough of Dearborn and perhaps former Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs.

Many potential candidates will see their political stars

flare and burn out in secret, because a primary free-for-all is unlikely for any top spot. Rather, candidates will huddle to reach some consensus over who will run for what, reducing the field.

U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin will almost certainly seek re-election, and should have little problem unless there is a conservative-moderate split in the GOP, in which case he may be challenged. He would have to rate as an early favorite over any Democratic challenger.

The Democratic candidate may well come from the ranks of those who didn't seek the governor's office. State Sen. John Otterbacher, who made an aborted run for the Senate seat this year, is candidly talking about keeping his troops in place for a shot at Griffin in 1978.

A current congressman or two may well try to step up, but there is none who is as well entrenched and as well known to make the race as Donald Riegle did this year.

And for any office, there are always unanticipated candidates from local office or private life to even the speculation — George Romney never held any other office but governor, except vice chairman of the 1960 constitutional convention.

The attorney general and secretary of state offices are harder to handicap, largely because of the unknown plans of Frank Kelley and Richard Austin. Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and Democratic state Rep. Paul Rosenbaum of Battle Creek have been often mentioned as attorney general possibilities, while the secretary of state's post is often a plum going to a longtime party activist.

Both attorney general and secretary of state candidates are selected in party conventions, not primary elections, so the political card-playing is even more intense there.

It's Joanne's Turn To Play Psychiatrist

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joanne Woodward moves to the other side of the couch in "Sybil," a four-hour movie that starts Sunday night.

She goes from patient in "Three Faces of Eve," the story of a woman with three personalities, to psychiatrist in "Sybil," about a woman with 16 personalities.

Nearly 20 years ago Miss Woodward won an Academy Award as best actress in the modest little film about Eve. It was her third movie.

The four-hour, two-part "Sybil" is Miss Woodward's first film for television. It begins Sunday night on NBC's "The Big Event" at 9 p.m. EST and concludes at the same time Monday.

Sally Field plays the patient with the constantly changing character. She adopts the various personalities as a refuge from her childhood treatment at the hands of her unstable mother.

The film is based on the novel by Flora Rheta Schreiber, a psychiatry professor who based it on a real case.

Miss Woodward said that the two films are very different. The three personalities of "Eve" were clearcut and the story was played straight. "Sybil" is more complex, with an element of fantasy.

SENSITIVITY SESSION: Joanne Woodward, left, stars as psychiatrist who takes on task of helping young woman played by Sally Field unravel her multi-faceted personality in "Sybil," a two-part "Big Event" presentation to be telecast Nov. 14-15 on NBC. (AP Wirephoto)

Golden Apple: "The Apple Dumpling Gang" whoops it up on NBC Sunday night at 7 p.m. EST. Gather the kids around for this western comedy from Disney, about a gambler (Bill Bixby) saddled with three orphans. They're a burden until they discover a million-dollar gold nugget — then everybody wants to take them off his hands. Also stars Susan Clark, Don Knotts and Tim Conway.

Roses are red: If poetry is your thing, tune in to CBS Sunday afternoon for "The Poetry Power Hour." Such stars as Rosemary Harris, Blythe Danner, Jack Weston, Leonard Nimoy and Frank Converse recite and dramatize poems.

Code of silence: Kojak (Telly Savalas) runs into a wall of silence when he investigates the murders of dock workers. They have their own code — and want to clean up their own house. "Kojak" airs 9 p.m. EST Sunday on CBS.

Michigan Politicians Never Stop Running For Office

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Now that the elections are over, it's time for state politicians to begin thinking about — the 1978 elections, of course.

Debate and gossip over who may run for what office is never-ending among politicians and reporters here. And there is no better time to begin than right after an election.

The acid test of speculation and prediction is almost two years away, so no one can prove error no matter what obscure name is proposed, and in two years, nobody will remember who suggested it anyway.

In addition, two years is not too early for a politician to begin considering his future, testing the winds and jousting for position in the legislature, other office or private life. An unknown aspirant may need two years to become familiar, and support and money often go to the candidate who lets it be known early he's likely to run.

The elections in 1978 will be important in Michigan, with more at stake than this year. Up for election will be the governor's post, a U.S. Senate seat, the state House and Senate seats, all congressional seats as usual, the attorney general's post, two Supreme Court seats and a gaggle of education posts and other court seats.

Gov. William Milliken says he hasn't decided whether to seek another term. But Republican insiders say it is becoming more and more likely that he will — if only to maintain one of Michigan's last top GOP strongholds.

And most political experts believe if he runs, Milliken will be extremely tough to beat. He survived a miserable Republican year and controversy over his running mate in 1974, and shows no new vulnerability.

Another question is whether he would keep Lt. Gov. James Damman as a running mate. If he doesn't — for Damman is not considered an asset — GOP legislative leaders Robert Davis of Gaylord and Dennis Cawthorne of Manistee would likely jump at the chance. Cawthorne has said he thinks Milliken will run again.

But if Milliken did not run, Cawthorne and Davis would head the list seeking the Republican nomination, although they may be joined by former Lt. Gov. James Brickley, considered a strong candidate, and possibly Damman himself.

Among the Democrats, House Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald are the most often mentioned, although Fitzgerald faces a test next month to retain the leadership position he has. Also considered likely aspirants are Public Service Commissioner William Ralls, state Sen. Patrick McCollough of Dearborn and perhaps former Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs.

Many potential candidates will see their political stars

flare and burn out in secret, because a primary free-for-all is unlikely for any top spot. Rather, candidates will huddle to reach some consensus over who will run for what, reducing the field.

A current congressman or two may well try to step up, but there is none who is as well entrenched and as well known to

Van Buren Twp. Races Cost $2--Or Even Less

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The vast majority of township candidates in Van Buren county who have filed election expense forms spent little or nothing on their campaigns leading up to the Nov. 2 election.

As of Friday, 41 of 117 people who had sought township offices had filed campaign expense statements in the county clerk's office, and only one had spent anything — $2 for a newspaper advertisement.

All statements for anyone who sought office are required to be in by Nov. 22, according to Clerk C.E. MacDonald.

Among candidates for county offices, Democrat Boyd Estes of Hartford had spent the most, based on statements turned in by yesterday. Estes, who lost his bid for re-election to the county board of commissioners, listed expenditures of $716, and a $350 contribution from the community action program of the United Auto Workers.

A separate statement filed by the Committee to Re-elect Boyd Estes listed expenditures of $330, based on contributions of the same amount from 16 private individuals.

The only other county commission candidates who had filed so far were Shirley Jackson of Paw Paw, who spent $111 and received a $75 contribution from the county Republican women's club, and Gerald Rindel of Gobles, who was unopposed and spent nothing.

Among other county officers, Sheriff Richard E. Stump listed expenditures of $392, Register of Deeds Frank Blancy $17, and Treasurer A.A. Smith $102. All listed no contributions.

Drain Commissioner Elmyra Hearn listed expenses of $325 and a $75 contribution from the county Republican women.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Milwaukee Couple Face Drug Charge

State police from the Benton Harbor post arrested a man and a woman, both from Milwaukee, Wis., after seizing suspected heroin, four citizens' band radios and an eight-track radio from an auto stopped for speeding on I-94, Benton township, about 1:50 p.m. Friday.

Booked on charges of violating the controlled substance act (possession of heroin) were Elacey Pearson, 28, and Annie Mae Wallace, 35. Pearson also was reported hooked on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 (the radios).

Trooper James Delgado reported he stopped a speeding auto in the westbound lane and noticed suspected marijuana cigarette butts in the ashtray. Delgado said the vehicle then was searched. Seized were six foil packets of suspected heroin that would be worth about $60, street value, Delgado said. The radios were also seized, he said.

The post said a later inspection of the citizens' band radios revealed a note inside one, identifying the owner as Hershel Jewett of Mason, Mich. The post said another CB unit was inscribed with the name D. Stocker, Lansing. Efforts are being made to locate both, the post said.

Twin Cities area police Friday investigated thefts totaling nearly $3,800 and including the second snow plow attachment to be stolen within two days.

Benton Harbor police said a seven-foot hydraulic snowplow blade, valued at $575 was reported stolen by Peoples Savings association, 115 West Main street. The attachment was reported stolen from a storage shed behind the association office. The weight of the attachment wasn't reported, but police said it would require three or four men to get it onto a truck.

A 300-pound snowplow attachment valued at $500 was reported stolen Thursday from Airport Service station, 1201 1/2 Territorial road, Benton township, according to township police. Details were reported in Friday's editions of The Herald-Palladium.

Other thefts reported to Benton Harbor police Friday were: —Four watches, two rings and a woman's wig valued at $710 from the home of Bertha Ogburn, 288 Pleasant street.

—Clothing, toys and food valued at $488 from the home of Gertrude Maget, 886 Pavone.

Van Buren Twp. Races Cost $2--Or Even Less

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The vast majority of township candidates in Van Buren county who have filed election expense forms spent little or nothing on their campaigns leading up to the Nov. 2 election.

As of Friday, 41 of 117 people who had sought township offices had filed campaign expense statements in the county clerk's office, and only one had spent anything — $2 for a newspaper advertisement.

All statements for anyone who sought office are required to be in by Nov. 22, according to Clerk C.E. MacDonald.

Among candidates for county offices, Democrat Boyd Estes of Hartford had spent the most, based on statements turned in by yesterday. Estes, who lost his bid for re-election to the county board of commissioners, listed expenditures of $716, and a $350 contribution from the community action program of the United Auto Workers.

A separate statement filed by the Committee to Re-elect Boyd Estes listed expenditures of $330, based on contributions of the same amount from 16 private individuals.

The only other county commission candidates who had filed so far were Shirley Jackson of Paw Paw, who spent $111 and received a $75 contribution from the county Republican women's club, and Gerald Rendel of Gobles, who was unopposed and spent nothing.

Among other county officers, Sheriff Richard E. Stump listed expenditures of $392, Register of Deeds Frank Blaney $17, and Treasurer A.A. Smith $102. All listed no contributions.

Drain Commissioner Elmyra Hearn listed expenses of $325 and a $75 contribution from the county Republican women.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Milwaukee Couple Face Drug Charge

State police from the Benton Harbor post arrested a man and a woman, both from Milwaukee, Wis., after seizing suspected heroin, four citizens' band radios and an eight-track radio from an auto stopped for speeding on I-94, Benton township, about 1:50 p.m. Friday.

Booked on charges of violating the controlled substance act (possession of heroin) were Elacey Pearson, 28, and Annie Mae Wallace, 35. Pearson also was reported booked on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 (the radios).

Delgado said the vehicle then was searched. Seized were six foil packets of suspected heroin that would be worth about $60, street value, Delgado said. The radios were also seized, he said.

The post said a later inspection of the citizens' band radios revealed a note inside one, identifying the owner as Hershel Jewett of Mason, Mich. The post said another CB unit was inscribed with the name D. Stocker, Lansing. Efforts are being made to locate both, the post said.

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The Pentagon says it had nothing to do with a trip to the United States by an ex-Nazi pilot to help assess a new American fighter plane. A spokesman for the Pentagon said that the builder of the new plane, Fairchild Industries, invited former Col. Hans-Ulrich Rudel to this country.

If Pursell's Win Stands...

LANSING, Mich. (AP) -- A state Representative upset in his bid for re-election says he may run for a state Senate post expected to be vacated and up for grabs in a special election. Rep. John Markes, D-Livonia, said he is thinking about running for the Senate if Sen. Carl Pursell, R-Plumville, ends up the winner in Michigan's second congressional district. Pursell narrowly beat Ann Arbor physician Edward Pierce, a Democrat, but must survive canvassing and a possible recount before he moves to Washington. If Pursell's victory stands, that will free his state Senate seat and result in a special election next year. Another special election must be held to fill the seat of Sen. Dale Kildee, D-Flint, who was elected to Congress. Markes, a two-term House member, was upset in last week's election by 28-year-old Livonia attorney Robert Law, and said he might run for Pursell's seat.

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's largest residential alcoholism treatment center — the Salvation Army's Harbor Light — has closed its doors in downtown Detroit. Capt. John MacDonald, center director, said the program simply ran out of money. "We treat a segment of the population that in most cases cannot otherwise afford to pay for treatment," MacDonald said. "Our real concern is for the 74 diagnosed alcoholics per month who will be denied help because they are poor." The center was the only Salvation Army project in the city with a drug and alcohol treatment program. Officials said it will continue to maintain a 22-bed ward for inebriates, a job development program and drug emergency care.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Young Widow Has No Room For Risk

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. What should a young widow, 38, with three young children do with total assets of $23,000? She will receive a monthly pension of $600.

A. With three young children and only a modest income, this $23,000 should be kept in insured savings — most of it earning four year certificate rates and some at day-to-day rates. There is no room here for investment risks.

Q. I recently received an inheritance of $30,000. Where should I invest it until my financial objectives are better defined? I am thinking in terms of one year or less.

A. Put it into the nearest insured savings institution. Don't consider securities which you may want to sell out in a year or less.

Q. I'm 74, with $10,000 I want to divide among my three children. I'd like to do it now and relax, but need the income. The money is now in savings at 5 1/2 per cent.

A. Giving them the money now will be doing no one a favor. If this $10,000 represents your total assets, the transfer now will not affect your inheritance taxes. If you give it to them now (and, I assume, they are all employed) you will only be taking their income tax bill — whereas if you continue to receive income yourself the tax bite is minimal or nonexistent.

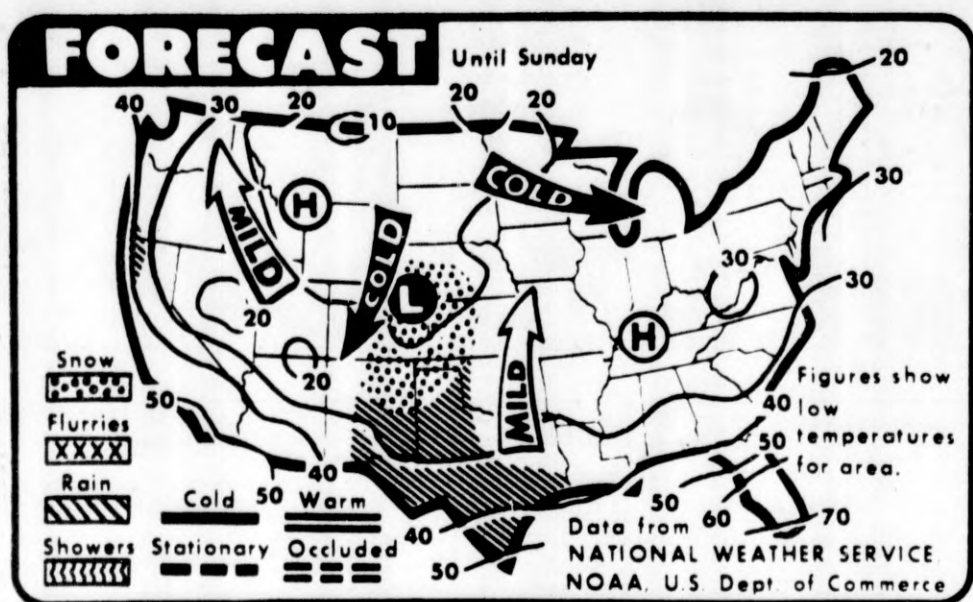

Would you relax any better with no money than with $10,000 in your own bank account? A simple will can take care of all this with no fuss or feathers and no expense.

And why are you keeping $10,000 at 5 1/2 per cent? Why not keep most of it at 7 per cent or better? My dear lady, why aren't you thinking of No. 1?

Q. What are the advantages and disadvantages of Treasury bills vs. bonds and notes?

A. Treasury bills represent short-term debt — up to one year. Notes are longer term, and bond maturities even longer — up to 30 years.

TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Rain is forecast Saturday for parts of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico and for parts of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Wyoming. terms of one year or less.
A. Put it into the nearest insured savings institution. Don't consider securities which you may want to sell out in a year or less.

Q. I'm 74, with $40,000 I want to divide among my three children. I'd like to do it now and relax, but need the income. The money is now in savings at 5 1/4 per cent.

A. Giving them the money now will be doing no one a favor. If this $40,000 represents your total assets, the transfer now will not affect your inheritance taxes. If you give it to them now (and, I assume, they are all employed) you will only be hiking their income tax bill — whereas if you continue to receive income yourself the tax bite is minimal or nonexistent.

Would you relax any better with no money than with $40,000 in your own bank account? A simple will can take care of all this with no fuss or feathers and no expense.

Q. What are the advantages and disadvantages of Treasury bills vs. bonds and notes?
A. Treasury bills represent short-term debt — up to one year. Notes are longer term, and bond maturities even longer — up to 30 years.

Bills are sold at discount, redeemed at par and pay out on interest in the interim.

Notes and bonds pay fixed interest twice a year.

Q. I bought stock in a new bank five years ago and still have not received a dividend. How good are bank shares?

A. As good as the bank. Generally, new banks will require a few years to accumulate some fat. Furthermore, new banks are not likely to be generous dividend payers.

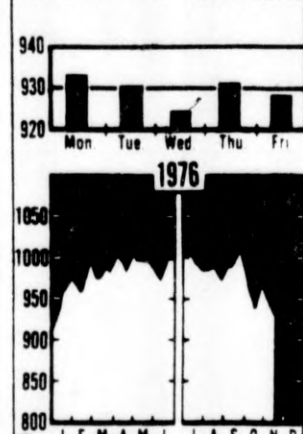

Q. I am a college student interested in investing in stock. Where can I get a list of common stocks that have a relatively stable dividend record?

A. A stamped, self-addressed envelope would bring you my sample list. But if you want more, there is an Educational Department at the N.Y. Stock Exchange, Dept. SU, 11 Wall St., New York City 10005.

Q. I understand the recently revised tax law made changes in the tax treatment of options. Where can I find out about them?

A. You are correct. The tax treatment of options has been changed and the CBOE has already issued a booklet on the revision. You can get one by writing to The Chicago Board Options Exchange, LaSalle at Jackson, Chicago, Ill. 60604.

Corporate Profit Rise Is Slowing

NEW YORK (AP) — Paced by strong gains in the auto and textile industries, corporate profits rose again in the third quarter over 1975 levels, but the high growth rate has begun to slow, the nation's second largest bank reported Friday.

Citibank said its regular survey of 1,448 corporations showed profits rose 14 per cent in the third quarter over last year, a considerable leveling off from the second quarter's 34 per cent profits gain.

The slowdown indicates "the period of easy gains in profits in this recovery is over," Citibank said. "Further increases in earnings are expected in the remainder of 1976 and throughout 1977, but they will be largely the result of expanded sales and close attention to costs and efficiency," the bank said.

But Citibank said, "in general, the downturn in profits in the last two quarters should not be taken as a signal that a sharp reduction in earnings is imminent."

"Instead, it represents an adjustment following the unsustainable high growth rate of the first quarter of 1976," the bank said.

"And it suggests that a firm basis has now been established for a more gradual and sustainable rate of profit growth in this year's fourth quarter and during 1977," the bank said.

Citibank said the 1,448 companies it surveyed reported after-tax profits of $15.9 billion in the third quarter, ahead of last year's third-quarter figure of $14 billion but 4 per cent behind the $16.5 billion in earnings reported in the second quarter of 1976.

Alcohol Center Closes

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's largest residential alcoholism treatment center — the Salvation Army's Harbor Light — has closed its doors in downtown Detroit. Capt. John MacDonald, center director, said the program simply ran out of money. "We treat a segment of the population that in most cases cannot otherwise afford to pay for treatment," MacDonald said. "Our real concern is for the 74 diagnosed alcoholics per month who will be denied help because they are poor." The center was the only Salvation Army project in the city with a drug and alcohol treatment program. Officials said it will continue to maintain a 22-bed ward for inebriates, a job development program and drug emergency care.

Carter's Guest List Huge For 'Modest' Inauguration

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter is inviting "several hundred thousand people" to see him inaugurated in Washington at a ceremony he wants kept "modest" and "democratic," an aide says.

"We want to take away some of the aspects of a coronation," said Carter spokesman Rex Gramm on Friday. The President-elect desires a "people-oriented" inauguration, he said.

Carter, however, will wear formal clothes and a top hat, ride in the inaugural parade, dance at an inaugural ball and hold receptions for the diplomatic corps and Congress.

Aides said the VIP section of seats at the Capitol for the Jan. 20 ceremony will be smaller than usual, and there will be fewer official receptions and parties. The bleacher seats along Pennsylvania Avenue parade route probably will be free.

Carter doesn't expect everyone he invites to show up, Gramm said. "Obviously they can't have several hundred thousand physically at the swearing-in," he said.

Carter discussed inauguration plans Friday with two coordinators of the event at the only meeting he plans on the subject.

Later, Carter met with transition chief Jack H. Watson Jr. and his campaign director, Hamilton Jordan, to discuss the more pressing matter of staffing the top 200 jobs of his administration.

CHRISTMAS SEALS Lung Association Sets $62,400 Goal

The Michigan Lung association has set a goal of $62,400 to be raised in its 1976 Christmas Seal campaign in the four-county area of Berrien, Allegan, Cass and Van Buren.

The statewide goal is $800,000. Dr. Mack is chairman of the lung association's southwestern region board. He works as a health officer in the counties of Cass, Branch, Hillsdale and St. Joseph.

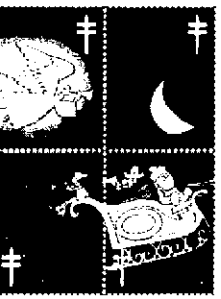

Profits from the 1976 Christmas Seal campaign will be used toward the prevention and control of lung disease, Dr. Mack said.

Contributors to Christmas Seals in years past should have already received their 1976 seals in the mail, according to Dr. Mack. Other area residents can expect to receive a sheet of seals by the third week of November.

A donation of an unspecified amount is asked in return for the seals.

Search Continues For Ship Crewmen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — As 14 shipwrecked sailors headed for land aboard two rescue boats today, a Coast Guard cutter headed for the disaster site to search for the 18 crewmen still missing.

One life-jacketed body has been spotted in the stormy Pacific Ocean waters 1,400 miles northwest of Honolulu.

The lumber carrier Carmelian-1 sank Thursday. A Navy plane arrived at the scene within an hour, and the Panamanian-registered Hunter arrived about four hours after the crew abandoned ship.

The Hunter picked up two survivors before being driven off by stormy seas, the Coast Guard said. It reportedly headed for Hachino, Japan.

The Shunyo Maru, a Japanese ship, arrived at the scene Friday morning and left in the afternoon without explanation, the Coast Guard said.

The freighter Wisteria, bound for the Japanese port of Aomori, rescued 12 crewmen Friday, Coast Guard spokesman Ed Conlon said all but one were wearing survival exposure wet suits that helped them survive the several hours in 55-degree waters.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Saturday, Nov. 13, the 318th day of 1976. There are 48 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1956, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that segregation of the races in public buses was unconstitutional.

On this date: In 1794, President George Washington sent troops into Pennsylvania to suppress an uprising by frontiersmen — the so-called Whiskey Rebellion.

In 1834, California adopted a state constitution.

In 1918, the Republic of Austria was proclaimed.

In 1941, in World War II, the British aircraft carrier, "Ark Royal," was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean. Only 18 of the crew survived.

In 1942, the two-day naval Battle of Guadalcanal was being fought.

The Japanese lost two battleships, one cruiser, three destroyers, two submarines and 11 cargo vessels or transports.

In 1970, West Germany and Poland agreed on a treaty fixing the Oder-Neisse line as a border.

Ten years ago: Israeli forces swept two miles into Jordan and attacked three towns as jets fought overhead.

Five years ago: A crewman on an Air Canada jetliner used a fire ax to knock out a hijacker and end nearly seven hours of flying back and forth over the U.S. and Canada.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington reached Fort Lee, N.J., after crossing the Hudson river from New York to escape British forces and was informed that he could not expect much help from the New Jersey militia.

Carter's Guest List Huge For 'Modest' Inauguration

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter is inviting "several hundred thousand people" to see him inaugurated in Washington at a ceremony he wants kept "modest" and "democratic," an aide says.

of the aspects of a coronation," said Carter spokesman Rex Granum on Friday. The President-elect desires a "people-oriented" inauguration, he said.

Carter, however, will wear formal clothes and a top hat, ride in the inaugural parade, dance at an inaugural ball and hold receptions for the diplomatic corps and Congress.

Aides said the VIP section of seats at the Capitol for the Jan. 20 ceremony will be smaller than usual, and there will be fewer official receptions and parties. The bleacher seats along Pennsylvania Avenue parade route probably will be free.

Carter doesn't expect everyone he invites to show up, Granum said. "Obviously they can't have several hundred thousand physically at the swearing-in," he said.

Watson and Jordan told reporters afterwards that Carter will not rush into choosing his Cabinet and filling other top government posts. They said they realize the appointments need to be made quickly enough to give the new officials time to take hold of their new duties.

"On the other hand, there's no artificial timetable," Watson said. "What we're talking about is making in two months the decisions that we'll probably have to live with for four years."

That's why they best be good decisions."

The two advisers said Carter will be involved with the most important appointments and is likely to interview several prospects for each Cabinet post. Jordan said Carter will make those decisions "slowly, cautiously and deliberately," as he did in his choice of Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., as running mate.

Both Watson and Jordan called press reports of rivalry between them "nonsense." They said they had worked together before and were prepared to continue doing so.

Meanwhile, members of the Plains Baptist Church which Carter has attended all his life, worried over the decision they will have to make in a church conference Sunday morning on whether or not to admit blacks.

Carter will attend the meeting and has said repeatedly that he favors repeal of a 1965 vote that bars admittance and membership to "Negroes and civil rights leaders." Aides say Carter is optimistic that church members will resolve the issue by making all Baptists eligible for membership, regardless of race.

Conversations with several church members in Plains disclosed that they are concerned about the situation and its potential effects on their church and community but hope it can be resolved without stirring up more bitterness.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Lung Association Sets $62,400 Goal

The Michigan Lung association has set a goal of $62,400 to be raised in its 1976 Christmas Seal campaign in the four-county area of Berrien, Allegan, Cass and Van Buren.

According to an announcement from Dr. Douglas Mack of Centerville, who is heading the Christmas Seal campaign in southwestern Michigan, the goal for contributions in Berrien county is $32,800. In Van Buren and Allegan counties, it has been set at $11,200 each and in Cass, $7,200.

The statewide goal is $800,000. Dr. Mack is chairman of the lung association's southwestern region board. He works as a health officer in the counties of Cass, Branch, Hillsdale and St. Joseph.

Profits from the 1976 Christmas Seal campaign will be used toward the prevention and control of lung disease, Dr. Mack said.

Contributors to Christmas Seals in years past should have already received their 1976 seals in the mail, according to Dr. Mack. Other area residents can expect to receive a sheet of seals by the third week of November.

A donation of an unspecified amount is asked in return for the seals.

Search Continues For Ship Crewmen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — As 14 shipwrecked sailors headed for land aboard two rescue boats today, a Coast Guard cutter headed for the disaster site to search for the 18 crewmen still missing.

One life-jacketed body has been spotted in the stormy Pacific Ocean waters 1,400 miles northwest of Honolulu.

The Hunter picked up two survivors before being driven off by stormy seas, the Coast Guard said. It reportedly headed for Hachino, Japan.

The Shunyo Maru, a Japanese ship, arrived at the scene Friday morning and left in the afternoon without explanation, the Coast Guard said.

The freighter Wisteria, bound for the Japanese port of Aomori, rescued 12 crewmen Friday. Coast Guard spokesman Ed Conlon said all but one were wearing survival exposure wet suits that helped them survive the several hours in 55-degree waters.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Nov. 13, the 318th day of 1976. There are 48 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1956, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that segregation of the races on public buses was unconstitutional.

On this date: In 1794, President George Washington sent troops into Pennsylvania to suppress an uprising by frontiersmen — the so-called Whiskey Rebellion.

In 1834, California adopted a state constitution.

In 1918, the Republic of Austria was proclaimed.

In 1941, in World War II, the British aircraft carrier, "Ark Royal," was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean. Only 18 of the crew survived.

In 1942, the two-day naval Battle of Guadalcanal was being fought. The Japanese lost two battleships, one cruiser, three destroyers, two submarines and 11 cargo vessels or transports.

In 1970, West Germany and Poland agreed on a treaty fixing the Oder-Neisse line as a border.

Ten years ago: Israeli forces swept two miles into Jordan and attacked three towns as jets fought overhead.

Five years ago: A crewman on an Air Canada jetliner used a fire ax to knock out a hijacker and end nearly seven hours of flying back and forth over the U.S. and Canada.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington reached Fort Lee, N.J. after crossing the Hudson river from New York to escape British forces and was informed that he could not expect much help from the New Jersey militia.

FOR LIEUT. GEN. SIDNEY B. BERRY,

Superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy

Is it true you considered resigning after it was decided to admit women to West Point? If so, what changed your mind?—N.D., Detroit, Mich.

● I did briefly consider resigning. Having opposed admitting women, I frankly went through a great deal of soul-searching to determine if I could, in good conscience, continue as Superintendent. The key consideration was West Point's emphasis on training combat leaders for the U.S. Army, and the fact that national policy forbids assignment of women to combat units. However, my attitude demanded re-examination as I observed women soldiers at other Army installations running, repelling from cliffs, crawling under barbed wire, firing weapons and patrolling right along with the men. The outstanding manner in which women cadets of the Class of 1980 have accomplished the tough Cadet Basic Training this summer assuages my concerns.

FOR ALEXANDER M. SCHMIDT, M.D.,

commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration

Do you use any vitamin supplements with your meals?—Pierre Brown, San Marcos, Calif.

● No, I don't. I think most people today get adequate nutrition from food and don't need vitamin pills. Nutrition labeling tells which nutrients are in the food. By checking the label, the consumer can see the food value for a particular product and make wise nutrition choices.

FOR LEE MERIWETHER, star of "Barnaby Jones"

Did you think a lot of yourself while you were Miss America?—E.C., Owensboro, Ky.

● I didn't think so at the time, but I must have. During my "reign," a little boy ran alongside my car in a parade. I was busy taking bows and trying to be gracious and, just as he turned off at his corner, he looked me straight in the eye and said, "My sister is prettier than you." That remark was like being doused with cold water. It shook the ego out of me and put me back where I belonged.

FOR EDITH HEAD, designer

Why are buttons on the right side of men's clothing and on the left side of women's?—Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Dubuque, Iowa

● It's believed that originally all garments fastened from right to left. However, in the early days when men wielded his sword, he invariably drew his weapon with his right hand from the left side. With the garment fastened, the right edge over the left, his quick action was greatly hindered, so buttons were reversed for men.

FOR BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

As Catholics, are we obliged to believe we will be reunited with our loved ones after death?—L. Moran, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

● Not only as Catholics but as Christians we believe that we will be united with our loved ones after death. Heaven is not joy and isolation, but is described as a kingdom, a banquet and a marriage. As Catherine of Siena said: "The saved will have a special participation with those whom they closely loved with deep affection in this world."

FOR JIM McKAY, Olympics sportscaster

Canada, known throughout the world for its hockey ability, participated in some of the Winter Olympics events but was not in the hockey competition. What's the story?—T. E. Zurawic, Midland, Mich.

● Canada refused to participate in the 1976 Winter Olympics hockey competition because of what they called the professionalism of the Soviet Union team. Sweden refused to participate for the same reason.

FOR DONNA FARGO, country-western singer

Are you related to the Wells Fargo people?—B. Dorman, Hartford, Ark.

● No. My real name is Yvonne Vaughn. I heard the name Donna Fargo, liked it and adopted it. I'm not related to the Wells Fargo Express Company, but wouldn't mind if I were! The only resemblance between us is that I've been fortunate enough to get some gold records since I began singing country music.

FOR BARBARA CARTLAND, English novelist

Is it true you've written more than 180 books? What makes your books so popular?—O.E.D., Trenton, N.J.

● To be exact, I've written 187. Why are they so popular? It's hard to say, unless it's a protest against pornography. All my heroines are virgins and "nicely brought up." Light reading, which my books are, should be fun and escapist. My readers like happy endings. I want to make sure they close the book feeling cheerful, not depressed.

FOR RICH LITTLE

Has another mimic ever become angry with you because of an impression you did?—Stephen Banks, Rockland, Mass.

● One night I happened to be coming out of a restaurant at the same time as David Frye, who does a very good Richard Nixon. He was quite upset as he snapped, "Stop doing my Nixon." I was surprised and blurted out, "President Nixon belongs to all of us!"

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Is Joe Namath really that close to his mother, or is it just a publicity stunt?—Jim Corraan, Canton, Ohio

● Rose Namath Szolnoki says her son visits her at least six times a year. If there is an emergency (such as when she had surgery), he's right there. Joe behaves the same way toward his father (his parents were divorced 20 years ago), four brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews. Last year, Mrs. Szolnoki wrote a book, Namath, My Son Joe, and she also acts as Joe's secretary. (He pays her a salary.) She's fed up with all those stories about Joe's wild life. "They're not true," she complains, adding that what Joe likes best is the quiet life—sitting around over snacks and a glass of wine. She hopes he'll stop playing: "Whenever I see him on the field, I'm a nervous wreck. I always worry about his knees." And, like many mothers, she wants her son to settle down soon and marry.

INSIDE THE MIND OF A BRILLIANT CHILD

"Most people have misconceptions about gifted children. They're pictured as being smug, pompous... brainy, obnoxious kids, who prefer a book to a baseball."

By Gloria Hochman

Lisa Stone is a brilliant teenager. Her I.Q. registers 150, which makes her a one in a thousand exception. But, at 13, she doesn't bear much resemblance to the stereotyped, bespectacled recluse usually associated with high intelligence. She's pretty, popular, an excellent gymnast and a respected class leader at her suburban junior high school.

Yet Lisa is a "typical" gifted child. Her mother, Stephanie Stone, says there were clues about her specialness as far back as infancy. "Lisa always seemed precocious, even as a baby. She had an intense look about her whenever someone sang or talked to her, as though she were absorbing every word. She walked at 10 months and spoke in complete sentences when she was 1 year old. She also asked endless questions."

Before Lisa was 18 months old, she had memorized a half-dozen children's books. She could even piece together puzzles designed for 4-year-olds. And when she entered school at age 5, she was reading on a fifth-grade level.

There are two million children just like her across the country. But because of a few unfortunate circumstances, experts in psychology and education say many of them are "deprived, neglected, mistreated and misunderstood."

"Most people have serious misconceptions about the gifted child," says Dr. Bruce Boston, former coordinator of ERIC (Education Resources and Information Center), the clearing house for handicapped and gifted children in Reston, Va. "These children are pictured as being smug, pompous and arrogant—brainy, obnoxious kids, who, by some accident of fate, prefer a book to a baseball."

Nevertheless, many gifted children may be seriously short-changed. Often, they go unrecognized until they have reached kindergarten or first grade. When their special aptitudes and talents are noticed, chances are that little will be done about them. They become victims of what Harold C. Lyon, head of the U.S. Office of Gifted and Talented Education, calls "the cream always rises" myth. He says the faulty reasoning goes like this: "If they are really smart, they'll be able to get along on their own."

"The fact is that gifted children now achieve at a lower level than any other group," bristles Noretta Bingham, Pennsylvania's supervisor for gifted programs. "They waste time and lose their capacity to learn. The greatest loss is in the early years where special programs for the gifted are fewest."

Identifying the gifted child may be the first and most serious challenge. Nora Cohen, coordinator of Philadelphia's program for the academically talented, says that observant parents can often spot giftedness long before the child enters school.

Early speech is a frequent indicator, especially among girls. So is curiosity, a large vocabulary, a love of books, an exceptional memory and the desire to "learn by myself." Many seem to have an uncanny ability to concentrate for long periods of time and sometimes learn to read before they enter school.

Dorothy and Eli Fromm were aware that their son, Richard, now 7, was different. "He began to say words when he was 6 months old," his mother says. "Before long, he was writing the alphabet. # INSIDE THE MIND OF A BRILLIANT CHILD

"Most people have misconceptions about gifted children. They're pictured as being smug, pompous... brainy, obnoxious kids, who prefer a book to a baseball."

By Gloria Hochman

Lisa Stone is a brilliant teenager. Her I.Q. registers 150, which makes her a one-in-a-thousand exception. But, at 13, she doesn't bear much resemblance to the stereotyped, bespectacled recluse usually associated with high intelligence. She's pretty, popular, an excellent gymnast and a respected class leader at her suburban junior high school.

Yet Lisa is a "typical" gifted child. Her mother, Stephanie Stone, says there were clues about her specialness as far back as infancy. "Lisa always seemed precocious, even as a baby. She had an intense look about her whenever someone sang or talked to her, as though she were absorbing every word. She walked at 10 months and spoke in complete sentences when she was 1 year old. She also asked endless questions."

Before Lisa was 18 months old, she had memorized a half-dozen children's books. She could even piece together puzzles designed for 4-year-olds. And when she entered school at age 5, she was reading on a fifth-grade level.

There are two million children just like her across the country. But because of a few unfortunate circumstances, experts in psychology and education say many of them are "deprived, neglected, mistreated and misunderstood."

"Most people have serious misconceptions about the gifted child," says Dr. Bruce Boston, former coordinator of ERIC (Education Resources and Information Center), the clearing house for handicapped and gifted children in Reston, Va. "These children are pictured as being smug, pompous and arrogant—brainy, obnoxious kids, who, by some accident of fate, prefer a book to a baseball."

Nevertheless, many gifted children may be seriously short-changed. Often, they go unrecognized until they have reached kindergarten or first grade. When their special aptitudes and talents are noticed, chances are that little will be done about them. They become victims of what Harold C. Lyon, head of the U.S. Office of Gifted and Talented Education, calls "the cream always rises" myth. He says the faulty reasoning goes like this: "If they are really smart, they'll be able to get along on their own."

"The fact is that gifted children now achieve at a lower level than any other group," bristles Noretta Bingaman, Pennsylvania's supervisor for gifted programs. "They waste time and lose their capacity to learn. The greatest loss is in

Identifying the gifted child may be the first and most serious challenge. Nora Cohen, coordinator of Philadelphia's program for the academically talented, says that observant parents can often spot giftedness long before the child enters school.

No one knows for sure whether these qualities reflect heredity or environment. Parents and the home atmosphere count heavily in stimulating giftedness. What's needed is a strong mother and father who love, appreciate, respect and trust their children and a home where there is harmony and sharing experiences. Playing games, entertaining friends, playing musical instruments and taking trips are especially conducive to intellectual development.

Kay Tomlinson, mother of a 7-year-old gifted daughter, says, "We do a lot together as a family. We play softball and take music lessons. Recently, we reproduced a Colonial weekend during which we shut off our heat, dipped candles, made a fire and dressed in Colonial costumes. We don't think much about it. It's just the way we live."

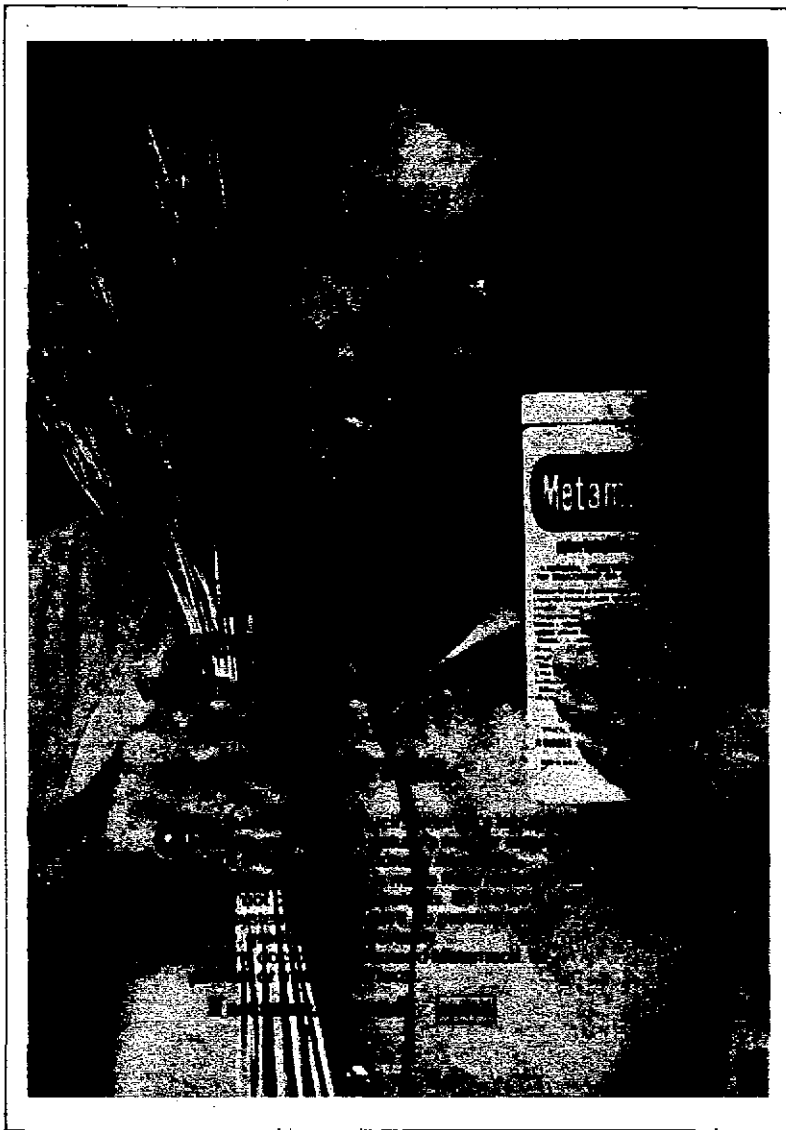

"Gifted children often come from nurturing homes," confirms Ms. Cohen, "and this does not necessarily mean wealthy homes. The parents have some common traits. They are supportive of their children and have encouraged them to learn. They have opened them to a world of experiences. That includes exploring the supermarket and the neighborhood park as well as visiting museums and theaters.

However, parents cannot do the job alone. And tragically, most schools are not equipped to deal with giftedness. Most gifted children are taught in regular classrooms by teachers who do not devote extra effort to them.

"What we do to gifted children is a crime against them and against society," says Ms. Bingaman. "A child comes to first grade reading on a high-school level and he is put into a pre-primer. Most of the day is repetition of things he already knows. The teacher writes him off. She tells him to keep himself busy while she works with the slow learner."

According to Ms. Bingaman, the price is staggering and often irrevocable. "Some children become so bored that they become behavior problems. Others sit back and daydream, and their minds get lazy. They become under-achievers. Their gifted potential slowly shrivels until it is gone forever. And there is no way of knowing how many gifted children are lost in the system."

Ruth Kelly, mother of a 15-year-old boy who is creatively gifted—a divergent thinker with an I.Q. of 146—agrees. "From the time Gary was a toddler, we knew he was unique," she says. "A pencil was not just for writing. Food was not just for eating. Every piece of meat looked like a different country. When he learned how to walk down the steps, he never walked like other children. One step was a lake, and he had to swim across it. Another step was a mountain, and he had to march over it. He would never be satisfied with one answer to a question. And his room was unbelievable. There was no place for him to sleep. One week, he turned it into a cave. The next week, it was a railroad station.

"School was a disaster for Gary. It wasn't that he broke rules, but he couldn't sit still, and the teachers couldn't cope with his unconventional mind. He became labeled a weirdo, and before long, he stopped trying. His drive, initiative and creativity were finally crushed. Today he wants to be exactly like everyone else. He wouldn't dare write a poem or paint a picture."

Schools that do have special programs for the gifted employ a number of techniques (from token programs to full-time curriculum) that have become the focus of scorching debate. Which is better—acceleration, enrichment, resource rooms, early admissions? Must teachers of the gifted have special training? Does skipping a grade help or hurt?

There are no clear-cut answers. It is felt, however, that traditional treatment of gifted youngsters—letting them skip a grade level or giving them more work with the theory that "more is better"—is not adequate or beneficial. Gifted children need to have their thinking processes developed and need to learn the skills necessary for independent learning and research.

It is generally agreed that the type of teachers who work with the gifted is crucial. They must be secure enough and mature enough not to be threatened by children who are often "one up on them." They must also be flexible and must love and understand children.

Educators point out that parents have been significant in developing programs for the gifted. Many states offer parents the right of due process (a hearing by its state board of education) if they are not satisfied with the program offered by their child's school.

"Only if parents exercise this right and insist on better education for their children, will programs for the gifted improve," advises Ms. Bingaman.

"It is not only the future of the gifted child that is at stake," emphasizes one educator. "The future of the whole country depends on this slender group of youngsters. They are our scientists, lawyers, artists, doctors. They are the ones who have the power to solve the menacing problems of our country. It is a question of survival. You might say that our society is in a lifeboat and that it is going to be up to these people to pull the oars."

Yes, I'm sensitive, especially to rudeness—to having directors manipulate me, push me around and treat me like a child. But I'm also a very strong person. There is strength in having feelings and not cutting them off."

Reminded of her mercurial reputation, Faye insists she was temperamental only in the "Chinatown" filming. Because I took everything personally, I was constantly fighting back and screaming."

She found the situation so upsetting that she spent three months analyzing it and finally concluded that Polanski did not, in fact, dislike her, but was harsh because he was under great pressure. From the "Chinatown" experience, Faye believes, "I've come to realize it is my responsibility to help relieve tension and create a pleasant atmosphere on a set."

To appear lean and tense for "Bonnie and Clyde," she went on a grim diet of grapefruit and hard-boiled eggs and staggered about with sand weights attached to her wrists and waist. # At 231 pounds, I thought I'd be fat for life. Then I lost 111 pounds.

By Barbara Koehn—as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

The one thing in my life I'd always wanted to do was to become a nurse. But I did three other things first. I got married, had children, and ate myself up to 231 pounds.

Putting on that weight was quite easy for me. Each morning, I simply opened my mouth when I opened my eyes and didn't stop eating until I went to bed. Bread, pizzas, spaghetti, submarine sandwiches, pop, candy—I ate everything in sight.

By the time my first son was born, I'd gone from 140 to 194 pounds, which made it a hard birth. I was in labor for a day and a half.

When I went home from the hospital, I immediately made up my mind to stop gorging myself and lose weight. And so I began endless efforts with crash diets, reducing pills, weekly diet sessions and just plain willpower to take off all those extra pounds.

The result? After two more children, I was heavier than ever. In fact, when I finally went into training, I wore the biggest uniform on the floor—24½. No wonder my supervisor in obstetrics wouldn't let me teach nutrition to new mothers. After all, how could I teach others what I hadn't learned myself.

Of course, as a nurse, I should have known better than to let my appetite run wild. But I was human and had my weaknesses. Like when I prepared meals for my children and husband, I ate extra things and always what I knew I shouldn't.

Then one day, I watched an operation on an extremely heavy woman. She had so many layers of fat, it's a wonder she hadn't had a heart attack. After seeing her, I really got serious about my own weight problem. I ruled out diet pills, however, as they'd always made me nervous in the past. Yet I was desperate enough to consider an intestinal bypass. But I gave up that and settled on the Ayds plan. It just seemed like such a sensible way to lose weight—without drugs. Besides, I'd read that Ayds® Reducing Plan Candy contains vitamins and minerals, so I bought a box at our local store in Huntington Woods, MI.

I took one or two Ayds 15 minutes before meals with a hot drink and they really helped satisfy my appetite. I found myself eating less without any strain. Naturally, I took in fewer calories, so I lost weight.

Thanks to the Ayds plan, I actually lost 111 pounds and all my bad eating habits. I just couldn't have been happier, especially since I knew I wouldn't have to be fat for the rest of my life.

healthy. Then it's hard for me to leave the character at the stage door."

Faye's identification with her characters can bring her flashes of insight into her own life. In the N.B.C. film, for instance, Aimee McPherson rebels against her mother, yet at the end yields to her influence. "Although she was totally dominated by her mother and I wasn't," explains Faye, "this scene struck a common chord, and I realized more fully the extent of my mother's influence on me."

Faye was born about 35 years ago in Bascora, Fla. Because her father was a career Army man, they lived for short periods in Arkansas, Utah, Texas and Germany, and Faye acquired an "appetite for adventure and change but not for forming strong ties." A beautiful child, Faye was fussed over and pampered endlessly, dressed up like Shirley Temple and provided with ballet, tap, piano and voice lessons. Faye credits her mother with giving her the "gift of aspiration. She didn't try to turn me into the typical Southern belle, but made me believe that by working hard and applying myself I could excel in anything I chose and be more than just a wife or mother. And she instilled in me the American dream—that if you have two cars in the garage, you are successful and therefore happy."

Fired with ambition, Faye studied drama at Boston University and then in New York and pursued success obsessively. It arrived quickly, after Faye overcame her one major obstacle: she could not do deeply emotional scenes because she could not cry on stage. Coach Elia Kazan convinced her "that you should not be ashamed to show your feelings; that's your identity." Faye immediately burst into tears and achieved a breakthrough. After a few Broadway parts, she was given a crack at films. Her third one, "Bonnie and Clyde," made Faye an overnight star and hiked her salary from $30,000

But success was disappointing. "It was so empty," she says bluntly. "Sure, it gave me some benefits, like the freedom to choose my own films and working conditions. But I was the same person and not very happy because I had been neglecting my personal life."

Bolstered by psychoanalysis, which helped her sort out the real Faye from Faye the Movie Star, she flung herself into a series of relationships. And in doing so she gave gossip columnists a field day, especially during her affair with Marcello Mastroianni, which ended after a heated argument in an Italian hotel room. About these blonde glamour-girl days, Faye says reflectively, "None of these relationships was fulfilling. I think I was too dependent on men and afraid they would abandon me, probably because my parents were divorced when I was 13, and I missed having a father around."

Meanwhile Faye's career stagnated as she repeatedly chose films that were neither critical nor box-office successes.

With "Chinatown" came the resurrection of her screen career. And at about the same time, with her marriage to Peter Wolf, lead singer with the J. Geils Band, she filled the void in her personal life. "I don't think anyone expected me to get married," she says. "Even my father-in-law kidded, 'Aren't you the rebellious one?' The truth is I wasn't against marriage. I waited until I was 34 because I was afraid to make the mistake my parents did and wanted to be sure I picked just the right man."

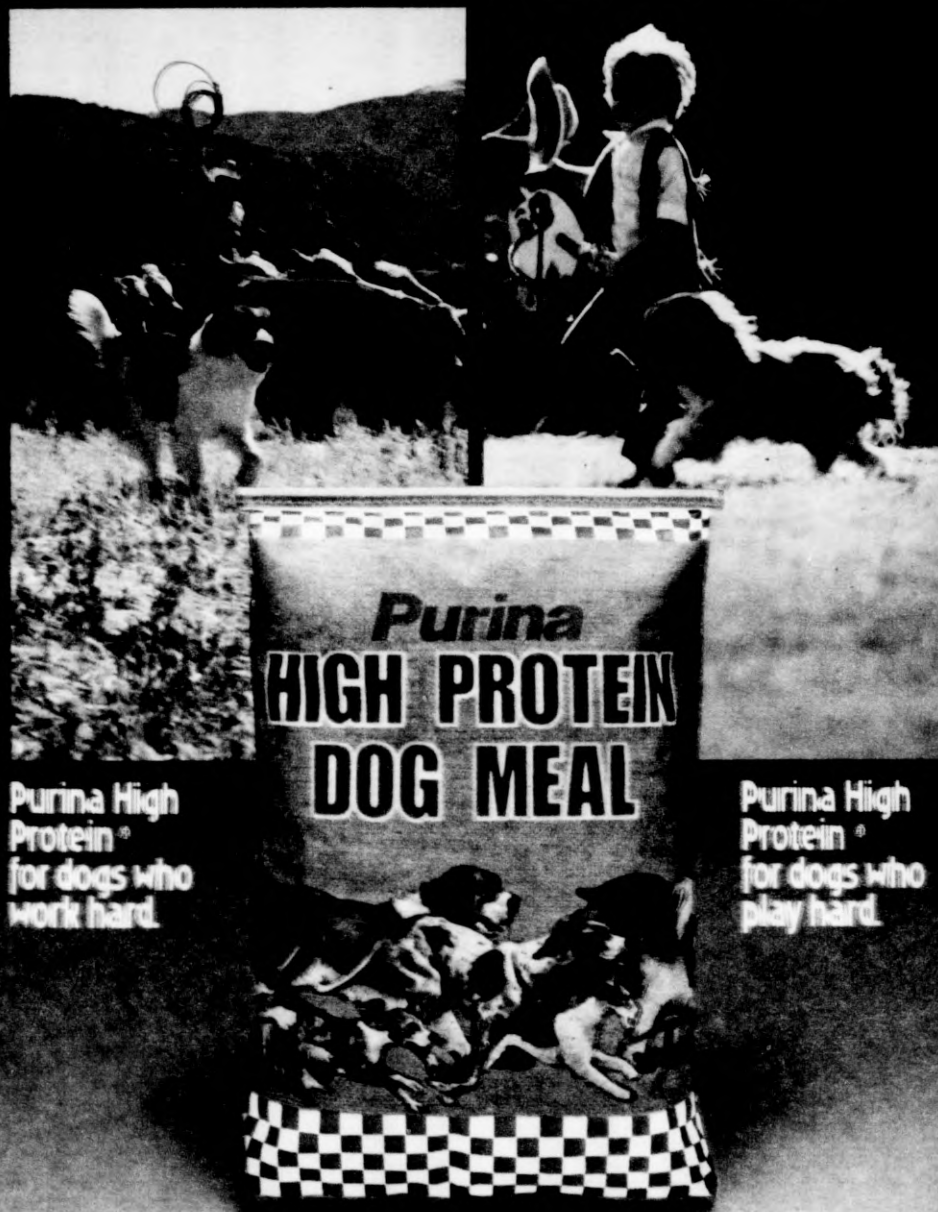

With Peter, who is a few years her junior, Faye is convinced she has found Mr. Right. "I've become much more self-sufficient. And Peter is a very mature man with a healthy ego. He doesn't feel threatened by my work, although I'm sure it helps that he is a singer rather than an actor."

After years of emotional floundering, Faye feels secure enough in her marriage to contemplate starting a family. "I would definitely like to have a child in the next couple of years," she says softly. "And I don't delude myself—I know it's the biggest responsibility I could undertake and would involve curbing my acting."

Faye's voice contains a note of achievement. And when she vows not to do anything to jeopardize her marriage, one senses that "crazy" Faye has been evolving into a more level-headed woman who's certainly pointing herself into the right direction.

For example, a recent report from the U.S. Department of Commerce (1998) indicates that the Internet is being used more by the affluent than the poor, and that the digital divide is widening.

Handsome "cacher" designed for each new issue, strikingly executed by steel engravings of the engraver.

Your own name and address is on every First Day Cover and each is mailed directly to your own home.

The official "First Day of Issue" cancellation.

Official U.S. commemorative postage stamp.

At a surprisingly modest cost, you can receive beautiful First Day Covers for each new commemorative stamp issue of the United States.

The United States regularly honors the important men, events and places in its history through the issuance of official U.S. commemorative postage stamps. When a new stamp is to be issued, one, and only one, post office is designated to provide the official "First Day" cancellation. The specially designed envelope bearing the new stamp, cancelled with the exact date of first issue of the officially designated post office, is a First Day Cover.

First Day Covers are fascinating collectors' items. As you can well imagine, the combination of an historic stamp, cancelled with the "First Day of Issue" postmark of the officially designated post office on a specially designed envelope, results in a collector's item of the first order. One that has been prized by collectors like Dwight D. Eisenhower, George C. Marshall and Franklin D. Roosevelt, plus others with the foresight to preserve yesterday and today for tomorrow.

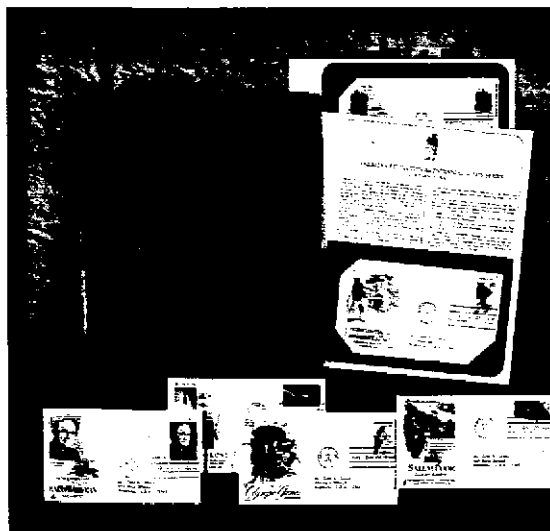

The best time to obtain these prized collectors' items is when they are issued. This is now made easier than ever by the Postal Commemorative Society.

First Day Covers combine art and history in a tribute to our American heritage. Eisenhower . . . the Battle of Bunker Hill . . . the writing of the Star-Spangled Banner . . . the landing of astronauts on the moon . . . such are the subjects chosen by the United States for national honor on commemorative postage stamps.

The post office chosen for a first day of issue usually bears particular significance to the subject commemorated. For example, a first day cover of the 1976 Benjamin Franklin stamp bears the "First Day of Issue" postmark of Philadelphia, Pa.

The nation's leading artists and designers are called upon to portray the subjects chosen. Such commissions naturally are highly prized, and bring forth the best efforts of the artists involved.

Membership in the Postal Commemorative Society makes it possible to easily collect First Day Covers as they are issued. The Society will guarantee you receiving a personally ad-

- 4 acorn squash (1½-2 lbs. each)
- Boiling, salted water
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 2 tablespoons Vermont maple or maple-blended syrup

TONI'S TOSTADAS— A Meal That's Fit For the Captain's Table

Toni Tennille and Daryl Dragon, starring in ABC-TV's new show, "The Captain and Tennille," are strict vegetarians. Their pet bulldogs, following suit, are semivegetarians.

Toni Tennille and the Captain with one of their pets—feeling just great as vegetarians.

By the Captain and Tennille

In conversation with Helen Dorsey

Daryl Dragon and Toni Tennille, TV's new comedy team, claim to be "lacto-vegetarians"—meaning they eat plenty of dairy products, such as cheese, milk and eggs and lots of fresh vegetables. They've even gone so far as to make semivegetarians out of their pet bulldogs, Elizabeth and Broderick (named after actor Broderick Crawford).

DARYL: I remember the time I became a vegetarian: It was after I discovered I had gout, and the doctor, telling me not to worry, prescribed special pills. Somehow, that didn't seem quite right, so I began studying different types of diets. I was impressed by some of the things I read about eating natural foods and their effects on the body, and I decided to give the natural foods regimen a try (with my doctor's blessing). I've dropped certain things from my diet, foods containing refined flour, sugar and additives, for instance. But I eat much like people did a century ago—and we can't get over how great we feel!

TONI: We like vegetables steamed or lightly sautéed, huge salads laden with protein-rich sunflower seeds or pumpkin seeds, bits of cheese, hard-cooked eggs and herbs. I find I can whip up meals—like tacos or tostadas—in a hurry, and still please nonvegetarian friends who come for dinner. Guacamole is a favorite of ours because we love avocados, and lentils spiced with cumin and chili powder make a terrific hearty filling.

How to play the piano despite years of lessons

... and whether or not you've had lessons, an amazing breakthrough shows you how ... to make your own music easily without wasting time on scales and exercises
... to sit down immediately and play popular songs, folk songs, hymns, Christmas carols, rock, swing, jazz, you name it

Of Course You Can Be Successful

Imagine sitting down at the piano and having fun making music—popular songs, folk songs, hymns, Christmas carols, swing, jazz, whatever you like—as easily as you “make” music with your radio, tape recorder or record player. You can! And it's even easier than you ever dreamed possible.

Believe it or not, you have within you a unique mechanism that enables you to make music—immediately. This revolutionary new approach shows you how to release this mechanism whether you've had years of lessons (and still can't play) or have never dared touch the piano before. As soon as you sit down, you'll be making music—show tunes, popular songs, old favorites, hymns, carols, folk songs and more will come to you almost as if by magic! And we're so certain this instant approach works, we guarantee you'll see results right away without risking a cent!

Unlocking the Secret

Ward Cannel is an award winning journalist and nonmusician. He was mystified by the fact that he could be given an assignment to write about the atomic bomb, and within three weeks understand its structure. But over 30 million people own a far less complicated instrument, the piano, and still can't play it (often after years of study). Why? His investigation led him to discoveries that enabled him to play the piano himself—something he had never been able to do before—and show you how to do it, too!

Together with Fred Marx, a conservatory trained professional musician and teacher who was also dissatisfied with traditional training—scales, exercises, practicing, rote learning—they tackled the mystery. And what they found is startling:

Most people think they've had years of music lessons when what they've really had is years of instrument lessons—years of rote learning and touch-typing at the keyboard. Often, that approach can literally block your natural ability to make music.

But there is in your mind a childishly simple mechanism which permits you to make music easily, automatically. It's been making music for you since you were born (witness the fact that babies recognize lullabies long before they can make any sense out of words or sentences.)

The secret of this new approach will show you how to release what you already know and thus connect your fingers to your mind. In other words, what you have known instinctively all along will become what you can do easily and naturally. You'll go directly to any keyboard and make music right from the start!

End intimidation of scales, exercises forever

Once you see how easy it is to use something you've always known intuitively, you'll apply that knowledge on the keyboard. Immediately! Whether you're six or sixty, you'll be creating your own music with the tunes you like best, making much more music than the sheet music provides, improvising when you want to, and above all, you'll be expressing yourself through the magic of music.

You'll see the few simple facts (that when put together are called music. You'll see the almost magical formula which makes the basic chord. You'll see the skeleton that holds all music together ... a simple, basic structure you will build on your own piano in a matter of days.

For the first time you'll see what seem to be the mysterious minor, diminished and augmented chords suddenly laid out for easy understanding and use.

In the same way, you'll be using the four-note chords as easily as you use a knife and fork. And suddenly you'll see that arpeggios, counter-melodies, cocktail music and boleros are all the simple basic skeleton of music dressed in different ways ... this and much, much more!

Instead of the torture of sitting down to practice and rote learning, you'll open whole new worlds of music each time you touch the keys. In short, you'll be making music—with both hands—from start.

Even if You've Never Had Any Piano Lessons

You, too, can be making music at the keyboard in almost no time at all. This approach shows you how music is made so that you can make your own. All you have to know is the names of the lines and spaces of the treble clef. And you probably know that and much, much more if you've ever fooled around with the guitar, the recorder, the violin, the electric organ, a band instrument, or any musical instrument at all.

No Risk Guarantee ...

Experience the joy—to say nothing of the admiration and recognition—of being able to make your own music wherever, whenever you want it. Turn that “black elephant” that's been sitting in your home gathering dust for years into the instrument for making music this was designed to be. Really get to know music (even if your goal is just to broaden your knowledge about the way music is made). And, above all, sit down and play the piano with both hands right away. Take advantage of this unique no risk offer. Order now, and whether you've studied for years (no matter how long ago), or whether you've never had a lesson in your life, YOU ARE GOING TO PLAY THE PIANO, AND LOVE EVERY MOMENT OF IT RIGHT AWAY! You must agree that it is all we promise or you can return immediately for full money back (except postage and handling).

You've been brainwashed

Here are some myths, half truths and obsolete beliefs that keep most people from ever trying to play the piano:

1. When it comes to music, either you have it or you don't. If you have it, you can make music. If you don't you can't. WRONG.
2. In order to make music, you have to know your scales and do your exercises fluently. It takes a year at the least—and closer to two—before your study pays off and you are prepared to play the piano. There are no shortcuts. WRONG.
3. Music is a very complicated study filled with rules and regulations which only a genius can understand. WRONG!

The truth is that every human being possesses the ability to make music. You were born with that power and now you are about to set it free! Now read how easy it is to play all the music you want to play in this startlingly simple new way to learn in just minutes a day!

Here are just a few of the great pieces You'll be making music with:

All Through the Day • If Ever I Would Leave You • Blueberry Hill • Look To The Rainbow • Close As Pages In A Book • (Our) Love Is Here To Stay • A Cottage For Sale • September Song • Eleanor • Show Me • Everything's Coming Up Roses • Some Enchanted Evening • Fanny • Someday I'll Find You • Gigi • Spellbound Concerto • Harbor Lights • This Can't Be Love • Haunted Heart • This Nearly Was Mine • How High The Moon • There's A Small Hotel • I Could Write A Book • True Love • I Can Dream, Can't I? • Try To Remember • I Love Paris • Where Or When • I'll Follow My Secret Heart • And More!

And that's just the beginning. You'll be playing semi-classics, old favorites, hymns, Christmas carols, folk songs—in fact practically anything you can think of but never dared dream you could play before.

Free! Big Extra Bonus

Order now, get this big, extra bonus:

excellent mainstay. They're rich in protein, inexpensive and versatile. You can use them in casseroles, with rice and vegetables, with eggs or in hot salads tossed with a vinegar-herb dressing. You can even team lentils with barley and vegetables in a lentil loaf made from cooked mashed lentils, oatmeal, soy grits, chopped nuts, vegetables and beaten egg. Oven-bake it like a meat loaf and serve it with tomato sauce. Now that's great eating!

Here's a vegetarian dish to try on nonvegetarian friends: a hot tortilla topped with Lentil and Guacamole Filling and a dollop of sour cream. Garnish with tomatoes.

TONI'S TOSTADAS

- 8 corn tortillas*
Safflower oil
1 head romaine lettuce, shredded (plus additional leaves for garnish)
Lentil Filling (recipe follows)
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
Guacamole Filling (recipe follows)
2 small tomatoes, cut in segments, or cherry tomatoes, halved
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup chopped green onion

1. Sauté tortillas in oil until crisp, turning once. Drain on paper towels. Place on cookie sheet in warm oven.
2. To assemble: Place lettuce leaves on individual serving plates.

Makes 8 hearty tostadas

*Corn tortillas are made without preservatives and are available in most supermarkets.

- Lentil Filling:

TONI'S TOSTADAS—

excellent mainstay. They're rich in protein, inexpensive and versatile. You can use them in casseroles, with rice and vegetables, with eggs or in hot salads tossed with a vinegar-herb dressing. You can even team lentils with barley and vegetables in a lentil loaf made from cooked mashed lentils, oatmeal, soy grits, chopped nuts, vegetables and beaten egg. Oven-bake it like a meat loaf and serve it with tomato sauce. Now that's great eating!

Here's a vegetarian dish to try on nonvegetarian friends: a hot tortilla topped with Lentil and Guacamole Filling and a dollop of sour cream. Garnish with tomatoes.

TONI'S TOSTADAS

- 8 corn tortillas*
- Safflower oil
- 1 head romaine lettuce, shredded (plus additional leaves for garnish)
- Lentil Filling (recipe follows)
- 1 cup grated cheddar cheese
- Guacamole Filling (recipe follows)
- 2 small tomatoes, cut in segments, or cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup chopped green onion

1. Sauté tortillas in oil until crisp, turning once. Drain on paper towels. Place on cookie sheet in warm oven.
2. To assemble: Place lettuce leaves on individual serving plates.
3. Top with tortillas. Spread Lentil Filling on each tortilla and top with generous layers of lettuce, cheese, Guacamole Filling, tomatoes and sour cream. Garnish with chopped green onions and serve at once.

Makes 8 hearty tostadas

*Corn tortillas are made without preservatives and are available in most supermarkets.

- Lentil Filling:
- 1 1/2 cups dried lentils
  - 3 1/2 cups water
  - 1 large bay leaf
  - 1 small onion, peeled and stuck with 2 whole cloves
  - 1 large stalk celery, chopped
  - Pinch of dried thyme
  - 1/2 teaspoon sea salt
  - 1 clove pressed garlic
  - 1 teaspoon chili powder (or less)
  - Dash ground cumin
  - Salt to taste
  - Freshly ground black pepper to taste

1. Rinse lentils well in cold water. Add to saucepan with water, bay leaf, onion, celery, thyme and salt. Cover and bring to a quick boil. Reduce heat and cook, covered, until lentils are tender.
2. Drain off surplus liquid, reserving to flavor soup or vegetables. Discard herbs and vegetables. Mash lentils with fork. Add garlic, chili powder, cumin, salt and pepper.

Makes 6 cups

- Guacamole Filling:
- 2 ripe avocados
  - 2 tablespoons fresh lemon or lime juice
  - 1 ripe tomato, chopped
  - 2 green chilies, chopped
  - Few drops pressed garlic
  - Sea salt to taste
  - Dash Tabasco to taste, optional

1. Cut avocados lengthwise into halves and remove seeds and skin. Mash avocados with fork and blend in lemon or lime juice.
2. Stir in tomato and chilies. Add garlic, salt and Tabasco to taste.

PEOPLE QUIZ / By John E. Gibson

"Do people in a lower-income bracket with fewer material possessions have more friends?"

Is It Better to Be Rich?

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Rich people are happier than the nonrich.
2. Rich people get all the lucky breaks.
3. Rich people's teeth don't last as long as other people's do.
4. How much pain you feel when you hurt yourself is likely to depend on your socio-economic status.
5. People in a lower-income bracket may have fewer material possessions than the more affluent, but they have more friends.

ANSWERS

1. False. Consensus of studies indicates that striving toward happiness—which is popularly thought of in terms of material success—is one of the most fundamental drives characterizing human life. And when, as so frequently happens, material success fails to bring the anticipated happiness, disillusionment and frustration result. Which is why many people are rich, bored and unhappy. And it's interesting to note in this connection that in psychological studies where men and women have been asked to name the time in their life when they were happiest and had the most zest for living, most named the years when the going was the toughest, when they had to struggle to make ends meet.
2. False. They don't get all of them by any means. If a person is in a situation in which something goes wrong with his car and he needs assistance, he's more likely to get a helping hand from a passer-by if he gives the appearance of not being very prosperous than if he looks like he's "got it made." For example, Florida State University investigators conducted an interesting experiment. Throughout an entire week of evenings they left a car, with the headlights on and the driver's window rolled down, parked in a downtown shopping center. And "the affluence of the owner was indicated by using either a 1974 gold Eldorado or a 1971 gray Mustang (high- and moderate-priced cars, respectively)." Public reaction—in terms of helpfulness and concern or indifference—is eloquently indicated by the results, reported as follows: the lights of the Mustang were turned off over twice as often (82 percent of the observation periods) as were the lights of the Eldorado (39 percent of the time).
3. True—as evidenced by the findings from a 10-state, tooth-by-tooth analysis of 10,000 young people, conducted by a University of Michigan research group. Results of the study indicated that malnutrition and low resistance to tooth decay did not show up among the least affluent but rather "among the more pampered youth. This was apparently the result of overindulgence in the wrong kind of food and poor eating habits." As the investigators note in their report to the International Association for Dental Research, it is reasonable to assume that frequency of contact with food—hovering around the pantry, constantly nibbling—may be the real culprit responsible for the higher tooth-decay rates among children from more affluent families.

4. True. Psychological research shows that pain thresholds vary with the individual—ranging from those who are comparatively insensitive to pain, to those who "hurt" at the slightest provocation. In studying socio-economic status and pain sensitivity, a dolometer was used to measure pain thresholds of 170 subjects from various walks of life, ranging in age from 12 to 83. Subjects were divided into two groups: those whose income and social status were in the higher-than-average brackets and those in the middle- or less-advantaged classes. Findings: pain thresholds of the higher socio-economic group were found to be much higher than the other group. That is to say, they were appreciably less sensitive to pain. It's suggested that a person's early experiences and general upbringing may predispose him "to react in certain ways to hurtful stimuli."
5. False. Sociological studies show that people in the higher-income brackets have more friends, are more social-minded, more neighborly and more active in clubs and organizations than the less well-to-do. It was found that "the number of close friends increases with the number of organizations with which membership is held." It's suggested that people in the lesser socio-economic brackets average fewer friends for a number of reasons: the struggle to make a living allows them less time for socializing; greater fatigue from harder physical exertion at work often leaves them too tired to go out; and there is often a lack of facilities for entertaining guests.

Observations

Dear bicentennial baby: Want to celebrate the tricentennial? You can improve the odds of living to 2076 if you:

- Get shots for preventable childhood diseases, such as measles and rubella. Incredibly, about one-third of all American children still are not immunized against these two serious ailments.
- Don't smoke. Despite warnings of lung cancer, heart trouble, and emphysema, cigarette consumption has risen by 4.8 billion packs since 1964, the year of the Surgeon General's report on the threat to health.
- Fasten your seat belt and slow down to 55 mph. The National Safety Council estimates that if all passenger car occupants wore seat belts at all times, 12,000 fatalities could be prevented annually. In addition, lower speed limits have saved some 20,000 lives in just three years.
- Watch what you eat. You can reduce the risk of heart disease and other ailments with a sensible diet, low in substances like animal fats.

By 2076, solar energy, nuclear fusion and other exotic energy sources will brighten your world. But you can improve the odds of living well until then if you conserve today's energy supplies. And support the search for more domestic oil and gas off America's coasts, plus the development of America's coal resources.

"CAN WE SEE WHERE YOU KEEP THE RED TAPE?"

Inscrutable Americans. We find it indeed mysterious that America, now dependent on overseas sources for 40% of its crude oil, delays so long in developing alternate energy sources. In Japan, for example, it requires only six years to bring a nuclear power plant from drawing board to operation, while in the U.S. it takes ten years.

Free speech. "Welcome to the wonderful world of toll free numbers!" exults the Toll Free Digest. So far this year, over 300,000 copies of the $2 Digest have been sold. It's a directory of 2,500 or so "800" telephone numbers, mostly in the travel and leisure fields, that people can call long distance without charge.

Interested in coin collecting, or Chinese acupuncture? Need some steel? Want to join the Army, Navy, Air Force? How about the Peace Corps? Need help with a drinking problem? Or to track a runaway youngster? Toll free numbers can assist in all these areas, and more. In fact, the phone company has signed up 70,000 customers for toll free lines in less than ten years.

The Digest can be purchased from the Toll Free Digest Company, Inc., Box 800, Claverack, N.Y. 12513. One more thing: Our Mobil Travel Guides also list a couple of "800" numbers, just so travelers can be sure of a bed at the end of a day's trip. Try 800-323-1776 (800-942-8888 for Illinois only) for instant hotel/motel room reservations 24 hours a day. And sleep well.

PEOPLE AND YOU

Cranky Dads: A New Solution

Dad's been hard to live with lately. He refuses to help the children with their homework, he slams the table with his fist when someone in the family crosses him—he's just plain cranky. Could be job problems, health, a lot of things. Then again, it could be the kind of TV programs he's been watching. For years, psychiatrists have suspected that adults are as susceptible as children to TV's up or down mood-effects. Recently psychiatrist Roderic Gorney of U.C.L.A. and two associates tested the theory, not in a laboratory but in people's homes. One group of volunteers was assigned a steady diet of TV violence. Another group was ordered to stick to "helpful" programs like "Medical Center," "Little House on the Prairie," "Lucas Tanner." Group No. 3 was assigned light entertainment; group No. 4, a mix of helpful and violent programs, and group No. 5 received complete freedom to choose what it wished. The viewers then recorded their feelings. Their wives were independently interviewed about their husbands' behavior during the TV test period. The men who viewed helpful programs reported a noticeable drop in their aggressive feelings as the week of the experiment progressed. The violence watchers reported no such relief. Most important, the wives declared that group No. 1, the violence-viewing men, was the crankiest and most antagonistic. Of all five groups, the viewers of "helpful" programs turned out to be the easiest to live with. You might want to try a little experiment of your own and see whether, in your house, less TV violence produces fewer cranky people.

JOBMANSHIP

Asking for That Raise

You're unhappy about your pay and you've made up your mind to say something. To increase your chances for success, try to look at yourself, your employer and your bargaining position as the boss will. Automation, a business-engineering publication, recently produced a major report on salaries. Its conclusions would apply to anyone in any job. Things to consider: 1) Are you really worth a raise? Face the fact that a particular job is worth only so much to an employer. Have you already reached the upper pay limit for that work? "Routine paper-shuffling simply does not command the salary paid for stomach-churning duties on the firing line." 2) How's business, and has your company been growing? If the answer is, "Business is great and we have been growing," it's sensible for you to expect to share the success. But many people ignore their employer's financial condition and plow ahead with their demands. If the company is having a rough time or has hit a stagnant period, is it realistic for you to expect your personal income to be boosted? 3) Have your duties and responsibilities increased since your last raise? Any significant added duty is a specific extra contribution you can mention when asking for a raise. 4) Has your employer fallen into the careless habit of exploiting willing, productive employees (you, for instance) and handing out equal pay for distinctly unequal performance? If so, you may have a strong case if you handle it properly. In a quiet talk with the boss, present yourself "as the earnest employee simply making a reasonable inquiry." Have a well-thought-out list of your contributions to the organization and put forth your case pleasantly. Do not appear indignant. And never issue threats or ultimatums—they may turn the discussion away from salary and direct it toward talk of a mutually agreeable termination date.

Talking 'Patty Prayer' Doll

Kneels and says her bedtime prayer!

Nothing to wind up—no string to pull.
Whenever you want her to she says:

*"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep.
If I should die before I wake,
I pray the Lord my soul to take.
Bless Mommy... and Daddy, and make me a good girl, Amen."*

Just press her tummy and she says the children's bedtime prayer in her own sweet voice. Almost 20 inches tall, she's soft and cuddly in a silken nylon nightie. Under her nightie, her arms and legs are cloth covered foam. Hands and feet are soft washable vinyl—her beautiful lifelike hair is combed and styled. Patty's delightful voice comes from a miniature record player in her tummy. Open the zipper on her back to turn the record over and she sings "Brother John"! Operates on a single penlight battery (included). Money back refund if you (and your favorite little girl) are not perfectly delighted.

MONEY

Talking to Kids About Family Finances

"We never talk about money in front of the children," some parents proudly say. But according to experts this may be one of the biggest mistakes you can make. Parents usually give three main reasons why they try to shield youngsters from the financial facts of life:

- 1) We don't want them to know how much (or how little) money we have. "Nonsense!" says New York psychotherapist Louis Ormont. "Any reasonably clever youngster can figure that out by comparing his family's lifestyle to that of his friends' families. Keeping the facts secret only tends to create suspicion or anxiety. If parents try to conceal their prosperity, a youngster may develop guilt about being well-off. If parents try to pretend they aren't poor, a youngster may come to feel that being poor is somehow shameful. 2) We don't want our children to know that we have arguments over money. The kids will probably know anyway—especially if parents conduct their squabbles in hushed whispers behind closed doors. And Houston therapist Donald Williamson observes that youngsters can benefit from seeing how parents work out their conflicts: "Negotiation that leads to resolution is a fantastic learning experience for children," he says. 3) Children don't understand about money problems and decisions, so why confuse them? Well, as long as family finances are kept under cover, children never will understand. And they'll continue to be confused, perhaps, when they grow up and have their own money decisions to face. None of this means children must be given a detailed picture of a family's financial situation or a dollars-and-cents balance sheet. But they should have a broad outline of the family's financial picture so they can comprehend questions that are related to their own experiences—such as what kind of vacation to take, how much to spend on family Christmas gifts and so on.

LAUGHS

As a result of a bitter argument, husband and wife were not speaking to each other. Upon retiring for the night, the husband handed his wife a terse note which read: "Call me at seven in the morning."

When he awoke, it was nine. As he hurried to dress, he noticed a note beside his own: "It's seven."

—Anne Dirkmann

A Czechoslovakian who had just arrived in New York City was having trouble with his eyes. He went to an ophthalmologist who pointed to a chart and asked, "Can you read the bottom line?"

"Read it?" cried the Czech. "Why I know him!"

While rummaging through his attic, a man found a shoe-repair ticket that was nine years old. Assuming that he had nothing to lose, he went to the shop and presented the ticket to the proprietor, who reluctantly began a search for the unclaimed shoes. "Well," asked the customer, "did you find the shoes?"

"Yes," replied the shop owner. "They'll be ready tomorrow."

THE ART OF LIVING— AND STAYING YOUNG

A sage once wrote: "You are as young as your hope, as old as your despair."

By John Cameron Swayze

George Bernard Shaw once said that if the other planets are inhabited then the world must be their lunatic asylum. I don't go that far. It's a troubled place, but I still think it's a wonderful world for those of us who freely practice the art of living. And it is an art. I think to practice it successfully you should be conscious of certain helpful qualities.

Consider quick thinking and the art of the apt retort. I mean like Al Smith had them. In his day, politicians faced the public in person, there wasn't any television and not much of what he was pleased to call the "radio." Smith was on the platform haranguing a crowd one day when a heckler shouted, "Tell 'em all you know, Al, it won't take long." Smith scarcely paused for breath as he shouted back, "I'll tell 'em all we both know—it won't take any longer."

Somehow you don't expect the same sort of thing from an industrial tycoon. But Detroit auto magnate Walter Chrysler had the gift. He lost a ten-dollar bet to a friend one time. As Chrysler gave him a ten-dollar bill, the friend said, "You know, Walter, I'm going to give this to my grandson. He'll frame it." "You mean he won't spend it?" asked Chrysler. "No indeed, he'll want it as a souvenir," said the friend. "In that case," said Chrysler, grabbing the bill, "I'll just send him a check."

A refusal to submit to old age is, I think, important beyond exaggeration. That boogeyman, Old Age, is a pet peeve of mine. Look at Pablo Casals. He continued giving concerts into his nineties, and he practiced every day. Someone asked him why, and he said, "Because I think I'm making progress." That's the spirit we want.

We need to remember that Noah Webster was 70 when he produced his dictionary. Jules Verne was 70 and more when he wrote those great imaginative stories. Gladstone was still going strong in political and intellectual circles at 80. Douglas MacArthur had an essay about age on his office wall. Here's an excerpt:

"Youth is not a time of life, it is a state of mind. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubts—as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear—as young as your hope, as old as your despair."

Another quality that helps us in the art of living is that grand gift, a sense of humor. It helps smooth the rough spots in the day, often turns aside flashes of temper. A genius of the past, Michelangelo, is an example. His sense of humor was a handy asset one day when he was working on the altar wall in the Vatican's Sistine Chapel. The magnificent mural shows Christ in upper center admitting some people to paradise and consigning others to darkness. Today you will see down in one corner of that masterpiece the naked figure of a man, with two horns on his head and a snake around his middle. The face on the figure is that of a cardinal, a contemporary of Michelangelo. This was not in the original design.

The cardinal came in one day when the artist was at work and criticized the painting, saying the people didn't have on enough clothes. Michelangelo was a man of spirit, and his temper flared, but before it could get out of hand his sense of humor took over.

Time passed, and the cardinal came in again. He studied the work, then suddenly saw himself, naked, horns on head, snake around his middle, down in hell over in the right-hand corner. Furious, he rushed out, returned with the pope, and called on the pontiff to assess punishment. The pope looked, pondered, but he, too, had a sense of humor. Presently, he turned to the cardinal and said solemnly, "My son, had you asked me anything on this earth, I would have given it to you. But now [he pointed], now that you are in the other world, I can do nothing." The cardinal is still there.

We need confidence, too, the kind of confidence John Glenn exhibited on the target range in his Army days. A gunnery sergeant asked him where his last shot had hit. "I don't know," replied Glenn, "but when it left here, it was a bull's-eye."

William James said, "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact." In short, believe you can do it, and you're already part-way to your goal, success in the art of living.

Furious, he rushed out, returned with the pope, and called on the pontiff to assess punishment. The pope looked, pondered, but he, too, had a sense of humor. Presently, he turned to the cardinal and said solemnly, "My son, had you asked me anything on this earth, I would have given it to you. But now [he pointed], now that you are in the other world, I can do nothing." The cardinal is still there.

We need confidence, too, the kind of confidence John Glenn exhibited on the target range in his Army days. A gunnery sergeant asked him where his last shot had hit. "I don't know," replied Glenn, "but when it left here, it was a bull's-eye."

William James said, "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact." In short, believe you can do it, and you're already part-way to your goal, success in the art of living.

How the critics feel about gas just might change your brand to Fact.

You might not know it, but cigarette smoke is mostly gas—many different kinds. Not just 'tar' and nicotine.

And despite what we tobacco people think, some critics of smoking say it's just as important to cut down on some of the gases as it is to lower 'tar' and nicotine.

No ordinary cigarette does both. But Fact does.

Fact is the first cigarette with the revolutionary Purite filter. And Fact reduces gas concentrations while it reduces 'tar' and nicotine.

Read the pack. It tells how you get the first low gas, low 'tar' smoke with good, rich taste.

That's a Fact.

Fact is the first cigarette with Purite granules.

The selective filtering agent.
Selective.

That means it reduces specific gases in smoke that taste bad.

Without removing the elements that taste good.

So, for the first time, you get low gas, low 'tar,' and satisfying taste in one cigarette.

CHIA-CHIA

Try a little tenderness

Panda Chia-Chia is the bad boy of the London Zoo. Not long ago, he was part of the crowd-pulling double act with the zoo's other giant panda, Ching-Ching. But for some time, the two have been kept in separate cages because Chia-Chia's bold advances led to fighting. Now he is merely allowed a weekly visit to Ching-Ching's cage under the watchful eye of a keeper. And, so far, he's been badly put down by the offended lady panda. Here, Chia lets a rumbling snarl of unrequited passion escape him. The zoo still hopes that the friendship will develop again and that the pair will mate next year.

MIKHAIL BARYSHNIKOV

A dance against gravity

You've probably been hearing whispers about Mikhail Baryshnikov the wonder-boy of ballet. He defected from Russia to the United States in 1974 and has since been winning the West with his energy and one-of-a-kind technical skill. What makes Misha (as his friends and co-workers call him) possibly the greatest dancer in the world? Choreographer John Butler had this to say: "One day I was working on the jumps and elevations for a ballet, and I said jokingly, 'Misha, do a jump and change directions four times before you land,' and he did it. 'All right John?' he said to me, was that okay?' 'All right? That's inhuman!' I said to him. 'You don't know what you did!' He is extraordinary. I have never known a dancer who can do what he can. Like many dancers, he loves to investigate. But he has the power to investigate in the air!"

If parents wish to divorce, when is the time least traumatic to children? According to Dr. Jack Westman, a professor of psychiatry at the University of Wisconsin, there are consequences at every age. "Generally, divorce has its greatest impact between the ages of 3 and 7 years and runs the biggest chance of being misunderstood," the psychiatrist said. "And this, unfortunately, is the age span of most children experiencing their parents' divorce. During these early years, youngsters tend to blame themselves for the breakup and feel the departing parent has rejected them. They often find the 'proof' for their culpability in the arguments parents have over child-care support and behavior. Furthermore, between the ages of 3 and 7, children fashion their sense of self and their personality through interaction with their mothers, fathers and siblings. This is the time when both boys and girls need their fathers most, and when the father is gone, it can have a profound effect on a child's gender identification." Children and divorce are among the subjects discussed in Ruth Winter's book, "The Fragile Bond: Marriage Now" (Macmillan, $7.95).

How do Americans compare with Russians? A survey by the National Federation of Independent Business turned up these shocking facts: For a breadwinner to buy a week's groceries for a family of four, the American worker must put in 17.2 hours; the Russian, 64.6 hours. Average hourly take-home pay for American manufacturing workers was $3.83, compared with $1.10 for Soviet workers. Americans, on a per capita basis, have 11 times as many telephones as the Russians. On the other hand, the Russians read more daily newspapers than the Americans. The average American farmer can feed 49 persons, while a Soviet farmer can feed only seven. And, in what may come as a surprise to some, Soviet defense expenditures were more than $9 billion higher in 1975 than those in the United States. The Soviet military budget consumed nearly $89 billion, or 10.5 percent of that nation's gross national product, compared with 6.2 percent of G.N.P. for the U.S.

Superstars at a disadvantage on TV? Noted TV director George Schaeffer explains: "If you use the big superstars like Glenn Ford, Shirley MacLaine or Julie Andrews, they can only be themselves. Someone like Carroll O'Connor, however, who was a great actor for years, was virtually unknown outside of the industry. He was so right for the Archie Bunker part, that now he has become that person in the public's mind. In addition, if a TV series succeeds, you are asking for the actor to commit himself for three to four years.

Chances are that superstars and those who are just breaking into the big feature market won't want to get tied down doing a series; so for this type of role, you're much more likely to get actors and actresses who like a permanent situation but aren't yet household words."
